Richberg Speaks for President.

Roosevelt May Talk

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt may make a third radio talk soon to give his views and plans on activities under recovery legislation dealing with farms, industrials, railroads, etc. He is said to be considering such a talk because of division of opinion among his advisers, and citizens generally, as to whether such recovery has begun through economic processes, and will so continue without the aid of elaborate programs, or recovery now will be made more rapid and lasting with the further pushing of the administration's projects.

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—American business received a warning today from the general counsel of the national industrial recovery administration, Donald R. Richberg, who said the President had indorsed what he said.

Mr. Richberg gave the business world sixty days to determine whether it is going to rise to its new—and perhaps its last—chance to direct industry, and if it fumbles its great opportunity "the advance of political control over private industry is inevitable."

Indorse Planned Economy.

The blunt warning from Mr. Richberg to the nation's business men was delivered at a luncheon of the New York Merchants' association at which the president of the National Chamber of Commerce indorsed and predicted the success of President Roosevelt's program of planned economy. Mr. Richberg stated plainly what he and the industrial recovery administration expect American business to do—and the consequences if it refuses.

His words were direct and unequivocal, and he said after the speech that they had been "approved as the policy of the administration—in other words, that his speech had been scrutinized by President Roosevelt.

Sees System Facing Test.

"If the industrial control plan should fail," he said, "it will not be a failure of government: it will be the failure of an industrial system. It will mean either that the system is fundamentally unsound or that the present managers of private industry are incapable of operating it successfully."

Then he set the limit of the period in which business must line itself up with the Roosevelt program.

"If the program is not rolling forward within the next sixty days because of holding back by either group, they will be indicted for incompetence by the suffering millions who are now giving to industrial leadership one chance—perhaps the last—to justify its authority," he said.

"There is no choice presented to American business between intelligently planned and controlled industrial relations and a return to the gold plated anarchy that masqueraded as 'rugged individualism.'

Only One Choice, He Says.

"There is only the choice presented between private and public election of the directors of industry. If the privately elected boards of directors and the privately chosen managers of industry undertake their task and fulfill their responsibility they will end all talk of dictatorships and governmental control of business. But if they hold back and waste these precious hours, if they take counsel with prejudice and doubt, if they fumble their great opportunity, they may suddenly find that it has gone forever."

Mr. Richberg asserted with emphasis that to his knowledge no man who had an active part in its administration is seeking the political socialization of industry.

"But," he went on, "unless industry is sufficiently socialized by its private owners and managers so that great essential industries are operated under public obligations appropriate to the public interest in them, the advance of political control over private industry is inevitable."

Denounces Obstructionists.

He denounced those who are trying to obstruct the working out of the national recovery program.

"There can be no honorable excuse for the slacker who wastes these precious moments with doubting and debate, who praises the national purpose with legalistic arguments and appeals

American Stars Win Game of Century

HOMER BY RUTH HELPS DEFEAT NATIONALS, 4-2

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

American league All Stars, 4; National league All Stars, 2.

That was the score of the baseball game of the century. It was played before 49,000 spectators, who occupied every seat in Comiskey park yesterday afternoon. It was the first time a game ever was played between the greatest players from all teams of the rival organizations. The game was first suggested and then sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Into a perfect setting of weather, crowd, and satisfied realization of what had been promised were projected the thrills for which fans had been waiting for years. Babe Ruth, master showman of all time, was there. Babe did just that which the fans went out to see. He hit with terrific force a line drive which did not rise high in the air. Its momentum carried it into the right field stands for a home run. That drive was responsible for two runs, the Americans' margin of victory.

Warneke in Hero Rôle.

Lon Warneke, ace of Chicago Cubs' hurlers, was there. Lon is an Arkansas youngster, only in his third year in fast company. He is the chap who in his second season led all National league pitchers in games won and lost and in effectiveness.

So it was Warneke who was called to the slab when it seemed the affair might become a rout. Wild Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals, starting pitcher, was wild. A base on balls had allowed the extra run on Ruth's homer.

Then the big lanky chap who said the night before over the radio, "I'll be out there, bearin' down all I can," bore down. He closed the opening by forcing Al Simmons, noted White Sox slugger, to hit into a double play started by the fielding speed of Dick Bartell. So the fans saw a great pitcher thwart great batters.

Grove Stems the Tide.

Fans saw Mose Grove, work horse and bulwark of the great Philadelphia pitching staff, in trouble in the seventh inning. They saw him emerge from that trouble, which included a single by Bill Terry and a double by Pie Traynor, without a run resulting.

Then these fans saw and may tell to their children or grandchildren in years to come how Carl Hubbell, left handed star of the Giants, came to the slab for the final two innings and held to one hit the confident opposition, still champing for more runs.

This checking process was while the National leaguers, desperately attacking, were giving Mose Grove his trouble. How near that attack came to tying the score was a matter of a few feet. It ended when Babe Ruth in the eighth inning backed against the right field stands to catch a long fly from Chick Hafey's bat which at its start appeared ticketed for a home run.

Thus all the strength of attack and defense, all the matching of baseball finesses and strategy, were combined in this exhibition, the realized long awaited dream of baseball fans.

$45,000 for Charity Fund.

With the park filled, the crowd viewing at regular prices the greatest game of all time, all promises rigidly kept, there was still another feature. That was the gate receipts—approximately $45,000 for the charity fund for disabled or needy ball players of former years.

Just as an example of how conscientiously all those concerned viewed this new venture consider that there were 18 players on each team. Manager McGraw of the Nationals inserted 17 of them into his lineup at various stages of the combat. Perhaps Reserve Pitcher Schumacher of the Giants also would have appeared had not the fans been promised three innings each from Wild Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals, Lon Warneke of the Cubs, and Carl Hubbell of the Giants.

Manager Connie Mack of the Americans used 13 players in acquiring his victory, including the three pitchers advertised in advance. Those who did

The Last Idyll of Sol and the 'Kiss of Death'

It becomes a mournful duty to record a series of incidents which have resulted in what gangsters would quaintly term the softening-up of Sol (Bulldog) Feldman.

Until a few months ago the Bulldog was supremely tough. In his twenty-seven years he had indulged in a variety of crimes, but his specialty was assault and battery. He had gained his nickname in rough and tumble battle by gripping his opponent's ear in strong teeth and holding on until victory was his.

Then love entered the Bulldog's life last spring in the person of Margaret Mary Collins, a platinum blonde (1933), apprehensively known in gangland circles as the "kiss of death" girl.

No Wooers for Margaret.

To put the matter delicately Margaret, despite her admitted attractions, was not the belle of gangland when the amorous eye of the Bulldog fell upon her. To be more precise, Margaret not only had no wooers—she was carefully avoided by the gallants of her world.

There was a good reason for Margaret's unpopularity. She had had seven sweethearts in eight years and each of them had died suddenly and in a highly unrefined manner.

Jack Sheehy, a café manager, was No. 1 on the list. A policeman's bullet removed him from Margaret's side. Dean O' Banion, the bootlegger and florist, was next. His sudden demise before a volley from gangsters' guns has been often described. There followed Irving [Sonny] Schlig, Johnny Phillips, David [Jew Boy] Bates, Eugene [Red] McLaughlin, and Sammy Katz. Bullets took them all soon after they became acquainted, each in his turn, with Margaret.

Sol Not Superstitious.

Naturally enough, the boys in the rackets began to think of Margaret in terms of bad luck. And when Sol [Bulldog] Feldman, the mayhem expert, began to pay her some attention, his friends warned him. He laughed scornfully. A man who bites ears and likes it is not superstitious.

The Bulldog soon thereafter was shot and seriously wounded by policemen after he had stolen a fur coat from a window. Taken to a hospital where Margaret nursed tenderly, Feldman grinned and said the jinx couldn't bother him. He grew well and his acquaintances spoke of him admiringly.

But the Bulldog was unable to attend his trial last Wednesday before Criminal Court Judge Rudolph Desort, he had had a relapse. The nature of the "relapse" was revealed yesterday.

Feldman's youngest sister was being married last Sunday and a gay wedding party was celebrated afterwards in an apartment hotel at Alice place and Hoyne avenue. Margaret Mary Collins was there as the true and loving fiancée of the Bulldog. Late in the evening Margaret became joyous and danced with another than the Bulldog.

Margaret Takes the Count.

Thinking to chastise Margaret for this breach of manners, the Bulldog snatched a beer bottle and laid it over Margaret's head. Margaret was made unconscious for the moment, but the little incident would probably have gone unnoticed except for the presence of three husky young doctors on the staff of the Northwestern Foot Clinic, 1643 Milwaukee avenue, who were invited guests at the party.

Unaware of gangster etiquette, this trio resented the Bulldog's act and fell upon him, breaking several ribs, imprinting bruises upon most of his body, and inflicting injuries which may cause the loss of an eye.

Margaret Mary Collins was reported last night to be ready to forgive her man all, but the Bulldog, through a mass of bandages, muttered that he was through. Margaret is wistfully seeking sweetheart No. 9 today.

Dirigible Macon Flies Over N. Y. in Night Cruise

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—The giant naval dirigible Macon cruised over New York tonight on a training flight. Lighted fore and aft and with her cabin lights twinkling in the center, the big airship became visible to crowds in the Times square and White Way sector of Manhattan about 11 o'clock. She was headed north and appeared to be directly over the Hudson river. In Lakehurst, N. J., it was reported the Macon took off from her airport there at 6 p. m. The all-night practice cruise, of unrevealed destination, is the ship's first training flight since her arrival at Lakehurst on June 24. Capt. Alger H. Dresel was in command.

Italian Flyers Ready for Hop to Labrador

BY AXEL THORSTEINSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 6—Mechanics were busy today tuning up the motors of the 24 giant seaplanes of the Italian armada flying from Italy to A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago. The ships were refueled and everything is in readiness for a start to Labrador tomorrow if the weather is good.

Gen. Italo Balbo, flight commander, tonight ordered his flyers to stand by early tomorrow, pending receipt of additional weather reports, chiefly from ships between Iceland and Greenland.

Late tonight, however, the chances for taking off were considered slim.

Airmen Are Entertained.

The government of Iceland today was host to Gen. Balbo and his airmen on an auto excursion to the great waterfalls at Sog, about 35 miles from the capital. The flyers were luncheon guests at the residence of Prime Minister Asgeir Asgeirsson, the 39 year old chief of the island, who is only two years older than Gen. Balbo.

The flyers are lodged in the city's best hotel, and Icelanders are literally "falling all over themselves" to insure the comfort of the daring adventurers.

The armada's planes are anchored at Vatnagardar, two and a half miles from Reykjavik. A special pier, a hangar, a repair shop and a wireless station were ready for them there when they arrived last evening.

Gen. Balbo expects to reach Cartwright, on Sandwich bay, Labrador, on his next hop. It is a trip of 1,500 miles over water. If fog or storms hinder the flyers, a reserve base is ready at Italiahaab, south of Julianehaab, Greenland. From Cartwright the armada plans to fly to Shediac, N. B., then to Montreal and Chicago.

Weather Calm, but Cloudy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 6.—Reports from Cartwright, Labrador, today report the weather calm but cloudy. Everything is in readiness for the reception of the Italian squadron. Three American planes in charge of Pilots Parkerson, Fogg, and Crowley have arrived there with American newspaper men.

Weather Again Balks Mollisons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PENDINE SANDS, England, July 6.—Capt. James A. Mollison and his wife, Amy Johnson, today again were forced to delay their departure on a proposed trans-Atlantic flight to New York. Capt. Mollison denied reports that the flight will be postponed indefinitely.

Wheat Loaves of All Sizes Go Up Monday

BY PAUL POTTER.

The price of bread is to be increased one cent a loaf next Monday in Chicago and downstate, according to representatives of baking companies who attended a closed meeting at the Medinah Michigan avenue club yesterday. The one cent increase will apply to loaves made from wheat flour of all sizes over 12 ounces.

E. A. Wilsher of the Gordon Baking company, president of the Chicago Bakers' club, which called the meeting, made the announcement last night. He said the increase applied to all except four bakers in Chicago who did not attend the meeting, but who would be consulted this morning.

Explain Basis for Increase.

The increase, Wilsher said, is made necessary by an increase in wheat prices, boosting flour prices, and by the federal processing tax of 30 cents a bushel on wheat for human food, which becomes effective tomorrow night.

The tax will be applied to stocks on hand in mills and bakeries. It amounts to about $1.38 per barrel of flour, and the income will be used to reimburse farmers for curtailing wheat production this fall and in the next two years.

The one cent increase on three-quarter pound loaves, it was pointed out, will also provide a means for increasing wages of bakery employés.

Cut Size of 10 Cent Loaf.

Cognizance was taken by the bakers of a warning issued late Wednesday by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that the bakers could be prosecuted under anti-trust laws for undue price increases. Prior to his warning many bakers favored raising bread prices 2 cents a loaf, and some of the independent bakers still insisted last night they must do so to earn a profit.

Under the new price ranges for bread in Chicago commercial bakers will sell 12 ounce loaves to stores for 5 cents that will retail at 6 cents. The weight of the present large loaves of 24 ounces which sell at 10 cents will be reduced to 20 ounces and the price remain 10 cents.

An unsuccessful attempt was made yesterday to agree on terms of a state code of trade practices. A national meeting of bakers to adopt such a code will be held in Chicago early next week, Secretary Wallace having ruled that price codes should be set up for the industry by states.

Process Tax First of Four.

Variance in costs between Chicago and downstate bakeries, where the drivers are paid a minimum of $18 per week, caused plans to be made for a zoning of the industry in Illinois.

The processing tax being imposed upon wheat and flour is one of four such taxes to be fixed by the federal department of agriculture on the processed farm crops, including wheat, cotton, certain cigar types of tobacco, and on corn and hogs.

Although the wheat tax is the first to become effective, the distribution of the funds so collected will not be made to farmers until about Sept. 15. To receive such federal bonuses the wheat growers must sign contracts with the government agreeing to reduce their wheat acreage in 1934 and 1935 by an amount to be specified later by Secretary Wallace. The reduction cannot be more than one-fifth under the farm act.

Start Bonus Machinery.

Organizing of the farmers' machinery to make these agreements and pay the bonuses started in Iowa yesterday.

Farmers will begin receiving the first two-thirds of the benefit payments in September, based on the 1933 crop. The other third of the payments will be made next spring after the farmer has shown that he complied with the agreement.

Other states are expected to begin organizing their wheat farmers' committees in the next few days, under federal supervision.

U. S. RESCUES LONDON PARLEY FROM COLLAPSE

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—In a dramatic and impassioned speech behind the closed doors of the steering committee, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chairman of the American delegation, today saved the world economic conference from immediate dissolution and compelled France and the other gold standard countries to shoulder the responsibility for its impending failure.

The decision continuing the conference came in the second session of the day for the steering committee, which is composed of representatives of 14 nations. It was agreed to extend the parley until Monday at least, but to eliminate discussion of monetary issues from the agenda. This was a concession to the gold bloc.

Hull Met by Revolt.

Subcommittees were instructed to list specific problems which the conference could discuss under the new circumstances and to submit them at a meeting of the steering committee on Monday.

Showered with congratulations by world statesmen on his life saving feat, Secretary Hull returned to American delegation headquarters to be confronted with flaming revolt. Fully half the members of the delegation were outspoken in condemnation of the Roosevelt administration policy of seeking to prolong the conference.

They asserted that if the conference continued it would only disclose in time the inability of the United States candidly and sincerely to enter into any monetary, tariff, or other agreements it had proposed.

Roiled at Roosevelt.

This was due, the rebels pointed out, to changed conditions brought about by Mr. Roosevelt's policies of inflation, price raising, and government control of industry and agriculture. The meeting was punctuated by threats of resignation on the part of at least two members, it was learned.

What particularly roiled the dissenters was the overruling by President Roosevelt of their decision to move for a recess of three months. The President yesterday suggested a recess until July 17, whereupon a majority of the delegation decided that Mr. Roosevelt was ignorant of the situation and voted for a recess.

This morning there came a cable from Mr. Roosevelt instructing the delegation to oppose a recess of the conference by every means in its power. Secretary Hull proceeded to carry out instructions in the meetings of the steering committee.

Obsequies All Arranged.

When Mr. Hull arrived at the conference hall this morning he found the program of obsequies of the conclave all arranged. France, at the head of the gold bloc, was armed with a resolution to adjourn the conference because of failure to agree on temporary currency stabilization.

Secretary Hull took the floor in opposition to this resolution. He said the conference had barely scratched the surface of consideration of the subjects on its agenda. He confronted the gold bloc with the agenda, demanding that these countries say what subjects they would and would not discuss if the conference were to continue.

Georges Bonnet, French finance minister, answered for the group that the gold standard countries would discuss no monetary question except remonetization of silver.

Calls Adjournment Absurd.

With responsibility for failure of the conference thus placed on the gold bloc, Secretary Hull next launched into a fervent appeal for further effort to save the world conclave. He declared it absurd that with consideration of the agenda barely begun the delegates should default and abandon the trust the world had reposed in them merely because one group had particular views on one of the many resolutions.

"We ought not even think of breaking up until agreement has been reached in every possible case," the secretary exclaimed. "Where we can't reach agreements we ought to recognize our differences, but in a coöperative spirit. The statesmanship of the world is not so bankrupt as to let this conference fail."

The upshot was the sidetracking of the gold bloc's adjournment resolution and the decision to instruct the subcommittees to report Monday on what subjects can be discussed "under the circumstances" if the conference continues.

The text of the resolution extending the parley, which was proposed by MacDonald, follows:

"Whereas, the bureau [steering committee is firmly determined to proceed with the work of the conference to the utmost possible extent and as rapidly as possible,

"And, whereas, on account of the circumstances which have recently arisen, the countries on the gold standard find themselves obliged to declare that for the time being it is impossible for them to take part in any discussions on monetary problems,

"The bureau agrees unanimously to, [a] request each subcommittee to meet as soon as possible to draw up a list of questions which can in these circumstances be usefully studied by it, and [b] to meet as soon as the reports of the subcommittees are received in order to make recommendations as to arrangements which should be made for further business of the conference."

Moley Sails for Home.

Prof. Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state, who came here as the President's special envoy, sailed for home tonight, leaving everybody confused as to what he had accomplished here if anything. He himself said that he came to inform the delegation of recent developments in America. His only undertaking in London—an indication of acceptance of the proposed currency stabilization agreement—was repudiated by the President.

With Prof. Moley went his secretary, Miss Celeste Jedel, who came with the delegation, and his press liaison officer, Herbert Bayard Swope. Others on the ship were Prof. O. M. W. Sprague, treasury financial adviser; Prof. Edmund Day, state department economic adviser, and Frank Delaney, Chicago board of trade operator, who was serving as a wheat expert.

DR. BUTLER CITES U. S. AS MODEL FOR WORLD PEACE

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 6.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, said at a luncheon given in his honor today by the English Speaking union, that in the present state of the world the example of the United States might be studied as an experiment in achieving a successful society of nations.

He cited the name of the English Speaking union as a challenge in the rebuilding of a broken, unhappy and dangerous world.

"America and the British commonwealth of nations—those two English speaking peoples—today are the chief examples of the practical operation of those principles to which we must turn to build a world which is a society of nations living in friendliness, peace and coöperation for the highest moral and intellectual ends," Dr. Butler said.

FRENCH CHAMBER VOTES TO SHAKE UP RAIL SYSTEM

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies approved tonight by a vote of 580 to 10 a scheme for reorganization of the railroads.

Under the plan an existing joint annual deficit of 3,580,000,000 francs (currently $186,160,000) would be reduced to 2,580,000,000 francs (currently $134,160,000) without increasing rates.

Required economies would be obtained by the institution of joint boards, centralizing of purchasing and other services, standardization of material permitting mass production, and general modernization methods fitting the railroads to meet competition, notably from motorbus transportation.

FRENCH CONSIDER PARLEY 'DEAD'; READY TO BOLT

Even Refuse to Discuss Tariffs and Quotas.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—The world economic conference may not be ready to lie down, but as far as France is concerned it is dead for the time being.

Georges Bonnet, finance minister and head of the French delegation, made this plain tonight in announcing his intention of returning to Paris Monday or Tuesday with the majority of the French delegation. He likewise declared categorically that not only would France and the other gold powers—Holland, Switzerland, Belgium, Italy, and Poland—refuse to discuss monetary questions but tariffs and quotas as well, thus depriving the conference of the one serious excuse for its existence.

French Are Disgusted.

This explains the otherwise mysterious acceptance by the gold powers of the resolution whereby the conference, instead of adjourning, will let each committee and subcommittee decide what work can be usefully carried on. The French are disgusted over the conference bureau's (steering committee's) decision, which they regard as a triumph of American hypocrisy over European realism, but they do not consider the matter worth kicking up a row about. In case any of the delegations still entertain the idea that the conference is going to continue the gold bloc apparently will try to wreck it by a little quiet sabotage.

At the same time there is considerable doubt in many circles over the ability of the gold bloc to act as hard boiled as it is talking tonight. Bonnet indicated that outside the question of silver, in which France is not greatly interested, the work of the gold delegates on the subcommittees of the monetary commission would consist entirely of convincing their colleagues that no work can be attempted at present.

The suspicion exists, however, that in the face of pressure from the United States, the British, and their dominions the gold group may be forced to yield some more ground—perhaps even enough to keep the conference technically alive and kicking for a few more weeks.

Show Signs of Weakening.

This suspicion is founded mainly on the theory that some sectors on the united gold front are showing signs of weakening. This theory will be confirmed or refuted at a meeting of the central banks in Paris on Saturday.

As reported yesterday, members of the gold bloc definitely adopted the principle of staking their individual destinies on a united front, but the details remain to be worked out.

The principal object of the Paris meeting will be to draw up an accord for curbing speculation in all gold countries through the coöperation of private banks and in adopting a definite plan of mutual assistance for any member whose currency is attacked from without.

This boils down to the question under what conditions and to what extent the gold hoardings of the Bank of France will be available to support the Swiss, Dutch, Belgian, Italian or Polish currencies, and likewise who will bear the risk of such operations.

Faces Two Alternatives.

If the gold bloc works out a concrete plan of mutual support its members will feel sufficiently independent towards the rest of the world to adopt a hard boiled stand at London, and that means that the work of the conference will be adjourned, whatever name is given to the recess.

If the gold allies, however, fail to agree completely among themselves on the proportionate sacrifices and risks each member will have to share in the common cause of the united front they will break down in London and the American desire to keep on going through the motions at all costs will have a better chance of prevailing.

DROP IN DOLLAR FORCES YANKEES TO FLEE FRANCE

M. E. Church to Drop Its Activities.

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—Americans in France, hard hit by the economic crisis and the fall of the dollar value, are streaming homeward. The existence of some American institutions in this country is threatened by the sharp reductions in income.

All activities of the Methodist Episcopal church in France, excepting the Chateau Thierry memorial, will be dropped Aug. 1, Morris M. Ennis, treasurer of the board of foreign missions, announced today. Five churches, three schools, and a community center will be closed.

Tourist Centers Yawn Emptily.

Fifteen hundred Americans in Paris have returned to the United States since Jan. 1, the American consulate estimates. The census showed 13,463 Americans resident here at the beginning of the year, or nearly half the peak of post-war population.

The tourist centers of the one time "Gay Paree" are yawning emptily. Consulate registrations indicate a 15 per cent decrease in American tourist traffic for the months of April, May and June, as compared with the same period last year when the crisis already had cut the number of such visitors in half.

June tourist registrations were below those of May, whereas usually they exceed the earlier month, indicating the effect of dollar depreciation.

Business Staffs Reduced.

Unemployment among Americans is growing with American business houses reducing staffs as much as one-third.

Repatriation of idle Americans has about doubled this year over last year, according to an American aid society which has sent 121 persons to the United States since Jan. 1, while 100 others are awaiting transportation.

COOK COUNTY'S ANNUAL FAIR TO OPEN ON JULY 28

Announcement was made yesterday that the annual Cook county fair will be open on July 28 for a 17 day session on new permanent grounds, with a racing track and grandstand, at River road and North avenue.

An $85,000 premium list and a racing purse of $25,000, which the management hopes to recover from the state's agricultural fund made up of taxes on horse racing, are outstanding features in the announcement, made by A. C. Thompson, manager of the agricultural, racing and amusement exhibition.

Some farmers and race horse owners look upon these imposing premium lists with misgivings, for Thompson is said to have stalled off the contractors who put up the fair buildings on the new grounds with the promise that he will be able to pay them as soon as the state reimburses him for premiums and purses paid last year.

Must Advance Prize Money.

County fairs are required to pay their prizes in advance of receipts from the state, and after the fairs are all over the state agricultural fund of more than $1,000,000 annually is distributed on a pro rata basis, according to county population.

If the funds due the management for premiums paid out last year are to be used for settling the contractors' claims, some of the farmers are asking, where is the money for the prizes coming from this year? Two years ago, when the fair was held in the Chicago Stadium, the Stadium management obtained a judgment for $9,000 after it was over.

Mr. Thompson, the manager, was notified by the United States attorney's office yesterday to appear in Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward's court next Friday for arraignment and plea on an indictment charging use of the mails to defraud.

Thompson, president of the defunct Continental Mortgage Bond company, 20 West Jackson boulevard, and O. C. Hamilton, property manager for the company, are accused of defrauding investors of more than $1,000,000 in connection with bond issues on various properties, according to Prosecutor James C. Leaton.

Pork and Pumpkins Scarce.

The state charter for the Cook County Fair association formerly was held by a group of men headed by Ralph L. Peck of Palatine, where the fair was held until two years ago.

Mr. Peck also has had difficulties with the federal government, and is now under sentence of eighteen months in Leavenworth, having been convicted of embezzling funds from the First National bank of Palatine, of which he was president.

Cook county fairs in the past have been noted for the scarcity of fat porkers and giant pumpkins, in which farmers in other counties take such pride, and for the abundance of gaming devices.

But Mr. Thompson's announcement states the the management intends "to keep up the good old county fair traditions, featuring exhibits of blooded stock, improvements in products of the soil, a dog show, trotting, pacing and steeplechase racing, with the most modern of outdoor entertainment."

WHEAT PARLEY ASKS DANUBIAN STATES TO JOIN GRAIN CUT PLAN

LONDON, July 6.—(AP)—Negotiations were opened today by the four power wheat conference looking to coöperation of Danubian wheat producing countries in efforts to absorb the world carryover of the cereal by reducing production and exports. Preliminary discussions, it was reported, indicated the Danubian countries looked on the plan with favor.

Should these nations come within the working of the scheme it was believed the objections of Australia to the plan would be overcome. The antipodean commonwealth agreed to acreage reduction proposals only on condition that larger European producing nations be brought within them.

The United States, Canada and Argentina, the other three chief exporting nations in the four power treaty, already have pledged themselves to carry out restrictions providing Australia joins the agreement.

BRITAIN IS URGED TO PAY U. S. WITH WINE AND WHISKY

LONDON, July 6.—(AP)—Laughter today greeted the suggestion of a Scottish member of the house of commons that a large part of Europe's debt to America might be liquidated by payments in kind—namely: shipments of wine and whisky. F. A. MacQuisten asked if Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, had considered the possibility of Great Britain and France offering to liquidate the debts to America "by the delivery of commodities which the latter do not themselves possess but which are in great demand in the United States."

After Maj. Leslie Hore-Belisha, financial secretary for the treasury, speaking for Chamberlain, had soberly replied that the chancellor would take note of the suggestion, MacQuisten persisted. He asked if it was not notorious that "there is in France an immense stock of wine and in Scotland an immense stock of Scotch whisky" that could advantageously be passed over to the United States and "that we could liquidate a lot of our debts in that way."

The remark drew laughter which was renewed when Maj. Hore-Belisha replied, "I now understand what the members means by 'liquidation of debts.'".

NEW FIGHTING RAGES IN CHACO; MANY ARE SLAIN

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 6.—(AP)—An official announcement today reported that heavy fighting was continuing in the Fort Nanawa sector of the Gran Chaco between Paraguayan and Bolivian forces. Many have been reported killed. The communique added that Paraguayan forces had repulsed five attacks.

The ministry of war later announced the Paraguayans repulsed three new enemy attacks in the Nanawa area. It said 25,000 men were participating in the Bolivian offensive there.

League Stirred by Fighting.

GENEVA, July 6.—(AP)—Stirred by reports of heavy fighting and large loss of life in the Gran Chaco, the committee of the league of nations' council considering the conflict met this afternoon and decided to request official information on the subject.

MANILA, P. I., July 6.—Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo today said that unity on the question of independence is desirable. He added that since the entire dispute among Filipinos is over the Hawes legislation passed by congress the logical course is to reject the law and then achieve unity to undertake new proposals. Gen. Aguinaldo led the Philippine revolt against the United States following the Spanish-American war.

ALL IS MYSTERY AS FRIENDS HUNT FACTOR CLEWS

Aids Deny Negotiations for Ransom.

Whether John [Jake the Barber] Factor, the kidnaped millionaire speculator, is alive or dead—a captive held for an impossible ransom or the victim of gang killers he had defied—was anybody's guess last night. Friends, who have been working six days for his release, confessed they didn't know the answer.

Notwithstanding reports circulated yesterday that a ransom demand had been received and a purse reckoned anywhere between $75,000 and $200,000 was being made ready, no authentic word had been heard from the kidnapers and, hence, no preparations for a payoff were in progress. It is the inexplicable silence in the kidnap camp that has caused the hearts of Factor's friends to sink.

Denies Ransom Is Ready.

Denial that a ransom was ready and that the release of the former Halsted street barber was imminent came from Jacob M. Arvey, alderman of the 24th ward, chairman pro tem. of the city council, and Factor's close friend. It is Ald. Arvey in whom Factor's distraught wife, the former Relia Cohen, is reposing all her hopes that her husband may return unharmed, and who now seems to be directing all moves afoot in that direction.

"There has been absolutely no word that could be recognized as genuine," said Ald. Arvey. "I have had feelers out in twelve or fifteen different places for two days and have been glued beside a telephone for the last 24 hours. For a time Wednesday it looked as if something authentic might come through, but nothing has."

Ransom Report Garbled.

From another friend in the Factor camp it was learned that the single statement concerning ransom that the Factor forces issued so far was deliberately garbled. The statement was the one issued Sunday by the captive's 19 year old son, Jerome, in which the boy said a man had telephoned him that day to have $75,000 ready the following morning.

Actually, it transpires, the call was received by a friend of Factor's who claimed he had been suggested as intermediary in the collection of a ransom, not of $75,000 but of $200,000.

In altering the story to have the demand reaching Jerome and in reducing the figure to $75,000 the Factor forces were pursuing the same tactics which Factor himself claimed to have employed last April to procure the release of his son from a kidnaping gang which had demanded $50,000 but finally released him without ransom when the father's subtle tactics led them to suspect a double-cross within their own ranks. Whether Factor's use of this trick led the original kidnapers to take him for a ride or whether its repetition by his friends has worked him harm was a matter of speculation.

Thinks Factor Is Dickering.

Ald. Arvey, for his part, was clinging to the theory that Factor, the ingenious salesman who is accused of having defrauded English investors of $7,000,000 in stock deals, is alive and well, dickering with the kidnapers direct for reduction of a ransom he has found too great to pay.

Factor's secretary, Leon Bleet, major domo of the Morrison hotel headquarters, also professed himself still optimistic. Late Wednesday night Bleet had indicated hope that developments might be expected when the banks opened in the morning, and yesterday he renewed his hopeful attitude with a statement that "a good story" might break before evening. Last night he said Jerome and the boy's advisers were still out seeking contacts with the kidnapers.

NEGRO MAKES RICH GOLD STRIKE AFTER DIGGING 47 YEARS

Copper Gulch, Colo., July 6.—(AP)—Because a gray haired Negro became lost on a copper colored mountainside at the edge of dazzling Royal Gorge there's a new stream of glittering gold and silver wealth flowing out of southwestern Colorado.

For forty-seven years Robert Hoard scratched out of the mountains a scant living for himself and wife and their children. A few weeks ago "Old Bob," now 61 years old, left his family in Cañon City and started toward Westcliffe, hoping to get a grubstake, as he'd been doing for years. He took through the mountains a short cut which led into unfamiliar surroundings. The surface formations of the region caught the prospector's eye.

Ignoring hunger—he had brought along only meager provisions—Hoard stayed three days, digging. Satisfied, he gathered up a bag of ore samples and, half starved, hurried back to Cañon City.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—(AP)—Trustees of the 15 Shriners hospitals for crippled children scattered over the United States, Canada, and Hawaii announced at a conference today that for the fiscal year ending March 31, $851,000 will be spent upon the worth of orthopedic rehabilitation offered to children of any race, religion, or color.

AUCTION SALE ENDS ART FAIR IN GRANT PARK

An auction sale of paintings that brought several hundred dollars to their owners, closed the Grant park outdoor art fair at the foot of Congress street last night. More than 500 artists packed up their remaining canvases and went home singing the praises of the fair, which they declared has become a civic institution. The fair opened on June 24 to give home town artists an opportunity to sell their work. About $8,000 worth of paintings were sold.

"The fair this year has convinced us that it has become a Chicago institution," said Miss Cati Mount, director of the fair as the exhibit came to a close. "We plan to hold it annually hereafter. Although the sales were not so large as they were last year when we had our first fair, the artists are well pleased with the results. They made some valuable contacts and some were given portrait commissions that should run between $2,000 and $3,000.

"Many of the artists have commented on the exceptionally intelligent audience this year. The public is beginning to understand modern art."

Pair Rob Worker of His First Pay Check in Years

Emil Jager, 36 years old, 8800 South Troy street, found a job two weeks ago, his first in several years. Yesterday was pay day and he cashed a $30 check. Jager had to borrow carfare from the police.

BANKER ARGUES; YOUNG KIDNAPER RELEASES HIM

Atlanta (Ga.) Financier Saves $40,000.

Atlanta, Ga., July 6.—[Special.]—John K. Ottley, president of the First National bank of Atlanta, was kidnaped by two men early this morning. He gained his freedom, however, by convincing one of his captors, a 17 year old boy, that kidnaping was a wrong thing to do.

The youth, James Pryor Bowen of Lavonia, Ga., accompanied Mr. Ottley to a telephone and waited for the arrival of the police. He and the authorities waited late this afternoon at the appointed rendezvous for the second kidnaper, who had left the prisoner with the youth while he left to attempt to collect a $40,000 ransom.

The elder man did not reappear. The banker said that man had peddled fruit at his house and been driven downtown in his auto several times. The boy said he met the man in a welfare home and was asked if he wanted to make $10,000.

Seized on Way to Bank.

Leaving his home for the bank in the morning, Mr. Ottley was hailed as he turned into Peachtree street by the older abductor. Showing the banker a pistol, that man commanded that he get into the back seat. The youth, who was nearby, then took the wheel. Driving a roundabout route that puzzled Mr. Ottley, the kidnapers halted in a lonely bit of woods near Suwanee, 30 miles north of Atlanta.

The banker was then commanded to write a note to his wife stating that he had been kidnaped. To this the elder captor added the demand for $40,000 and transmitted it to Mrs. Ottley. It was the first intimation she had that her husband was in danger.

In order to take care of negotiations the elder kidnaper had to leave the youth, who was armed only with a blackjack, to guard the banker. After several hours of conversation he persuaded the boy to go to Suwanee with him. From that point he called his family at 1:05 p. m. and reported his safety.

Banker Calls Boy Dupe.

"The boy," said Mr. Ottley, "didn't know what it was all about. I was not harmed in any way and the pair only took $10 from me. I hope that my family and friends have not been unduly alarmed."

Mr. Ottley formerly was head of the Fourth National bank, which was merged with the First National. He has been president of the First since the combination. His son, John K. Ottley Jr., is an executive of the Eastern Air Transport.

The verdict found "extenuating circumstances." Mr. Caruthers was acquitted of another charge of embezzling $9.

"LIFE FOR PINT" PALM'S RELEASE UP TO COMSTOCK

Michigan Governor Is Asked to Act.

Lansing, Mich., July 6.—[Special.]—Freedom in the near future loomed today for "Life for a Pint" Fred Palm, first victim of Michigan's habitual criminal law as applied to dry statute violators. Palm, for whom liberal sympathizers have waged a constant battle since his commitment to Jackson prison in September, 1927, has been recommended for further gubernatorial clemency by W. Alfred Debo, commissioner of pardons and paroles. Debo was at the prison today interviewing applicants for paroles. He will ask Gov. William A. Comstock to reduce Palm's sentence, already commuted in the régime of Gov. Fred W. Green, to make him eligible for immediate parole.

Term Runs Into 1935.

Palm has served five years and seven months, but would not be released until early in 1935 without further intervention in his behalf by the parole department. Palm was sentenced to life imprisonment here Sept. 20, 1927, under a recent law which provided a mandatory life sentence for a fourth conviction on a felony charge. He had been arrested by Lansing police on a charge of illegal possession of a pint of gin, found at his home during a raid.

Previous convictions for various offenses caused the heavy sentence, as liquor possession had been made a felony.

Public Opinion Aroused.

Meanwhile, public opinion had so revolted against the extreme provisions of the habitual criminal act that it had been softened by the 1929 legislature, removing liquor offenders from the mandatory life sentence provision, but making them subject to a sentence of 7½ to 15 years for a fourth offense. Gov. Green commuted Palm's sentence in line with that modification.

BADGER SENATE PASSES BIRTH CONTROL BILL

Madison, Wis., July 6.—[Special.]—Without a word of debate, the Wisconsin senate late today passed an assembly birth control bill and sent it to the governor for his signature. Concurrence was voted, 15 to 8, under suspended rules of order.

The bill prohibits the sale of contraceptives to unmarried persons and permits their sale to married persons only by physicians and licensed pharmacists. In its present form the measure is not as strict as proposed in the original draft by Assemblyman John O'Malley, Milwaukee Democrat. His original bill would have prohibited their sale entirely.

Nowhere in the bill is the word contraceptives mentioned. It was stricken from the measure by an assembly amendment which inserted the phrase "indecent articles." The bill prohibits displays of indecent articles and their advertising.

A definition of indecent articles is included in the bill to avoid confusing them with underwear and other clothing that might be seen in store windows, it was explained from the assembly floor.

The senate concurred, 20 to 3, in an assembly bill to reduce the fee for automobile licenses by half for the remainder of the year. The measure, if signed by the governor, would be effective last Saturday and refunds probably would be made to persons who obtained licenses since then.

SBARBARO TO FLY TO MONTREAL TO GREET BALBO AIR ARMADA

Former Judge John A. Sbarbaro made ready yesterday to fly to Montreal to welcome Gen. Italo Balbo and his Italian air armada after the flyers reach American shores. Bearing the greetings of Consul General Giuseppe Castruccio, Mayor Kelly and others, he will advise the commander of plans being made for his reception here, which may last four days.

Mr. Sbarbaro will fly in an army plane arranged for by Maj. Reed Landis. He plans to take off from the Chicago airport immediately after the Balbo command leaves Cartwright, Labrador, for the flight to Montreal.

Consul General Castruccio, Maj. Landis, and others are making the arrangements for the flyers' visit here. Probably the largest gathering during their stay will take place a few hours after their arrival at Soldiers' field, when Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, President Rufus Dawes of A Century of Progress, Harry S. New, United States commissioner to the Fair, and others will speak. It is expected that Chicago's Italian-American population as well as other citizens will pack the stadium to participate in the welcome and listen to Gen. Balbo's reply.

SLUG GROCER AND TAKE $270.

to prejudice. There is no change of any provision of the constitution attempted in this law. All the time honored constitutional rights of the individual remain unmodified by this law.

"Let me say now and emphatically that the national recovery administration expects to operate so far inside the boundaries of constitutional power that judicial determination, even to border line cases, will not be necessary.

End "Cannibalistic Struggle."

"The success of this great adventure will depend largely on the ability of the managers of private business to accept a new opportunity for self-government in industry. They can now substitute enlightened coöperation in promoting the general welfare, for a cannibalistic struggle to survive by eating own flesh and blood.

"We cannot wait to hold adequate hearings upon complicated codes concerned with the intimate problems of particular industries. The ability of each industry to increase employment, to add to its pay rolls, depends in large measure upon concerted action. There must be a united attack of all industries upon low wages and long hours, a simultaneous rise of purchasing power all along the line. The new buying power created by the increased pay rolls of each industry will help to absorb the products of all the others.

Need Courage and Sacrifice.

"We must all recognize and sympathize with the profound difficulty of adjusting the habits and prejudices of a lifetime to the requirements of a national emergency. The times demand not only courage and sacrifice, but also intelligent action based on an understanding that the causes of the depression lie "not in our stars, but in ourselves.'"

In the question period Mr. Richberg explained that if a minority of an industry adopted a code and the majority was disinclined to follow the facts would be determined by the particular situation. He said that the President was authorized by the act to enter into agreement with organizations or individuals to further the purpose of the act.

Replying to a question concerning the status of "white collar" employés under the act, the counsel declared that the "white collar" worker was one of the great concerns of the administration, and this group had the right to be heard before the adoption of any code.

Draft of Pulp and Paper Industry's Code Is Ready

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Restriction of expenditures for new plant and equipment in the pulp and paper industry is recommended in a preliminary draft of a general code of fair competition for the industry which has been submitted to the executives of two-score divisions of the industry, representing about 600 paper mills in the United States.

The draft divides the United States into three zones: The southern zone includes South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas; the centrol zone includes North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia; the northern zone includes the rest of the United States.

Eight Hour Day.

Minimum wages for labor are to be determined upon in each of these zones. The maximum hours for employés paid on hourly or piecework basis is set at eight hours per day. The code permits collective bargaining and unionizing, and expresses the intention of equalizing production and demand.

Pending the adoption and approval of such equalizing plans, the code prescribes that no manufacturer shall operate in any field of manufacture covered by the code at a greater ratio than is sufficient to maintain its stock of products manufactured for sale, after current shipments on bona fide orders, at a level not exceeding an amount equal in tonnage to the average of such of its stocks on the first day of the corresponding months during the years 1926 to 1929, inclusive, with due allowance for new capacity.

Printers Adopt Code.

Installation of new machinery to add to productive capacity or the changing over of machinery to another product is permitted only after 10 days' notice to the executive committee of a division of the industry and by license from the President of the United States, except when shipments of such products for six months shall equal 90 per cent of the existing practical demand for the product, as determined by the executive committee of the group affected, in which case this section of the code shall cease to be in operation.

The New York Employing Printers' association approved a tentative code today governing the printing industry, which will be submitted to the national meeting of the industry at Chicago July 13 and 14.

The code calls for a 40 hour week and a minimum wage for various departments, to be determined by the general conference and program committee at Chicago. It recommends that the country be divided into 12 zones similar to the federal reserve districts.

MELLON-OWNED ALUMINUM CO. UNDER U. S. FIRE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—Industries which are trying to band together in monopolies outside the industrial recovery act were warned today by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings that they will be prosecuted under the anti-trust laws.

Backing up his warning with action, the attorney general told the anti-trust division of his department to push investigation into the Aluminum Company of America, controlled by the Mellons, and into makers of steel rails. Because their prices have remained steady during the depression, these two industries are suspected of price fixing.

Cummings said flatly that the Mellon owned Aluminum companies had the most complete monopoly in America. He declared that they even have friendly agreements with foreign competitors.

No direct allegations against any steel companies were made, but it was suggested that the department would seek to discover whether the United States and Bethlehem Steel companies had combined to fix steel rail prices.

In his warning to industries, Cummings reminded them that passage of the industrial recovery act made no change in the anti-trust laws. Before an industry is exempt from them its code must be approved. In addition, many monopolistic practices can not be covered, even by a code, he said.

"A brief statement of the situation may be made as follows: Industrial and other groups must abide by the terms and conditions of the anti-trust laws, unless and until they obtain actual exemption from certain of the requirements thereof by formulating a code under the national recovery act, and obtaining its approval by the President," he said.

ARREST DOCTOR AFTER DENIAL OF PAYING BRIBE

Dr. A. C. Halmos, 646 Fullerton parkway, will be arraigned today in the Felony court on a bribery charge, as a result of the investigation into charges of extortion against former employés of the state board of registration and education.

Cletus Monahan, former inspector for the state department, who confessed to implication in an extortion plot against Dr. Josephine Gabler, testified that $500 had been obtained from Dr. Halmos on threats.

Dr. Holmos denied the truth of Monahan's statement. Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty thereupon asked and obtained a warrant for his arrest.

Monahan, Judd Edwards, and Frank Condon, all former state employés, have been indicted along with Dr. Henry J. Millstone, 6314 Cottage Grove avenue, and Miss Emily Ranus, on extortion charges.

MANAGER OF LAUNDRY ROBBED.

Morris Chanlin, manager of the Greenway laundry at 3210 Armitage avenue, was forced to lie on the floor of his office yesterday before robbers who took $50 from him.

WAGES, HOURS FIXED BY RETAIL FURNITURE CODE

O. K. $10-$16 Minimum Scaled to City's Size.

A minimum wage schedule ranging from $10 to $16 for a 48 hour week was adopted here yesterday by the retail furniture dealers.

The wage schedule and the 48 hour week were incorporated as part of the code of fair competition approved by 200 members of the National Retail Furniture association meeting at the American Furniture Mart, 666 Lake Shore drive.

The code will be presented for discussion at a meeting of the Retailers' National council in New York next Wednesday.

Pay Scaled to City's Size.

Under the code adult male employés in cities of more than one million population will be paid not less than $16 a week for a 48 hour week; not less than $14 in cities from 250,000 to 1,000,000 population, and not less than $12 in smaller cities.

Women workers will receive at least $12 weekly in cities of the first class and not less than $11 in cities in the second bracket and $10 in the rest of the country. Weekly rates of $11, $10, and $9 were agreed upon for employés under 18 years of age.

It was pointed out that the minimum wages agreed upon are less than those paid by most furniture dealers but it was said that such standards are necessary for allied retailers. Jesse Benesch, Baltimore, Md., president of the national association, presided at the meeting.

Two Weeks Excepted.

In setting a 48 hour week the code excepted the week preceding Christmas and semi-annual two day inventory periods. Additional overtime is not to exceed 50 hours under the regulations.

Selling below cost is labeled as unfair competition by the code. In this respect the furniture dealers' code differs from the recommendations made by the Retailers National Council. Misleading advertising is also barred and the code requires that prison made goods be labeled as such.

Fishermen Draw Code.

A tentative code was drawn up yesterday by the Fishermen's Coöperative association, whose membership includes 15,000 commercial fresh water fishermen in the United States. The code is understood to fix minimum wages and prices. It will be submitted to directors of the association today. There are about 38,000 fresh water fishermen ni the country, who employed 250,000 people. They are distinct from the distributors and wholesalers who buy the fish. Great Lakes fishermen have long contended that they have been at the mercy of the big city distributors, whom they charge dictate prices.

A massmeeting of the Master Printers' federation will be held tonight at the Eighth street theater to discuss organization under the recovery act. Code recommendations drawn up at a national meeting of master printers in Washington recently will be discussed at the meeting.

RECOVER SWIMMER'S BODY.

The body of Houston Krelwicz, 29 years old, 27 South Leavitt street, who was drowned while swimming Sunday, was recovered from the lake at 53d street yesterday.

CENSURES POLICE FOR MILD CHARGE IN RAPE CASES

Judge Leon Edelman in the Town Hall court yesterday censured police for filing disorderly conduct charges in a rape case. The principal defendant was William Keith, 26 years old, 1204 North Karlov avenue. He was arrested with Jack Miller, 25 years old, a salesman for the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, on complaint of Mrs. Dorothy Basigers, 18 years old, 4441 North Damen avenue.

Mrs. Basigers testified she knew Miller and that on June 29 she received a telephone call stating she might obtain a job. She followed instructions and went to a room at 4614 North Paulina street, where she met Keith and Miller, she testified, and Keith attacked her. Judge Edelson ordered the disorderly conduct complaint thrown out and issued warrants charging both with rape and ordered them arraigned in the Felony court on July 11.

Judge Michael G. Kaspers also expressed indignation that a disorderly charge had been placed against John Barnhart, 24 years old, 3059 Loomis street, for an offense against a 6 year old boy. Judge Kaspers held Barnhart to the grand jury on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a child.

ROOSEVELT AIDS DEBATE PUBLIC WORKS WISDOM

Business Curing Itself, Some Believe.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—The great issue of today before the Roosevelt administration, an issue which, as yet, is a most one sided struggle, is whether the spending of billions of dollars for artificial economic stimulus is justified, in view of the swift natural rise in business conditions.

Budget Director Lewis Douglas, the young Arizonian taken out of congress by President Roosevelt to help trim the budget and save tax moneys, is leading the effort of several presidential advisers to cut down the scope of the enormous "recovery" program.

The budget director argues that some day the billions spent in prodigal fashion during the next few months will have to be taken from the nation's taxpayers. Bonds may be issued now, but interest and principal will have to be paid from tax receipts later.

Debate Public Works Plans.

In this light, the question is being debated about spending billions for public works when employment in factories and elsewhere is increasing naturally; about spending billions for farm relief when wheat has gone over $1 through natural means; about spending millions for mortgage relief when people are beginning to get funds to finance their own debts.

Business leaders are feeling the same doubts about government experimentation and government control in industry. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the industry control plan, conferred with President Roosevelt today, and was reported to have discussed with the chief executive the new difficulties encountered in the work of convincing industrialists that they should voluntarily submit codes, bringing them under the thumb of federal bureaucracy.

Doubtful of New Codes.

Various codes were to be submitted this week, according to an announcement by Gen. Johnson on last Monday, but the general's staff professed complete lack of information as to when the next would be received.

Mr. Douglas saw the President today to plead that none of the 3 billion 300 million dollars of public works funds be given to any states which had not balanced their own budgets. This would materially cut down the possibility of spending the huge sum, since many states never would be able to qualify for grants under such a ruling. The President did not give Mr. Douglas a final answer.

It was learned, however, that the public works advisory board, composed of cabinet members, decided at a meeting today that they would not cut down the scope of the plan unless by direct orders from the President.

To Push Recovery Program.

The President has indicated that he intends to push the recovery program actively. His theory, it is said, is that a great part of the business spurt in the last few months was brought about by an awakening of energy among the people, but also by an anticipation of the expansive program for recovery he had announced.

The President's advisers from the brain trust, chiefly Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Guy Tugwell, at the present argue strenuously that to abate or relax the program now would be to invite a flattening out of the gains made on anticipation of the program.

Cotton Plan Hits Snags.

Mr. Roosevelt was informed today that the Wallace plan to curtail cotton production by getting cotton farmers to lease 10,000,000 acres of their lands to the government to be put out of production was making such unsatisfactory headway that unless he made a direct appeal to the farmers it would be a complete failure.

The Wallace agents, during their intensive campaign to get farmers to sign up on the acreage curtailment scheme, have been able to garner in less than 2,000,000 acres. Farmers are unwilling to lease their lands for low prices when they see visions of a high market for cotton without acreage curtailment, the President was told.

Douglas for Economy.

Budget Director Douglas is firing away with arguments for real economy, and there are some who think the President may find quiet means of stalling the public works program at least for several months, to give him better opportunity to determine whether the full program should be put under way.

Mr. Douglas was reported particularly opposed to the plan of Secretary of Commerce Roper to put back nearly all of the employés he had discharged for economy reason by adopting a "public works" program for commerce activities.

The budget director is declared to be more fearful of a complete abandonment of the economy program, because of the cabinet members' visions of more taxes with the rise in business profits, than he is of any nebulous effect of halting the broad emergency spending program.

Views on London Parley.

The President was receiving congratulations today on his victory in forestalling the recessing of the London economic conference. Reports here, however, are that he sees little good that can come out of the conference at this time, with monetary and tariff matters excluded at his own suggestion. He was not eager to accept the blame for wrecking the conference, however, though not afraid to face the facts concerning the United States' inability to go along on issues that would interfere with the domestic program.

His true attitude, it was learned, is that the London conference might just as well be relegated to an unimportant place in world economics at this time, until domestic recoveries in various nations, particularly in the United States and the British kingdom, are sufficiently developed to make international agreements more feasible.

Massachusetts Will Send Fishing Schooner to Fair

Boston, Mass., July 6.—[Special.]—By a roll call, 20 to 9, the Massachusetts senate today adopted a resolution appropriating $10,000 for sending the Gloucester schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud to the World's Fair at Chicago to represent Massachusetts' fishing industry.

U. S. ENVOY WILL STUDY RUSSIA ON ROOSEVELT ORDER

New York, July 6.—(AP)—Questions involved in American recognition of soviet Russia will be studied for the administration by Laurence A. Steinhardt, who sailed today to take over his post as minister to Sweden.

"Stockholm is an advantageous point from which to observe Russia," said the 40 year old envoy, a New York attorney.

"It is, you know, the diplomatic post nearest to Russia. I shall make observations from there and report back to the President from time to time."

The contemplated survey was viewed in some quarters here as further evidence that the government may act in the near future on the recognition question.

Steinhardt, who conferred yesterday with President Roosevelt, may begin his inquiry in London, where he said he would stop for a few days. Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state, who is in London for the world conference, talked last week with Maxim Litvinoff, head of the soviet delegation.

PICCARD SAILS FOR HOME; HIS BAGGAGE LATE

New York, July 6.—(AP)—Prof. Auguste Piccard, the Swiss stratosphere explorer, sailed for home on the Ile de France today after a visit in Chicago with his brother, Jean Piccard, who plans a stratosphere flight at A Century of Progress Exposition.

The professor had difficulty finding his baggage at the last moment and excused himself to interviewers.

"I am too tired, too busy, trying to locate my baggage and think of things I must do to talk now," he said.

RADIO WONDERS AWE ONLOOKERS AT FAIR PALACE

Balbo News Posted Minute After Landing.

For we, which now behold these present days,
Have eyes to wonder, but lack tongues to praise
—SHAKESPEARE, Sonnet cvi.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Radio Palace at the World's Fair is the source and scene of just one wonderment after another.

Gen. Balbo and his twenty-four eagles of Italy reach Iceland and, one minute after they have touched ground, Mr. S. J. Buckalew in the Mackay Radio company's booth in the Palace is posting on the combination map and bulletin board in that booth the news of their safe descent.

That news has come by Mackay radio channels direct from Reykjavik into Radio Palace, Chicago. Wouldn't it make you stutter! Wouldn't it make you goofy!

Modest Mr. Buckalew.

Wondering men, women and children stand stuttering and close packed in front of the bulletin board all day and far into the night, and all they can say is, "Isn't it too marvelous!" But Mr. Buckalew, play acting monumental modesty, says merely, "We try to give service. Our channels and stations are well organized."

Mackay stations in Rome and New York, he adds, are also in contact with Balbo's Chicago-bound air fleet.

In a soundproof disc-recording room excited children of parents who emigrated a few years ago from Poland, or from Czechoslovakia, or from Italy, or from a dozen other countries, are getting their voices recorded. They are uttering in the native tongue of their parents, and in English, a swift medley of endearments, of self-conscious assurances that "I am very well, grandmamma," and "I wish you could come to our World's Fair, dear grandpapa!"

Their Grandchild's Voice.

In a few minutes those records, packed for foreign shipment and sent at the expense of radio exhibitors in the Palace, will be mailed to foreign parts.

And within two weeks from yesterday old people in towns you never heard of will be shedding happy tears and saying, "Merciful heaven, it's little Gretel's voice!" and "It's Lucia's bambino that is talking!"

Imagine! In ten years, twenty years, grandfather and grandmother will be dead and little Gretel and Lucia's bambino will have babies of their own, but those records of their childish voices made in the wonder summer of 1933 will still be audible.

Dawes' Drama and Diorama.

Listen! What sounds are these? Cries of joyful people who shout, "Thank God, captain, you are here!" Long hiss of wind. Incessant radio signals. Bugles of the coast guard, high and clear. Grumbling roar of foghorns.

Those sounds come from a deep diorama that is hardly more than half as large as Turner's great seascape of the Dutch fishing boats at the Art institute.

But Turner's picture, for all its beauty, is silent. This one, close up to which people are crowding hour in and hour out, talks. It simulates in color and movement and sound two dramas of the sea.

The first drama is a tragedy. A fog-groping Atlantic liner strikes an iceberg and sinks. The diorama cries out to you in actual words, "No ship comes to the rescue! All are lost! The doomed liner plunges beneath the waves and is seen no more." The picture not only talks but enacts all that—moving canvas which simulates the roll of waves; lightning flashing on the far horizon, rumble of thunder.

The second drama: A liner is afire and in deadly peril. Now clacketty clack of radio signals.

A ship receives the beat of those distress tappings and comes to the rescue. All on board are saved. Coast guard bugles sing the victory.

The brief, close-packed, thrilling drama entitled "How Radio Saves Life at Sea" has ended. The group in front of it sighs contentedly and another instantly takes its place. The show goes on all day.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes got up and thought out the idea of this radio drama, and maybe his excellency isn't proud of it! Remain in no doubt. He is.

Two or three times a week he goes down to the Fair to see his show and, ever a far sighted man, he brings his own audience with him. Above the tumult of storm and rescue you can hear him shouting, "Look what I designed!" And gentle Caro at his side murmurs, "Charlie, not so loud, please."

"All right! 'Excuse me!' he meekly answers—and in twenty seconds is off again full tilt.

Now deep diapason and plaintive vox humana of a pipe organ in yonder crimson carpeted great hall of the Palace. The excited people flock thither. Something new and wonderful every minute, you see.

How Simple He Makes It.

"While you hear the music," a lecturer is saying, "you are seeing its varying moods instantly interpreted by colors. The colors are charged and controlled by the volume and character of the sound. Each musical note has a corresponding tone of color, the color varying in intensity and brilliance as the music does. Both changes are simultaneous. Musical notes—or 'audible frequencies'—are transmuted into a fascinating array of colors—or visual frequencies—and into the most delicate rainbow tints upon a screen. The result, ladies and gentlemen, is a glorious symphony for the eye as well as the ear."

"And that's no dream!" breathed I impetuously.

"The gentleman is right," said the lecturer, whose hearing is as acute as his tongue is fluent, "it is incredible, but it is no dream."

The Valuable "Luckiesh Table."

"Actual operation shows that by dividing the audio frequency spectrum—60 to 10,000 cycles as used in radio—into four sections, one of low, two of intermediate, and one of high frequency bands or sections, very pleasing results can be obtained when utilizing colored lights of red, blue, green, and amber.

"Thus, by studying the frequency content and the general mood of the music played, it is possible to employ colors which aid in the interpretation of the mood."

Meanwhile a busy and obliging assistant to Mr. West and Mr. Casner of the R. C. A. wrote out for THE TRIBUNE this "table by Luckiesh," as he called it, which gives a series of colors with their commonly associated reactions:

Red—Warm, exciting, passionate.
Orange—Warm, exciting, suffocating, flowing, lively.
Yellow—Warm, exciting, joyous, gay, merry.
Yellow green—Cheerful.
Green—Neutral, tranquil, peaceful, soothing.
Blue green—Sober, sedate.
Blue—Cold, grave, tranquil, serene.
Violet—Solemn, melancholy, neutral, depressing.
Purple—Neutral, solemn, stately, pompous, impressive.

All those "associated reactions" the bewitched and bewitching pipe organ, which was designed by K. R. Hollister of the R. C. A., played off for us.

The organ is flanked by a bust of Beethoven and a bust of a man whom I took to be the poet Schiller and who, so Mr. Casner said, is Schiller, but why Schiller should be there he did not know, nor do I. Maybe it was Mozart.

Important point: The hall of the color organ is a great place to sit and soothe the soul and rest the dogs. It contains comfortable sofas, and the music and the soft play of rainbow tints quiet the growling of the dogs. People sit there by the quarter hour and nobody bothers around.

But pretty soon I said, "Come, Fido! Come, Rover!" and was up and bouncing around again, for I heard, or thought I did, great bells booming—chime-like and suave but of enormous volume.

The Miraculous Box.

If you have ever lain half awake and half asleep in one of London's Strand hotels and heard Big Ben striking the small hours in the tower of the Houses of Parliament you will gauge the prodigious volume of sound I suddenly heard in Radio palace.

"Now where does that come from?" I asked Mr. Winters, another of the lecturers.

He grinned and led me to an ornate piece of cabinet work which, I give you my word, was only about six feet high, two and a half feet wide, and maybe two feet deep.

Thence came the cathedral-like booming.

Mr. Winters got a key and opened the little doors of the upper third of the ornate box, but all I could see was a compact mechanism of tiny hammers and springs hardly larger than the kind that used to run a Swiss music box. And all I heard—after the lecturer had shut off the amplifying mechanism—was a brief clicking of springs from half an inch to three inches in diameter.

Two Strong Men Are Jiggered.

Those clicks are the source of the thunderous harmonies which the box gives forth when its amplifying mechanism is set going.

"Well, I'm jiggered," said I.

"So am I," said Mr. Winters, "for, mind you, an automatic clock operates all this mechanism. Nobody need touch it. Some contrast to the days when the installation of chimes was an enormously expensive and cumbersome job!"

"Yes, some contrast!" waggled I, and then he bowed me over to Mr. Clark—Mr. George Clark, first of the American navy's licensed radio operators—and he told and showed so many strange and interesting things that I certainly must write you another of these little pieces for tomorrow's TRIBUNE.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Criminals are finding that holding up concessionaires from the Fair is not a lucrative calling. Several robberies have been reported by concessionaires leaving the grounds at night, but in each case only pocket change has been lost, all the money taken in at the concessions is collected by armored trucks at the Fair for safe keeping.

A large map showing routes of all the air mail-passenger lines in the United States is on exhibition in the Travel and Transport building. It flashes the individual routes of various air lines and then shows the entire network in multicolor.

Capt. K. Cavallini, one of the senior commanders of the Italian line and captain of the liner Conte Savoi, arrived in Chicago yesterday to visit the Fair. He came from New York by plane on the Unitned Air Lines.

Darkest Africa, a concession on the Midway, opened yesterday. It features an open air show in which cannibals of the Ubangi tribe participate.

The "Message of the Baha'i Temple" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Ali Kuli Khan at 2 p. m. today in the Hall of Religion. Dr. Khan was at one time chief diplomatic representative of Persia to the United States.

The Iowa exhibit in the Hall of States is attracting large crowds every day. Rufus C. Dawes, president of the exposition, yesterday paid tribute to the Iowa commission for planning so interesting an exhibit. The date for the dedication has not yet been decided, pending decision by Clyde L. Herring, governor of the state. The governor will make every effort to be present at the dedication.

The Ice House quartet of Toledo will sing at the Fair on July 24 and 25. Although called a quartet, the chorus is composed of more than 30 singers, all business and professional men of Toledo. The first concert will be presented in the court of the Hall of Science at 8:45 p. m. on July 24, and the second program will be on the Floating theater the following night at 7:30.

An exhibition of French literature is now housed in the second pavilion of the General Exhibits group, placed there by the French and European Publications, Inc. Many first editions and rare books are among he displays.

Gov. William A. Comstock of Michigan will be here tomorrow to take in the dedication ceremonies of the Michigan exhibit in the Hall of States. The program will begin at 10 a. m. with a band concert by the Interlochen National Music Camp band in the court of the Hall of States. Choruses and bands will present a musical program lasting until the arrival of the governor. Addresses will be made by Robert S. Shaw, Mrs. Noyes L. Avery and Gov. Comstock. The governor will visit the General Motors building during the day.

In observance of American Home day at the World's Fair, the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs is exhibiting a number of flower gardens in the Horticultural building. The Palos Park Woman's club is displaying a "grandmother's garden" of old fashioned flowers, and the Orland Park Woman's club a rose and delphinium combination.

Miss Mabel B. Johns and Mrs. Helen Johns Kirkland, both of Bronxville, N. Y., and daughters of H. W. Johns, founder of the Johns Manville company, visited the Fair yesterday. They arrived in the morning and will leave this evening. They are particularly interested in a booth showing how their father discovered the commercial value of asbestos 75 years ago.

SNAKE FAMILY AT FAIR ACQUIRES 24 NEW MEMBERS

Bertha, an eight foot boa constrictor in Clif Wilson's snake show on the Midway at A Century of Progress, yesterday gave birth to 24 young boas each about 12 inches long. The young snakes are said to be the first of the boa family to be born in captivity.

The mother snake was one of five shipped to Wilson two days after the show opened and the show owner said he did not know Bertha was an expectant mother. The boa is said to be the only member of the constrictor family that gives birth to their young alive. The python and anaconda both lay eggs.

Wilson said that a search of literature on snakes had failed to reveal the sort of food desired by the young boa. He believes the young snakes in the wild state search for their own food. The mother snake is said to be completely indifferent to her brood immediately after they are born.

Rail Passenger Traffic on Way to All Time Record

A Chicago Association of Commerce report yesterday asserted that if through passenger arrivals and departures at Chicago railroad stations continue the rest of the year at the present pace, all annual records will be broken. The banner year was 1920. It was pointed out that through passengers, as distinguished from the patrons of suburban lines are 30 per cent more numerous at the Union station than the average there since the station was opened in 1925. Last Sunday's arrivals and departures, it was asserted, were the greatest on record. Other stations also had greatly augmented crowds.

Ruth Nichols to Address Feminine Flyers Tonight

Miss Ruth Nichols, New York society woman and aviatrix, is expected in Chicago today to be the speaker this evening at the dinner terminating the convention of the Women's National Aeronautical association at the Palmer house. The feminine flyers held their sessions yesterday at the some hotel and listened to a plea by Assistant Postmaster W. H. Canavan for their support of measures to lessen the distance between postoffices and airports.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 95; recovered, 72; stripped, 6. (From police records for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Wednesday.)

MARK BIRTHDAY OF CALIFORNIA AT FAIR TODAY

Uncle Quin, Scalawags to Parade for Children.

BY EARL MULLIN.

The happy hours of childhood days and the sunshine and playgrounds of California will jointly hold the spotlight at the Fair today. A parade in the morning, special events throughout the day, musical programs and speeches will fill the day to overflowing with attractions.

Under the weekly program sponsored by the Exposition the nickel once again will be king. For 5 cents children under 12 years old will be given admission to the Fair grounds, to many of the concessions, and be provided with child's size drinks and foods.

The Children's day program, always drawing large crowds of juveniles, and the colorful program of the western coast state are expected to draw a crowd of more than 150,000 visitors. Yesterday's attendance, while not as high as that of the beginning of the week when Fourth of July throngs swelled the attendance to the quarter of a million mark, was highly satisfactory to officials. At 11:30 p. m. the official attendance was 101,010.

W-G-N Stars to Lead Parade.

The Children's day program will start in the morning with a parade forming in the Court of Honor at 14th street and marching to Pershing road. Quin Ryan and his troupe of young radio stars from W-G-N will be special guests and lead off in the gala parade. Following the pageantry a special luncheon will be served the guests and a broadcast made at 2:15 o'clock over radio station W-G-N by the troupe from the court of the Hall of Science. During the afternoon the Scalawags and Uncle Quin will appear at Enchanted island for the children assembled there. The actors will be the same as the group appearing every night over W-G-N. Even Tiny Tim, the dog, will take part.

The parade will include everything childhood dreams can imagine. There will be cowboys, Indians, elephants, camels, and the other animals of the zoo and menageries. The little people from the midget village and giants and clowns of the circus will take active part.

But the parade, while important, is not the entire day. It will merely start the day off, and the grounds will be full of other attractions, many of which a nickel will make available for the children.

California to Mark Anniversary.

California day at the Fair will open in the afternoon with a special program in the court of the Hall of States. The major portion of the ceremonies will be devoted to commemorating the 87th anniversary of the raising of the American flag at Monterey by Commodore Sloat when taking possession of California for the United States.

Leland V. Carter, former president of the San Francisco chamber of commerce and one of the officials in charge of the erection of the bridge across the bay, will be chairman of the day. President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair will represent the Exposition at the ceremonies.

A musical program will be presented by the Pacific Coast band and orchestra. One of the features of the day will be the participation of 200 Knights of Columbus, delegated by Gov. James Rolph Jr. to represent him at the Fair. The delegation is spending five days at the Fair. The program will be held outside the California exhibit which shows the industries and playgrounds of the western state.

Spanish Pavilion Dedicated.

Two programs featured yesterday at the Fair, Spanish day and Rotary International day. The Rotary program was presented in the evening in the court of the Hall of Science.

The principal event of the Spanish day celebration was the dedication of the Spanish pavilion, with consular officials, representatives of the Fair and city, and Chicago society participating. Sebastian de Romero, Spanish consul in Chicago, represented the government of Spain at the dedication, and President Rufus C. Dawes officiated for the Fair. Following a short reception the pavilion was thrown open to the public.

The Spanish pavilion is a replica of the architecture of the early 16th century and lends a colorful and charming note to the modernistic scene surrounding it. Although the industries of modern Spain and the cooking and entertainment of the people are featured, the most interesting portion of the exhibit is devoted to art.

Display of Art Old and New.

Presented under the auspices of the national tapestry works of Madrid, a subsidized industry, both modern and renaissance art are displayed. Side by side with paintings of Goya and Velasquez are the works of J. Mareno Carbonero and Ramon de Zubiaurre. The two most valuable pieces are the "Temptation of St. Anthony," by Geronimo Van Bosch, a 16th century artist, and a Velasquez, "Lamenina."

The beautifully ornamented chests of modern Spain, the tapestries and rugs of the tapestry institute, and other modern art and jewelry creations are spread through the pavilion to be observed at close hand.

Jury Lays Chute Leaper's Death to "Inexperience"

Joseph Adrey, alias Joseph Wilson, of Jersey City, whose spectacular death in a leap of 2,000 feet from an airplane over Lake Michigan was witnessed by crowds at A Century of Progress Tuesday night, met death accidentally "due to inexperience," a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Adrey fell into the lake as his chute failed to open. A recommendation that credentials of parachute jumpers be more carefully inspected before being employed was made by the jury, which also recommended that commercial parachute jumpers be licensed by the United States department of commerce.

"Make Hair Grow while the sun shines"

"It is a well known phenomenon that in the summer the growth of hair is morerapid," says Dr. Arnold Lorand, Vienna Dermatologist.

THAT Hair grows faster in the summer than at any other season is an established scientific fact. You can take advantage of this seasonal peculiarity by starting Thomas' hair and scalp treatment at once.

Your hair will respond more quickly to this famous proved method of treatment now than at any other time. Within an unusually short time your dandruff will disappear, hairfall will stop, and new hair will actually be visible on the thin and bald spots. Call at the Thomas' office and talk your problem over with the specialist in charge. He will gladly examine your scalp without charge or obligation and frankly tell you what Thomas' treatment can do for you.

'PARIS STREETS' BIG MONEY MAKER OF WORLD'S FAIR

Concession Is Visited by More than Million.

While the streets of Paris, France, echo with lamentations over the drop in tourist trade, the Streets of Paris at A Century of Progress, resound with hails to the return of the golden age.

More than a million persons have walked up the gangplank of the exhibit to visit its peep shows, cafés and shows. In entrance fees alone the visitors have paid more than $250,000. About three times as much more has passed over bars for beer and into cash registers for food and entertainment.

Ninety barrels of beer are quaffed daily at the sidewalk cafés in "The Streets of Paris." Business in other concessions proceeds at the same tempo. So great has been the popularity of the exhibit that the officials of A Century of Progress have established a separate bank to handle its receipts which are said to reach over $100,000 daily. Eight auditors are employed in detailing its finances.

Originated by Chicagoans.

The Streets of Paris is the realized vision of a group of Chicagoans, including George Lytton, Laurance H. Armour, John W. Root, Charles W. Bidwell, E. A. Cudahy Jr., Weymouth Kirkland, Leon Mandel, A. N. Reborl, and Lucius B. Manning.

Thirty-six sponsors invested $800,000 in the enterprise and received shares of stock. Twenty thousand shares have been issued, of which one-fourth are held by Root and Reberi as the architects and administrators.

Ten days before the Fair opened the three acres at the foot of 23d street were not much more than a slough. The project was completed on schedule and on the first night ceased to be a gamble to become a boom investment.

The finances of the Streets of Paris are as complex as its winding streets. County Commissioner Charles H. Weber secured the right on all beer concessions. These he sublet. Beer concessionaires pay 30 per cent of their gross profits, 15 per cent to the management and 15 per cent to Weber. Other concessionaires pay 30 per cent to the management.

Pay $10 a Foot Rent.

The 30 per cent is paid until the rent charge is met. Rent is $10 a square foot. On payment of the rent the concessionaire's contribution to the management drops to 25 per cent of his gross. In this event, in the case of beer sellers, the management gets 15 per cent and Weber 10.

Each concessionaire is required to bank his days' receipts every night at the Fair bank on the premises. The management must also bank its entrance receipts. The funds are collected daily by Fair officials. At the end of the each week the management receives the money less the percentage due the Fair and charges for services, such as light, garbage, and the like.

At present 10 per cent of the gross receipts go to A Century of Progress. These receipts total above $100,000 each week. The contract with the Fair calls for a sliding scale under which the Fair will take a maximum of 40 per cent after all expenses in the building of the exhibit have been met and profits mount.

Concessions Employ 1,324.

In turn the management deducts its percentage and pro rates service charged before turning over the money to concessionaires. In the case of beer sellers, the management takes 15 per cent of the gross and turns the funds over to Weber, who deducts his percentage before distributing the funds to the sellers.

There are 67 concessions employing 1,324 persons in the three acres. One of the smallest is that of Mrs. R. K. Lindsay, where French fried potatoes are sold in an area of about 20 square feet. Sales here total about $70 a day. At the even smaller popcorn concession $35 worth of the puffed grains add to the daily beer demand.

Café Takes in $2,500 Day.

The largest concession is the Café de la Paix, for which the rent is $35,000. This is operated by the owners of the Merchandise Mart restaurant, and has grossed $2,500 in an evening.

Gilbert Hall, architect, operates a ball game in 300 square feet. A patron attempts to knock a scantily clad girl out of a bed by hitting a trigger with a baseball. Hall has grossed $300 a night.

Peep shows are even more popular, taking as high as $500 a day. Tony Sarg operated "Mademoiselle from Armentiers"; David Leavitt and Wilfred Eiting "Folies Bergere"; P. Wegg and Robert Pyjzel "Nudiste Colony," and Edgar Miller "Vision d'Arts," an art class with living models.

The streets have ten bars. Among these are Harry's New York bar, operated by Charles Hepp; Moulin Rouge, Pierre Guise and Baston Teillaud; Au Lapin Agile, Samuel Wolf; Vendome, H. Edward Gregory; Café de la Rotonde, Otto Singer, and Café Select, George Mitchell, A. F. Lambert and A. Goldstone.

Five Mandel Shops in Streets.

Most of the concessionaires are Chicagoans. Mrs. James Ward Thorne offer minerettes for sale; Nancy Lee Thurston, novelties; Thorne Donelley, postcards; Edward Laird, Donald Murray and Frank Snow, canes, and the Washington Book company operates the book stalls. Mandel Brothers have five shops in the streets.

The Streets of Paris is regarded by Fair officials as the most popular concession on the grounds. Visitors have hailed it as the brightest spot of the Fair.

"We will keep our reputation," said Mr. Reberi. "Every day or two the directors meet to consider methods of improvement. Attractions are being improved and changed. It is our effort to bring back visitors again and again.

"The sponsors had faith in Chicago and in A Century of Progress. They gambled on this faith. Results have justified them. The Streets of Paris are contributing to the welfare of the community in supplying employment to more than a thousand persons, to A Century of Progress, and toward the return of prosperity."

Will Dance Today at World Fair

Virginia Donaldson, daughter of Hugh Donaldson, who is in charge of affairs at Soldiers' field, will be one of twelve girls, all under 12 years of age, to be presented tonight in a program of tap, toe and acrobatic dancing in the Casino de Alex as a part of the Children's day program at the Fair.

'PARIS STREET' GOES BACK TO 25C ADMISSION PRICE

Admission to the Streets of Paris concession at the Fair today will revert to the old admission price of 25 cents following a trial price of 40 cents after 8 o'clock in the evening.

The higher price was in effect for only four days and caused so much complaint among the individual concessionaires in the "Streets" that a directors' meeting was called last night to consider a change to the old admission price.

Following a stormy meeting attended by a quorum of five directors, the deciding vote was cast by George Lytton, State street merchant and president of the general concession.

Russia Seeks Credit to Buy War Supplies in France

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—A soviet credit in France, largely for military purchases, was discussed at length today by Maxim Litvinov, Russian foreign commissar; Joseph Paul-Boncour, French foreign minister, and Premier Daladier.

DELAY ORDERED IN ENVOY DAVIS' RETURN ABROAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—Reports that Norman H. Davis is to be removed as American delegate to the Geneva arms conference and as "roving" ambassador were strengthened tonight by a state department announcement that Mr. Davis' return to Europe has been indefinitely delayed.

The announcement followed Mr. Davis' visit this evening to the White House where he discussed the disarmament situation with the President.

Announcement Is Made.

"Mr. Hugh Wilson, American minister to Switzerland and delegate to the disarmament conference, has reported that the work of disarmament will not require Mr Davis' presence in Europe for the next few weeks," the department said. "Therefore, Mr. Norman Davis will not sail, as he had planned, but will hold himself available to return at any time when it appears that his presence in connection with disarmament is necessary."

Mr. Davis' activities at Geneva, particularly his efforts to bring the United States into a consultative pact with other foreign powers, have been severely criticized in this country as contrary to the fundamental American opposition to entanglement.

Criticized in House.

Most aggressive of his critics has been Representative George Holden Tinkham [Rep., Mass.], who accused Mr. Davis not only of "seditious activities," but of conspiracy to defraud some of his private business associates. Representative Tinkham, on three occasions during the special session, took the floor in the house to demand the recall of Mr. Davis.

Other demands for Davis' recall followed the senate banking and currency committee's recent disclosure that he was a participant in the so-called Morgan "preferred" lists.

Meanwhile, it was learned, President Roosevelt has virtually given up all hope of material armament agreements at Geneva at this time. Japan's attitude regarding an agreement for naval armament, it is reported, has brought the President to this view.

IDENTIFY HEART VICTIM.

The body of a man who died Wednesday of heart disease at Clark and Washington streets, was identified yesterday as that of Stanley Kosiak, 55 years old, 1221 North Claremont avenue.

ICKES APPEALS FOR ADVANCES IN EDUCATION

Speaks to Educators in Closing Session.

A plea for public support of educational development to cope with swiftly moving changes in the national social order was sounded last night before the final general session of the National Education association convention at the Medinah temple. The speakers were Harold L. Ickes, who, as secretary of the interior, has under him the national office of education, and President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

Mr. Ickes took the view that better government goes hand in hand with better education. Mr. Hutchins outlined vast changes in the structure of national education as a means of drawing public support of it.

"Except by means of a broad and generous education freely provided by the people for our children as a whole," asserted Mr. Ickes, "we cannot hope to have put into the hands of those children essential tools with which to carve out a happy destiny for themselves and for their own children in their turn."

A Danger for Future.

If during these critical times, he declared, the nation denies educational opportunities to millions of children, the country will suffer when those millions, grown shortly to be uneducated men and women, are called upon to undertake the responsibilities of government.

"I know that without a highly educated electorate our system of government can not be maintained," said Mr. Ickes in conclusion. "Certainly it can not be developed and perfected. I know that an intelligent government based upon an intelligent citizenship does not spontaneously grow. Both must be fashioned by carefully fabricated, highly tempered, intellectual tools.

"Our chief interest as a government, therefore, is education. Unwise economy that will cut at the roots of our system of free and universal education, our American system, may prove to be a fatal economy. To be great and noble and free America must be educated."

Need for Change in System.

The need for broad changes in the American system of education, Mr. Hutchins pointed out, is to be found in thousands of youth without employment after their schooling has been completed and in the training of adults in the light of shortened work hours in the future.

"Whether we like it or not," said Mr. Hutchins, "we must accommodate the young people of the country up to their eighteenth or twentieth year; industry will not absorb them earlier. We shall also be compelled to organize the leisure time of the bulk of our population from the end of school onward."

The educational system of the future, he explained, would be a six year elementary school, a three or four year secondary school, and three or four year collegiate and technical institutes.

"You will say that such a system as I have outlined will be enormously expensive and we cannot get the money for the one we have," said Mr. Hutchins. "My answer is that we cannot get the money for the one we have because it is a bewildering and incomprehensible maze. If we can present to the country an intelligible program we can get the money to support it. If we shrink from the task of clarification we may find taken away from us even that which we have."

Association Picks President.

Miss Jessie Gray, a classroom teacher of Philadelphia and former president of the Pennsylvania State Education association, was elected president of the National Education association last night, defeating Miss Anna Laura Force, principal of the Lake Junior High school of Denver, president of the Colorado State Teachers' association, and vice president of the National Council of Administrative Women. The presidency of the National Education association is given alternately to men and women, each holding office a year.

The 10,000 delegates to the convention will pack up their grips and brief cases today for their homeward journey.

Some idea of the extent of the work done by the educators in the week of their convention was given by Belmont Farley, a Missourian, who heads the N. E. A. publicity office on the fourth floor of the Stevens hotel. Mr. Farley, who has a year round publicity job in the permanent N. E. A. headquarters in Washington, estimated that more than 600,000 words will have been uttered in formal speeches on all phases of schooling by the end of the convention.

The estimate does not take in scores of informal speeches and luncheon talks. The publicity office continued grinding out speeches yesterday to be published in educational journals, not to mention numerous handouts for newspaper men.

A plea that reductions in school costs should not be continued when times get better was made by Dr. A. F. Harman, state superintendent of education in Alabama, before a business session of the convention yesterday afternoon.

"In the present emergency we need to distinguish retrenchment from economy," asserted Dr. Harman. "The public has the right to demand economy in educational administration at all times. It should expect retrenchments only as financial reverses and limitations may make them necessary.

"We must be practical people. We must command the attention of the whole public and its sympathetic understanding of the problems of educational administration. Critical and searching investigations of the various aspects of the cost of education are neither to be feared nor to be opposed, provided only that all such investigations shall be made of all governmental functions and agencies and that all shall be scrapped that shall be found to have survived their usefulness."

Dr. Harmon pointed out that if the educators were to rush headlong into readjustments in the name of economy they would be subjected, not without a show of reason, to the charge that they had been parties all along to indefensible extravagance.

Leslie Small Wins When Court Drops Libel Suit

Kankakee, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—Justice of the Peace Edward H. Dempsey today dismissed a charge of libel brought against Leslie Small, managing editor of the Kankakee Daily Republican-News, by Joseph Albert Adams, publisher of a free circulation weekly here. Adams' charge, it was disclosed, was based on an article published in the Daily concerning a suit for ten weeks' salary at $15 per week filed against Adams by Carl Lampe, former editor of the weekly. Adams said in his action against Small that the Daily's story injured his moral and financial standing in the community.

OPEN NEW FIGHT FOR EXTRADITION OF HARRY DRAKE

The Chicago Better Business Bureau was informed yesterday that officers from Raleigh, N. C., are on their way to Chicago to obtain the arrest of Harry L. Drake, 1500 Lake Shore drive, called the "king of the loan sharks," on a second indictment charging conspiracy to evade the North Carolina usury laws.

Drake is fighting an extradition warrant signed by Gov. Horner on a misdemeanor indictment voted last April, having filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the Circuit court of Sangamon county. Gov. J. C. B. Ehringhaus of North Carolina has already signed the extradition papers on the second indictment and they will be presented to Gov. Horner.

Drake, together with his father, Dimmitt D. Drake, who lives in Paris, is said to control 34 loan shark offices in North Carolina and more than 200 in the United States, all in states which do not have rigid small loans acts such as Illinois'. According to the Better Business Bureau, some 30,000 workers in North Carolina have paid "interest" at the rate of 350 to 400 per cent a year for Drake loans. Named in the conspiracy indictment are the father and D. M. Battle, an office manager.

Drake maintains elaborate offices at 35 East Wacker drive, where the headquarters of half a dozen companies headed by him are located.

HELD AS A MURDERER.

Frank Bias, 48 years old, 1248 Miller street, colored, was recommended held to the grand jury on a charge of murder yesterday after an inquest into the death of George Pendleton, 37 years old, who was fatally beaten in a street fight on July 4.

BAGGAGE HAULING RATES TO BE PUT UP TO ALDERMEN

Parmelee Spokesmen Say There's No Regulation.

The transportation committee of the city council, which fixed maximum taxicab rates at a figure higher than a majority of the Checker cab drivers were willing to charge, faced a new problem yesterday in the rates charged by the Parmelee Transfer company.

A charge of $5 was made by the Parmelee company for hauling five pieces of baggage from the Union station to the Medinah Michigan Avenue club, Michigan avenue and Illinois street. The company said this was a correct charge, the rate being $1 per piece of baggage, regardless of the distance traveled and no matter whether small hand bags or large trunks were involved.

The Parmelee Transfer company is a Chicago concern which through a contract with the railroads, has a monopoly on the transfer of baggage from railroad stations here. It is a subsidiary of the Parmelee company, a Delaware corporation, of which the Yellow Cab company and the Checker Cab company of Chicago are other subsidiaries, and which controls taxicab businesses in other cities.

Deny They May Be Regulated.

Inquiry was made at the Parmelee office as to what governmental body has supervision of its rates. The reply was that neither the interstate commerce commission, the Illinois commerce commission, nor the vehicle commission of the city has any authority to limit its charges.

"We are given a check for a piece of baggage and we pick it up and deliver it, whether trunk or handbag, and regardless of its value, at a standard charge," the Parmelee company explained. "We can't base our charge on size, weight or value."

"For a trip to the Medinah Michigan Avenue club we would have to make a special delivery and the truck would come back empty. The charge would be the same if the baggage were delivered to the Edgewater Beach hotel or to South Chicago, but these deliveries would be on a regular route."

Cites Law on Public Carts.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman was asked if the city did not have the same authority to regulate the charges of the Parmelee company it does to fix taxicab rates. He reached for the Revised Chicago Code of 1931 and pointed to section 2143, which defines "public carts" as follows:

"Every express wagon, cart truck, dray, wagon, automobile, autocar, auto truck or other vehicle of any kind, either drawn by animals or self-propelled, which shall be kept, used, operated, driven or employed for the purpose of transporting or conveying bundles, parcels, furniture, trunks, baggage, goods, wares, merchandise or other articles within the city for hire or reward, shall be deemed a public cart within the meaning of this article. . . ."

Section 2148 contains the following provision as to maximum rates:

"1. For trunks, baggage, goods, wares and merchandise [other than household furniture and pianos], for each article not exceeding 350 pounds in weight, for the first two miles or fractional part thereof, 50 cents; for each additional mile, 25 cents."

Says Ordinance Has Been Repealed.

"That ordinance is included in the 1931 code by mistake," said Attorney Sidney M. Glick, representing the Parmelee company. "It was repealed in 1929 and should not have been included. The city repealed it, rather than stand a test of it in the courts. The Hibbard Express case in the 301st Illinois practically killed that ordinance. No express companies are licensed under it now."

Mr. Grossman said the matter would be taken up with the transportation committee of the council. If the ordinance was repealed, it was done under a former Republican administration, it was explained, and if it was not then proper action will be taken to determine whether the Parmelee company can charge twice the amount permitted in the ordinance.

HIS WOUND STRIPES PROVE HIS THEFT OF ZOO'S WILDCAT

Washington, D. C., July 6.—(AP)—Aubrey Gordon Miller, 36, who walked out of the Washington zoo about three weeks ago carrying a young ocelot, today got the latest returns in the district police court as to what happens when a man tried to lick even part of his weight in wildcats.

Miller appeared in court still carrying the scars of severe scratches and bites, evidence of his victory over the cat.

Judge Isaac R. Hitt listened to him tell of paying the Washington zoo $35 for the ocelot, after pleading guilty to a charge of taking property that didn't belong to him. Sentence:

Six months on probation. Judge Ralph Given, in another section of the court, then listened while a policeman told how Miller had held up the body of the cat, telling all who would listen that the "kitty just died." Miller pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication.

Sentence: Six months' probation.

Miller told both judges that hereafter he would leave cats alone.

KELLY TO CARRY AIRPORT PLEA TO U. S. WITHIN WEEK

Seeks 6 Million Grant for Lake Front Project.

Mayor Kelly plans to go to Washington within a week bearing full authority to request a federal grant of $6,000,000 to build a new airport on the lake front, just east of Adler Planetarium off Grant park. He hopes to get the project under way immediately to provide work for 3,000 men for a year. A delegation of leading citizens will accompany him, including Col. A. A. Sprague, former commissioner of public works.

The mayor's decision to act on the project immediately was announced yesterday by John Wentworth, chairman of the architectural committee of the Chicago plan commission, which developed the airport plan. Mr. Wentworth outlined the project to the mayor's aero commission, which voted its approval of the proposal. One government advantage pointed out was a big saving in the transportation of air mail to and from the airport.

To Appear Before Council.

The mayor is expected to appear before the city council today to ask the adoption of an ordinance paving the way for the federal grant for the airport. He will first consult the corporation counsel on the legal aspects of the project. Mr. Wentworth said the United States army engineer, Col. W. G. Caples, is in favor of the project, since it will complete the Chicago harbor.

Mr. Wentworth said Mayor Kelly felt that the outer link bridge, which will cost about $6,000,000 also, should be hurried to completion along with the airport project and that he would ask for federal grants under the $3,300,000,000 public works program for both improvements.

Mayor Kelly is to confer with his cabinet within a few days with a view to working out details of a program of public works for Chicago to be built with funds provided by the federal public works act. Among projects now suggested are a subway and a system of filtration plants for Chicago's water supply.

Plan to Build Island.

The lake front airport project was announced last week by the plan commission after a year's study. The present plan is for the filling in of the lake to form an island, triangular in shape, with the base parallel to shore, connected by a 500 foot bridge to Northerly island. The airport island would contain six runways 2,300 feet long, an administration building, and a number of hangars.

Mr. Wentworth has obtained the approval of the air lines, the post-office department, and the air express companies for the plan, which was created with their assistance and the advice of south park board engineers.

AIR LINES HIRE ASSISTANTS TO RELIEVE PILOTS

Fourteen co-pilots have been hired by United Air lines and are being taught the rudiments of handling the air liners operated by the system by veteran pilots of the line in order to relieve the heavy duty required of the pilots in recent weeks. Air line travel has increased so phenomenally that the pilots have been forced to give up their days off and work overtime.

Officials of the Air Line Pilots' association, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said last night that rumors of a threatened strike of air line pilots because of overwork are grossly exaggerated. They said that the condition of overwork is being remedied by the air lines, and that what slight dissension did exist has been overcome.

The air line pilots plan to draw up a code to submit under the national recovery act at a national conference to be called in the early future, they said, and at that time working conditions for the profession will be fully considered.

PLANE HITS CLOUD OF GRASSHOPPERS HEADED FOR U. S.

WINNIPEG, July 6.—(AP)—Manitoba farmers breathed more easily today after a dense black cloud of migrating grasshoppers had passed over the international border into the northern United States. Few of the hoppers landed here.

An air mail pilot complained of near nausea from roasted insects on his engine, but little damage to crops from the pests was reported. The air mail plane from Pembina, N. D., landed at Stevenson field stained with the remains of hoppers that crashed into it at 1,500 feet.

STORMS DELAY MISS EARHART'S SPEED FLIGHT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 6.—(AP)—Presence of thunderstorms between Kingman, Ariz., and Amarillo, Tex., tonight caused Amelia Earhart, trans-Atlantic flyer, to postpone her speed flight to New York.

She said she must have ideal weather conditions if she is to better the women's transcontinental record of 19 hours and 4 minutes which she holds. She plans one stop, at Wichita, Kas., on this flight, which she will be prepared to attempt tomorrow night.

Both Miss Earhart and Ruth Nichols, New York flyer, had planned speed flights across the continent last night, but the weather was unfavorable.

Miss Nichols' plane also was found to need repairs which could not be made immediately, and she left on an air liner tonight for New York, abandoning her record flight plans.

Three Mild Earthquakes Felt at Long Beach, Cal.

Long Beach, Cal., July 6.—[Special.]—Three mild earth tremors were felt here during the last 24 hours, none of them creating damage of any consequence, although some window panes were snapped during one of the shocks late last night. The earth waves were felt to a slight degree in localities surrounding Long Beach.

U. S. AND STATE OFFICIALS PRAISE AIR RACE CHIEFS

Commend Their Efficiency in Running Events.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

The management of the American Air Races, which closed after four days of racing and aerobatics at the Chicago airport on Wednesday, was praised highly by federal, state, and city aviation authorities yesterday for its record of no accidents and no interruptions in the regularly scheduled air transport operations on the airport. The races were sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

George Vest, chief inspector of the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce for the Chicago district, said the air race and airport operations during the four days were marvels of efficiency. He asserted that the number of planes, including air liners, private planes, and racing craft, that took off and landed on the airport on those days probably set a new record for other than military operations.

Praise Race Management.

B. P. Bonfoey, new chairman of the Illinois Aetronautics commission, and Walter Wright, director of aviation for the city, also praised the air race operations, which were conducted by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, as director of events, with the assistance of John Casey, the airport manager. The race management also was praised by L. B. Manning, president of American Airways, and W. A. Patterson, vice president of United Air Lines.

More than 100 racing and aerobatic pilots who participated in the four day meet were preparing to leave the city yesterday, after collecting a total of $20,000 in prizes. Many of them expressed their admiration of the manner in which the heavy program of events had been conducted without delays to either the show or commercial operations.

Flyers Send Protest.

Before leaving they signed a letter of protest addressed to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, in Paris, France, the world governing body for aviation contests. The letter was drafted by Clyde Pangborn and Bennett Griffin, ocean flyers; Jack Wright, sportsman pilot of Utica, N. Y.; E. M. (Matty) Laird, Chicago airplane manufacturer, and Clyde Cessna, Wichita, Kas., plane designer.

In the letter the pilots demanded an investigation of the National Aeronautic association, American representative of the world sport governing body, charging misuse of its supervisory powers and asserting that it allowed an air race promoter to be a member of its contest committee. The pilots who flew at the American Air Races had been threatened with the suspension of their racing licenses by the National Aeronautic association because the meet was not sanctioned by that organization, which demands fees of many thousands of dollars for such official recognition.

1933 Total Is 5.9% Below Last Year.

The city council will be asked to approve 1933 tax levies totaling $77,761,745 for various city funds at its meeting today.

The levies are 5.9 per cent below the total of $82,615,735 which taxpayers will be asked to pay early next week for operation of the city government during 1932, and 7.8 per cent below the 1930 levies of $84,269,440, the peak of the Chicago tax burden. The 1931 levy, now in collection, is $78,413,683.

Operating Costs Cut 9.1 Per Cent.

The corporate fund levy, out of which the general operating expenses of the city are paid, has been reduced 9.1 per cent below the 1932 levy for that purpose, however, and 21 per cent below the peak levy for 1930. The fixed obligations for bond and interest and pension payments decreased the percentage of reduction for the total levies. The 1933 levies and those for the previous year follow:

Corporate	$44,010,000	$40,000,000
Bond and interest	23,624,862	23,172,195
Working cash fund	3,200,000	3,000,000
Police pensions	2,871,550	2,871,550
Firemen's pensions	2,300,000	2,300,000
Municipal employes' pensions	1,609,323	1,609,000
Tuberculosis sanitarium	2,000,000	2,000,000
Public library	1,900,000	1,900,000
Judgments	1,100,000	900,000
Totals	$82,615,735	$77,761,745

Of the net reduction of $4,853,990 in the levies below those for 1932, $4,010,000 was trimmed from the corporate fund. The working cash fund levy of $3,000,000 may be reduced or omitted. The finance committee is to discuss this today before the council meets. It has approved all of the other levies.

Kelly Back; Orders Pay Day.

Mayor Kelly returned from his vacation yesterday and following a conference with Controller Robert B. Upham, authorized a two weeks' pay day for city employes, including those of the tuberculosis sanitarium. The pay rolls, for the first half of March, total $1,836,846. Payment started yesterday and will be continued today.

APPEALS BOARD ANSWERS PLEA FOR REHEARING

Attorneys for the board of tax appeals yesterday filed an answer in Springfield to the petition for a rehearing in the state Supreme court on the ruling upholding the board's order for a horizontal reduction in assessments.

The board several months ago ordered a 15 per cent cut on the 1931 quadrennial assessment of all homes and small flat buildings in the county. A petition or a mandamus to compel the board to expunge the order was denied by the Supreme court. The petition for a mandamus was filed by Attorney Lester Falk on behalf of Kilner Fox Thomas, owner of a six flat building.

The brief filed for the appeal board yesterday by Attorneys George W. Lennon and Stephen Love says there was no error in the Supreme court ruling entitling the complainants to a rehearing, and that "nothing could be more unwise and dangerous—nothing more foreign to the spirit of the constitution—than an attempt to baffle and defeat a popular determination by a judgment in a lawsuit."

TELLS HOW DAYTON IDLE MAKE CLOTHES AND GROW OWN FOOD

Cleveland, O., July 6.—(AP)—A sewing machine and a bolt of cloth, a grist mill and a bag of grain, and a pair of rabbits were pictured to the national conference of slum clearance today as the symbolic solution of the housing problem.

The speaker was Ralph Borsodi, author and consulting economist of Suffern, N. Y., who told housing experts from twenty-seven of America's largest cities how a plan at Dayton, O., permits workers to build their own homes on subsistance farms.

Explaining that the project grew out of production and barter units at Dayton, Borsodi said that sewing machine, grist mill, and rabbits were used to illustrate to idle how they might bake their own bread, make their own clothes, and breed and raise their own meat.

Thirty-five "homesteaders" of various trades, settled upon 3 acre tracts with common pasture, where they are exchanging labor in building their own homes, tending gardens, and engaging in home crafts, he said.

Explaining how it is possible for a homesteader to acquire his own home with a maximum weekly installment of $2.25, the economist said it is planned to create fifty additional units of about thirty-five families each if federal funds are forthcoming under terms of the national recovery act.

The Summit police yesterday recovered the body of a man about 22 years old from the Des Plaines river. It had apparently been in the water for a month.

JARECKI BALKS MOVE TO BLOCK HIS TAX DRIVE

Holds Skarda Law Gives Him Emergency Power.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday totaled $454,320. This makes a total real estate tax collection of $24,336,648 since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began April 28. The totals for four years and the amounts of taxes remaining uncollected are shown in the following table:

	1928.	1929.
July 6	$ 14,123	$ 51,843
Uncollected	18,965,036	40,835,958
	1930.	1931.
July 6	77,473	307,580

The collection of personal property taxes for 1931 totaled $3,298 yesterday.

Another move by attorneys for tax delinquents against the enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act was thrown out of court yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. The judge overruled a challenge as to the extent of his jurisdiction under the act, holding that it gives him every power of law, Chancery, and Criminal courts to collect back taxes.

The new attack was brought by Attorney Israel B. Perlman of the law firm of Sabath, Perlman, Goodman & Ryan, in behalf of the New York Life building at 39 South La Salle street, which owes taxes of $180,000. Judge Jarecki at the time was inquiring into a report that four directors of the property paid themselves $450,000 in dividends before it went into receivership a year ago. Judge Jarecki's investigation was begun after an information was filed against the owners of the property by the state's attorney's office.

Attorney Opposes Inquiry.

Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell declared that if the directors paid themselves the $450,000 they should be made to return it to the property or go to jail. Attorney Perlman declared the judge is not given the power to inquire into such transactions under the act.

"The court is given exclusive jurisdiction in all matters regarding the collection of taxes," Judge Jarecki said. "I have all the powers of law and chancery, and may even go so far as to hold conspirators to the grand jury for withholding funds which should properly be used in payment of taxes. I shall press forward until I am reversed by the state Supreme court, if the higher court does reverse me.

"The situation is novel in legal history. The act is an emergency measure and as such grants this court extraordinary powers. These powers I intend to employ to their fullest extent."

The former directors of the property are L. J. Lesser, M. E. J. Papke, F. H. Bush, and H. Hackmeister. The building defaulted on a $2,000,000 bond issue last August. At that time only $40,000 had been paid on a tax bill of $340,000. Under federal receivership an additional $120,000 has been paid, leaving a balance of $180,000.

McDonough Asks Receivership.

County Treasurer McDonough filed a petition in the County court to place 75 parcels of real estate under his receivership to collect back taxes of $493,275. Among the properties listed is 1000-08 Lake Shore drive, which was the residence of the late Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick. Taxes of $33,172 are due on this property.

Federal Judges John P. Barnes yesterday granted Arthur B. Hall, receiver for the Stevens hotel, permission to pay $100,000 on the hotel's 1931 tax bill. Receiver Hall paid $100,000 on the bill of $395,000 last March 21. Taxes for 1928 and 1929 on the property have not yet been paid.

DIVORCE SUIT BY BEAVERBROOK'S DAUGHTER OPENS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—Hearings in a suit for divorce instituted by Mrs. Janet Gladys Aitken Campbell, daughter of Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian born newspaper proprietor, against her husband, Ian Douglas Campbell, heir presumptive to the duchy of Argyll, began today before Judge Fleming in the Edinburgh Court of Sessions.

Campbell was accused of infidelity, a charge he denied. Campbell's lawyers today raised the question of jurisdiction—the defendant was born in Paris, claims his home in France, and hence he is not subject to jurisdiction of the Scottish court in matrimonial affairs.

The Campbells were married in 1927 in London. They have one child.

Wife, 56, Wins Divorce by Tale of Row Over Snoring

Mrs. Kittie E. Dupuis, 56 years old, 3229 Gustave street, Franklin Park, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court from George Dupuis, 54 years old, 2268 North Sayre avenue, a railroad passenger agent. Both are grandparents and both have been married twice before. They eloped to Crown Point last September. Mrs. Dupuis charged cruelty, testifying that on June 8 her husband choked her after charging that her snoring annoyed him. "I never snored in my life," she asserted. She was represented by Attorney Harry X. Cole.

"AND ANOTHER THING . . . YOU CAN EXPECT TO USE LESS OIL"

WITH ISO-VIS "D"
The New Anti-Sludge Motor Oil

—you'll add fewer quarts between drains

You know that new Iso Vis "D" doesn't sludge under the hardest, hottest kind of driving. But did you know that it lasts longer? Of course it does. Sludge clogs piston rings and valves—fouls filter screens—wastes oil. The less sludge, the less your oil consumption. Drain your old oil and change to new Iso-Vis "D" now. You'll not only be protected against gummy, sticky sludge formation, but you'll need to add fewer quarts between drains. Ask any car owner who is using it.

Sludge is the gummy, sticky, black substance found in crankcase drains. It is caused by the breaking down of oil in hard, fast driving. It clogs the oil lines, fouls and slows down the motor, causes lubrication failure. Give your motor a fresh start. Drain out old sludgy oil and change to Iso-Vis "D", the anti-sludge motor oil. Drive into any Standard Station. They'll make the change for you in 8 minutes or less.

RAIL STRUGGLE FOR BUSINESS IS TOLD AT INQUIRY

Stock Sale Profits Bared; Recess Until October.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—A struggle between competing trunk lines for markets and freights in the steel and coal center of Pennsylvania in the hectic days before the 1929 slump was unfolded before the Pecora committee today by Frank E. Taplin of Cleveland. As president of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railway he testified regarding the 222,930 shares of stock in the road [a 75 per cent interest] he sold in 1929 for $37,898,100 to the Pennroad corporation, holding company formed by officials of the Pennsylvania railroad.

At the conclusion of the day's hearing the investigation of private banking was recessed until October.

Figures presented on the stand indicated that the holders of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia stock in the syndicate formed by Mr. Taplin had bought it for an average of $52.50 a share and had realized a profit of $117.50 a share. Analysis of the tables submitted by Mr. Taplin led the committee to figure that profits of about $11,500,000 had been made by the Taplin family, which included the Cleveland capitalist, his wife, his brother, his three children, and the North American Coal corporation, in which the Taplins are chief stockholders.

Family Held 97,953 Shares.

All told, the Taplin family and the coal corporation had 97,953 shares.

Save for an occasional bit of new information, the hearing was in the nature of a rehash of former investigations made by other agencies and already printed in bulky governmental volumes. The senators nodded and drowsed in their chairs as the day wore on and occasionally one roused himself and proved he was awake by asking a question.

Attorney Ferdinand Pecora kept referring to the printed book and for quite a while it seemed that the committee was investigating former investigations.

One question which led the committee to call Mr. Taplin to Washington was why the Pennroad corporation bought the 222,930 shares of Pittsburgh and West Virginia for $170 a share at a time the stock was quoted at $140 on the market.

First Asks $200 a Share.

"The market did not reflect the true value of the shares," said Taplin. He said his road had a strategic position in any alignment of the railroads into big systems and that the negotiations had run over a period of two or three years. During this period, Mr. Taplin said, he had stood out for $200 a share and that he cut the price to $170 in 1929, "seeing the clouds ahead and trying to get shipshape," and the stock was taken next day by the Pennroad corporation.

In the $37,898,000 transaction, Mr. Taplin asserted, no written agreement had been made, saying that word of Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was good enough bond for him.

The stocks in the Pittsburgh and West Virginia, it developed, although in the possession of the Pennroad corporation, are still held and registered in the name of Taplin, who retains the presidency of the P. & W. Va. Mr. Taplin said this was due to the fact that at the time of the sale he was trying to link up a series of roads into a system that would run from Baltimore to the great lakes, the Pittsburgh and West Virginia to be one factor, but the interstate commerce commission withdrew its permission.

Touch on Income Tax.

Some time was spent on the question of income tax, and the formation of trusts for the Taplin children in 1918, matters, which it developed, have already been looked into some years back by the federal authorities, without affecting changes.

Last week Otto Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who handled the financing of the Pennroad corporation, testified that the corporation was set up among shareholders of the Pennsylvania railroad as a means of protection against "invasion of territory by other roads."

Mr. Taplin, a coal operator, who became head of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia in 1923, was asked why he bought into the railroad.

"To make money on purchases of stock," he said. "This road's stock was selling cheap and I felt it could be made worth more with increased earnings.

"There were four trunk lines, the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Van Sweringens. My idea was that this was a property desirable to any one of those systems."

Gets Control of Stock.

He testified that through a syndicate he got control of 75 per cent of the stock. On an average it was bought at $52.50 a share.

"What price did you ask?" asked Senator Fletcher, chairman.

"The cheapest price I always talked about was $200 a share," replied Taplin. "Below that I wasn't interested. For two or three years there were negotiations with Gen. Atterbury. In 1929 I saw the financial storm coming and wanted to trim ship. I reached an agreement with Gen. Atterbury at $170 a share. I figured this was a cheap price. It was $30 below the price I had set and control of that road was absolutely worth it."

At the time the stock was quoted on the market at $140. Taplin's comment on this was "the market never reflected the true value of that stock."

Questioned about a loan of $1,950,000, made to him by the Pennroad corporation in June, 1929, at 6 per cent, Taplin said it was for purchase of a block of stock in the Wheeling and Lake Erie railway, which would give him control of that road.

HIGHER TAX RATES BUT LESS REVENUE.

The highest income tax rates imposed on the American people in peace time have failed to produce the revenues expected by the treasury experts. They thought the government would get 520 million dollars from income taxes in the first six months of this calendar year. In fact, the income was only 401 million dollars, and the deficiency is the more striking in view of the fact that the collections under lower rates in the corresponding period of 1932 were larger by nearly 40 million dollars.

Repeated experience has demonstrated that an increase in the income tax rates above the point of moderation does not bring in a corresponding increase in revenue, but rather the reverse. High taxes discourage business activity and enterprise and therefore destroy profits and income. Congressmen often pretend that the failure of the revenues under such circumstances to equal anticipations is to be explained wholly by evasions of the law, but their argument overlooks the plain fact that 10 per cent of a million dollars is more than 50 per cent of nothing. When a fiscal policy has curtailed many incomes, large and small, as it has this year, congressmen can blame only themselves for the regrettable position of the treasury.

PROF. MEAD AND MR. WALSH.

An eminent engineer, Prof. Daniel W. Mead of the University of Wisconsin's engineering faculty, read a paper on the St. Lawrence power project before three national associations of engineers in convention in Chicago. It was his conclusion that the project as agreed upon in the treaty between the United States and Canada is unsound. He was speaking as an engineer of wide experience, to engineers, on the largest engineering project now under consideration on this continent. As the treaty has yet to be ratified, he was contributing to a proper understanding of a public question of the first importance.

The paper by Prof. Mead brought a prompt reply from Mr. Frank P. Walsh. Mr. Walsh is a lawyer who has held many political jobs. At present he is chairman of the New York state power authority and as such may be expected to have some familiarity with the technical questions involved, but even if his competence in the field of hydraulic engineering were as great as that of Prof. Mead there was no excuse for his bald statement that Prof. Mead was engaged in propagandizing in favor of special interests. If that were true, and he did not prove it, the fact remains that Mr. Walsh is far less able to view the engineering problem with anything like scientific detachment. Prof. Mead will continue to serve as a professor and a consultant no matter what happens to the treaty; but if the treaty is rejected, the New York power authority and Mr. Walsh, its chairman, won't have much to worry about except their jobs.

As if to make his case against Prof. Mead utterly ridiculous, Mr. Walsh read a telegram from Senator La Follette in which the senator repeated, without proof, the charge that Prof. Mead was a propagandist for private power interests. To this was added the heinous charge that the professor maintained two private offices as an engineering consultant in addition to his teaching position and had been opposed to the Boulder dam project. If these allegations prove anything except that Prof. Mead knows his business, young Mr. La Follette failed to make his point.

The incident does throw a good deal of light on the treaty. If the best that the friends of the scheme can do before an audience of technicians is to confuse the issue with demagogic harangues, fair-minded men will conclude that the case for the treaty must be uncommonly weak. To those who have followed the negotiations closely this fact has long been apparent. The treaty was written at the behest of politicians who were willing to sacrifice their country's interest and squander their country's wealth for political advantage. The politicians sucked into their scheme the alien-minded Americans who choose to advance their own social ambitions by doing the will of foreigners.

On its face the treaty as it stands is a fraud upon the American people. America pays by far the greater part of the bill for Canadian labor, Canadian supplies, and Canadian engineers, and our own share of the costs besides. This division might be justified, perhaps, if the United States were to receive an overwhelming share of the benefits, but in fact the seaway will be far more advantageous to Canadian than to American trade. The treaty promises the destruction of the gulf waterway which has just been opened to commerce. It invites British exporters to compete with ours in Canada on more favorable terms than the British have ever before enjoyed. British coal, for example, will be landed in Toronto in direct competition with the product of our mines.

The truth of the matter is that no adequate investigation was ever made by our government into the usefulness of the seaway to American commerce or the marketability of the power which it is proposed to produce. The scheme was put forward because it seemed to offer an attractive political plum to our northwest and upstate New York. Senator La Follette made no mistake in linking it with Boulder dam. The St. Lawrence treaty was born of the same desire to bribe the voters in favored regions with public works built at the expense of taxpayers generally. Of course such a project will not stand engineering analysis. And of course the only reply to an engineering analysis of such a scheme must be vituperative. A reasoned case cannot be made out for an inherently unreasonable proposition.

MR. SEC. HULL.

Mr. Cordell Hull, the American secretary of state, is supposed not to be as certain or quite as happy as so important a cabinet minister would like to be. Nevertheless it can be observed that he already has displayed many points of merit apart from the diplomatic victory credited to him in presenting successfully the President's objections to conference adjournment. Since the occupancy of the state department by several master minds, predecessors of Mr. Hull, it is becoming noted that no news from the department of state is good news. Mr. Kellogg was led into some Jovian procedure and Mr. Stimson was a master mind. The present state department seems to be allowing many of Mr. Stimson's activities to subside. They are evaporating, and the consequences of that are all profit.

Under Mr. Stimson the United States had become poison ivy in the far east, with the chances that if it kept on spreading in that fashion it would be treated to some unpleasant procedure. China and Japan may be very far from an equilibrium, but so far as the United States is concerned there is a tranquillity which would have been abhorrent to the department of state a year ago.

Mr. Hull at least has the virtue of making less trouble for his government, of proposing fewer foolish commitments, and of doing less tall talking than has been the state department habit for some years. If Mr. Hull continues to display the rare ability to run his department in a quiet, normal way and not make it the world's greatest provocative agency, he will have deserved quite well of his fellow citizens.

TRADE AND RECOGNITION.

The lack of diplomatic relations between the soviet republic and the American does not seem to have prevented the communist government from obtaining a loan of four million dollars from that genial agency, the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The loan, of course, is to be spent on a purchase of American cotton, but it is such a transaction as advocates of diplomatic recognition argue is deplorably hampered because the soviet government has no ambassador at Washington or consulates throughout the United States. If this is permitted, we are told, we shall be able to increase our trade with Russia enormously.

Our suggestion has been that we need not wait for any other agencies than already exist and the cotton transaction seems to support our theory. A soviet trade agency has long been in our midst, the so-called Amtorg, and if the R. F. C. or any American bank or commercial house is anxious to arrange any exchange of American goods for soviet promises to pay, we are sure it will not be discouraged by Amtorg. The door is wide open to such transactions without diplomatic formalities. We are free to send to Russia every bale of cotton in the south and every bushel of wheat in the west without any diplomatic blessing. We can pour all the goods in America into the soviet lap without a protest from Commissar Stalin or Commissar Litvinoff.

Recognition is a horse of another color. Moscow wants it for reasons which it should be the policy of the American republic to defeat. It wants recognition to increase its political prestige at home and abroad, to give moral support to its rule of the Russian people and its mischief making among every disturbed people in the world. Trade with Russia depends solely upon soviet credit. If we like it we can have as much of it as we are willing to take.

Editorial of the Day

A TONGUE-TIED CONGRESS.

[Minneapolis Tribune.]

So much has been said of the garrulousness of congress that we suppose it is not unnatural that some pride should be taken by its members in the record for taciturnity established during the special session. Certainly there is reason to marvel at the figures compiled by Representative Martin F. Smith of Washington which show that congress passed all its momentous recovery legislation with only 40 hours and 40 minutes of general debate.

Thus it is shown that on only two measures—the Muscle Shoals bill and the industrial recovery act—did congress lavish as much as six hours of debate. The farm and inflation bill was runner-up with 5½ hours of general debate, and the securities bill came next with only five hours. Beer inspired three hours of congressional oratory, as did the railroad reorganization bill and reforestation, but the economy act slipped through congress with only 120 minutes of debate.

This leads Mr. Smith, who is a Democrat, to conclude that no lawmaking body in the history of the world has ever made such a "remarkable record of expeditious action." It is the answer, he believes, to those who have repeatedly whaled congress for its habit of "protracted debate and almost interminable discussion." All of which leads us to suspect that the representative from Washington has largely missed the point of the criticisms which have been directed congress' way. So far as we know no one has ever objected to congress taking ample time to discuss legislation of far reaching importance. No one has ever urged that the ideal congress would be the rubber stamp congress which devoted not a minute to debate but approved everything that was set before it mutely and humbly.

What most persons have objected to has been the shillyshallying, hair splitting, and partisanly obstructive tactics of congress. It has been the leather-lunged demagogues of congress who like to hear themselves talk, the picayunish gentlemen who wreck legislation for the sake of political advantage and the votes back home, who have so largely brought congress into disrepute.

But as for congress debating legislation at length to clarify and sharpen issues, that has never been held a high crime. We do not believe, therefore, that the 40 hours and 40 minutes of general debate which congress devoted to the most far reaching legislative program in the history of the country constitute, per se, a record to be proud of. We should hesitate to boast at least that congress' chief claim to distinction, as one extraordinary act after another was ground through the legislative mill, was that it stood, comparatively mute and tongue-tied, and never even wagged its head.

GEN. LEE:

Kennst du es wohl? Dahin, Dahin!

SAPPHIC.

Love songs are by Sappho.
The Greek turned to her lyre
Where steps of porphyry led down
And columns mounted higher.

Smooth ran the theme, and Sappho
Strummed lightly on her lyre;
She was a likely female
And full of natural fire.

But neither man nor woman
Escapes the rage of time,
Yet Sappho gained distinction,
Remembered by a rhyme.

That Greek deserves our honor,
By all her gods above,
Wisely knowing nothing
Can die, attuned to love.

CLARENCE MILLIGAN.

THE GIRLS OF THE W. C. T. U. call for the organization of a new political party because "the leaders of the major political parties are supporting the repeal of the eighteenth amendment." Well, the drys are getting on; they seem to have found out something.

A HOSPITAL IN LEICESTER has fired two of its women nurses for wearing flannel trousers in the street. I wish all women nurses would wear flannel trousers not only in the street but especially in the sickroom. When they used to breeze into my room in the many times I have been sick in a hospital their stiff-starched, impeccable skirts made a noise like a half dozen hired men sharpening saws down behind the barn. Swish, swash, shurzz, swish—it always brought me up standing even out of sleep. I would think somebody was driving a lawn mower across the room. Now, if they would only take to wearing nice, slinky flannel trousers they would be practically noiseless. Except the tap, tap, tap of their high heeled shoes. Wish Marlene Dietrich would start wearing rubber heeled shoes. Maybe the girls, including the nurses, would trail her in the rubber heeled thing as eagerly as they did in the matter of gents' trousers.

"FIFTY ILLINOIS DELEGATES Ready to Vote Dry Repeal."—Headline. Ready? What a mild word "ready" seems to be! The Illinois delegates are just pawing the air, jumpin' and snortin' and a-rarin' ter go. Ready is no word for it.

PRAIRIE DAWN.

The stealthy coyote slinking denward on soft-padded feet,
Gives early notice of the near approach of dawn.
Awaking meadow larks, clear-songed, in winged abandon meet,
The shallow water holes in misty clouds a tribute pay,
While prairie dogs upon their mounds devoutly pose,
And distant, dim lined buttes change sleeping garments, fluffy, gray,
As virgins wear, to rarest violet and rose.
Soul healing scents of grass flowered plains my faith and hope renew—
Heart strengthened, my Creator, I have watched dawn's hour with You.

ROBERTA ROBERTSON.

THE GLAD NEWS comes from Washington that the government has greatly relaxed restrictions on sacramental wine. Wonder where I put my hymn book?

NICOTINE POISONING.

NICOTINE as an insecticide is in fairly general use. It is regarded as perhaps the most powerful poison that can be used against insects that attack and destroy flowering plants and some crops. That it is not more widely used is principally due to the fact that it is too soluble and rains and dews wash it away.

The reason for writing about it just now is the fact that most of the plant insects against which nicotine is used are especially destructive in the first half of the summer months. Gardeners and others will suffer from its effects—in some instances knowingly, in others without suspecting the cause of the trouble.

Dr. J. M. Faulkner reports a case that illustrates several phases of nicotine poisoning:

A man sat on a bench on which some nicotine insect poison had been spilled. He felt the liquid soak through his clothing and wet a section of his skin about the size of the palm of his hand. In about fifteen minutes he had an attack of nausea and faintness. So sick was he that an ambulance was called and he was taken to the hospital. There he was stripped, his clothing put in a bag. He was put to bed and given caffeine. For several hours he was threatened with death due to tobacco poisoning. By the next day he was out of danger, and a few days later he was well enough to go home. He was given his clothes bag to dress himself. He noticed that his clothing was still somewhat moist from the insecticide, recognizable by both the odor and the feel. However, he dressed and went home. One hour later he was again sick from nicotine poisoning. In this attack his condition was not so alarming, but he was quite sick and very uncomfortable. Three weeks later he had completely recovered except for a moderately bad tobacco heart. When he dressed after the second spell he avoided the pants and drawers which had soaked up the insect poison.

Dr. Faulkner established by experiment that nicotine could absorb through the skin of animals and man and produce tobacco poisoning. Some forms of nicotine were found to be more poisonous than others.

We wonder why this form of poisoning is not more frequently encountered. One reason is that it is not recognized. A man may have some giddiness, faintness, some nausea, some tendency to break out in a cold sweat, without suspecting the cause of his symptoms. He may have a moderate degree of tobacco heart without suspecting that his heart is out of the rut; or, if he discovers that organ is acting "nervous," he may not suspect the cause. Another reason advanced by Dr. Faulkner is that the substance is a heavy, dark liquid, offensive in color, odor, and general appearance. It reveals its presence and in the usual form makes no appeal—in fact, is repulsive. As a rule the solutions used as insecticides are quite weak.

Smokers are protected in some degree against nicotine poisoning by the small proportion of nicotine in tobacco. Again, the nausea to which the beginning smoker so much objects serves to stop absorption of nicotine and thus acts as a measure of protection.

BLOOD PRESSURE.

A. B. C. writes: If your correspondent who is suffering from high blood pressure would try drinking an 8 ounce glass of orange juice three times a day, it might help him. It helped me. My pressure was 220 and now it is normal. I took several kinds of tablets, but without results, but the orange juice did the work.

REPLY.

The good results that you had were probably due to the fact that during this period you ate less solid food. Fasting of itself has some tendency to reduce pressure. In addition, you somewhat increased your stock of alkali. That, too, is somewhat helpful. I would not expect orange juice to be of much importance.

PERHAPS A CENTURY.

R. F. writes: 1. How long can a person with a spot on the lung live, provided that he takes proper care of himself?

2. Can such a case be arrested?

REPLY.

1. Maybe one hundred years. Fifty is a better guess.
2. Yes.

FALSE STATEMENTS.

Chicago, July 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A girl baby was brought to this country from Europe when one year old. She married an American citizen (1) prior to the present law and is therefore now an American citizen. When voting she states she was born in this country. 2. Is the statement a violation of the federal or state laws or (3) would it be considered just a perjury?

C. P.

1. We assume that you mean prior to Sept. 22, 1922.

2 and 3. We do not understand what distinction you mean to draw between these. We would not undertake to say that the misrepresentation would be immaterial and it would follow that she might be subject to prosecution.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

GARBAGE RECEPTACLES.

Chicago, July 2.—[Friend of the People.]—How can I compel the hospital located to the rear of our place to provide some decent facilities for the disposal of their kitchen garbage? They have two broken, uncovered, unscreened baskets filled with refuse. Besides being unsightly and giving an offensive odor, it is a positive danger to the health and sanitation of the children of the neighborhood.

O. S.

Report is made that the superintendent of the hospital was served with notice and has provided two large receptacles with covers for accommodation of garbage, preparatory to the installation of an incinerator. When incinerator is installed occasion for further complaints will be eliminated. At the present time garbage is being removed three times each week by private scavenger service.

JOSEPH J. BUTLER,
Superintendent of Streets.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 7, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The senate went on record as favoring prohibition of the consumption as well as the manufacture of whisky or other distilled liquors during the duration of the war. It tentatively adopted an amendment to the food control bill offered by Senator Cummins of Iowa, which provided: "No distilled liquors or spirits now in bond in the United States shall, during the existing war, be withdrawn to be used as beverages, nor shall there be imported into the United States during the said war any distilled spirits." Earlier the senate defeated a "bone dry" proposal which would have barred the manufacture of beers and wines as well as distilled liquors.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The first tangible result of the drive against German agents in this country materialized last night when it became known that Heinrich Schaafhausen, whom Count von Bernstorff caused to be retained by the Swiss legation when the United States severed diplomatic relations with Germany, will leave the United States within the next few hours at the instance of the state department. Schaafhausen's enforced departure may be accepted as the first move by this government to rid the diplomatic corps of persons the United States has reasons to believe are active in the interest of Germany. It is the result of five months of investigation by the government's secret agents.

WAR SUMMARY—Petrograd reports a heavy artillery duel in the region of Zlochoff and Berlin says a violent battle is raging in this sector. Berlin also reports the repulse of Rumanians south of the Casinu valley. London says the British repulsed German raids near Bullecourt. Paris reports the repulse of German attacks between the Miette and the Aisne and in the Champagne. The French submarine Ariane was torpedoed and sunk by a German U-boat in the Mediterranean sea on June 19. All but nine of the complement of twenty-seven were lost. A British mine sweeper struck a mine and sank in the Mediterranean on July 5. Ten members of the crew perished.

NEW YORK.—Starting auspiciously with a public welcome amazing in its spontaneity, the greeting of New York City to the Russian war mission ended last night in hostilities between Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. The clash was over the East St. Louis riots. Col. Roosevelt demanded that the government "stop murder." Then Mr. Gompers took up the cudgels for organized labor, alleging it was innocent and that capital was guilty. Mayor Mitchel succeeded in getting order out of chaos by reminding the audience that the purpose of the gathering was the welcoming of the Russians. Finally he made it possible for the new Russian ambassador, Boris A. Bakmetieff, to make the speech he had prepared, while Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Gompers, sitting just behind him, glared at each other.

THE PARENTAL SCHOOL.

Chicago, June 26.—May I debate several of the problems raised by the article on page 8 of today's TRIBUNE relative to the Chicago Parental school?

First, the cost of $960 per pupil does seem a big item. But remiss members of society, whether adults or juveniles, are always more expensive than those who have been tamed. I had chaplain's responsibilities in our five largest Chicago jails for several years. I once prepared a young man for death before he was taken out of his jail and hanged. He was a product of the educational system of our city. It has been estimated that it cost $50,000 to put him through two murder trials and thirty-three months of incarceration before he was killed off. County funds are still carrying his aged parents. It seems to be either nine hundred, or fifty thousand per capita of the taxpayers' money for these bad boys. Which would you rather expend?

The inference is made that there is too high class a staff at 3800 Foster avenue and that $5,004 is too much for Mr. Mortenson. I have heard of school engineers who receive $7,000. Where could one find a more expert head than the present one? He is a product of our Chicago system. He went to the top. If he does not know Chicago's best objectives who does? His predecessor, Mr. Milliken, was likewise loved by his charges as a father and friend. I have been at the Parental a number of times. Three of the present employes are my intimate friends. Would you undertake to restore the "incorrigibles" in our public educational system by anything less than a contribution of something of our best teachers?

"Elimination" seems to spell economy to some of our public authorities. Twenty years ago we spent about $200,000 to erect a boys' correctional institution in the vicinity of Hull house. I have been there a number of times. The building was, as I recall it, on Gilpin place, just east of Halsted street. It functioned ideally. It was junked. It stands there boarded up. Then we spent about $500,000 for the Chicago and Cook county school at Harlem and 22d. I was chaplain there for three years. It was a matchless school. Now it is some kind of a health resort. I understand the interchange between county and city interests. But it is the school money which is expended nevertheless. The school authorities took an old building on North Clark street, near Rosehill cemetery, and modernized it into an efficient girls' parental. It seemed to me to function beautifully. Well, after all that investment, somebody "studied" that school and it is now torn down. Now it is proposed to discontinue the million dollar proposition on Foster at Central Park North.

Why not eliminate everything in Chicago and be annexed to Whiting, Ind.? There, in spite of unemployment and bank failures, they have paid all public bills. Their police and teachers and firemen are paid up to date, and they have cash on hand for a number of months in 1934.

FROM A TRUSTEE OF JUSTICE, ILL.

Justice, Ill., June 26.—Now that the newspapers and the Chicago Motor club have had all their say pertaining to what they called a speed trap in Justice, I, a village trustee, would like to have the opportunity of giving my side of the story to the public.

First of all the Chicago newspapers had stories about the state's attorney's office seizing the village officials for questioning. THE TRIBUNE mentioned my name. I wish to make it known that I have not been down to the state's attorney's office to date. I wish to say that I am ready to be questioned by the authorities any time they may find it necessary to do so, as I have nothing to conceal.

Another thing I would like to bring out to the public and that is the state's attorney's office would not listen to the "other side of the story," which some of the village officials tried to tell while being questioned. They were told that the state's attorney's office was not interested. Why?

Why did Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley appear at the trial Saturday, June 24, and nol-pros the speeding charge against the Croppa before he heard any evidence? What did he base his action on?

SCHOOL ENGINEERS IN SUMMER.

Chicago, June 30.—It was with considerable interest that I noted in your column the criticism in connection with the paying of school engineers' salaries during the months of July and August. I am certain the reader who makes this statement is not well acquainted with the mechanical problems of maintaining a school system.

During the summer vacation period our schools generally undergo a complete rehabilitation program. By this I mean the physical properties of the school building must be given definite attention. Repairs are made incorporating sanitary as well as heating and ventilating equipment; floors and furniture are reconditioned; buildings are painted and many other things done that require the engineer and his force to be on hand during these months.

THE ANACONDA SMOKE STACK.

Hammond, Ind., June 27.—In the Voice of the People of June 21 Howard M. Propper of Dolton, Ill., said that the smoke stack at Anaconda, Mont., was higher than the sky ride at the World's Fair. The height of this stack is 555 feet and not 685 feet.

JUSTICE IN INDIANA.

Culver, Ind., June 29.—If you want a good subject for an editorial on the administration of criminal justice as exemplified in a rural county of Indiana, just investigate what has happened in the courthouse of Plymouth, Ind. Six tough thugs from Chicago, including Daniel McGeoghegan, robbed the Culver bank. One got killed, the rest were captured. Four already are in the penitentiary. Daniel will soon be there. It is a refreshing contrast to what happens in many places.

YANKEE ENGINEER TELLS OF HUNGER IN LABOR CAMP

Michigan Man Confirms Report of Plague.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 6.—THE TRIBUNE'S report of an outbreak of bubonic plague in Sverdlovsk and of typhus elsewhere in Russia, a report categorically denied by the soviet government, is confirmed by George Jermain of Escanaba, Mich., a mining engineer. Jermain has arrived in Riga after spending three years in Russia in the employ of a mining trust.

Jermain, one of four American specialists appointed as chief engineers by the soviets during the last year, headed operations for the Middle Ural copper mining trust near Sverdlovsk.

Try to Prevent Spread.

He reports that bubonic plague appeared in Sverdlovsk a month ago and that soviet authorities are taking every possible precaution to prevent its spread. He also reports that the plague is appearing in other centers, since officials are powerless to control the migration of thousands of famine stricken workers who are carrying with them fleas which spread the plague and lice which carry typhus.

Jermain asserted that Moscow hospitals have numerous typhus cases, as likewise do hospitals in other cities. He said he was in Odessa a fortnight ago, where he was appalled by the extent of hunger. While hordes of beggars in Moscow ask for money, those in Odessa ask for bread.

In Moscow the government is selling bread for four rubles a pound, while government bread shops in Odessa are charging 24 rubles a pound. (A ruble in Russia is the equivalent of about 50 cents.)

Fantastic Prices.

Prices of other staple foodstuffs are equally fantastic. Butter, which Russia ships regularly to England, costs 50 rubles a kilogram (2.2 pounds); cheese, 50 rubles; sausage, 36 rubles; meat, 25 rubles.

The wage of the average Russian worker, after deductions for state loans and insurance, is about 90 rubles a month, Jermain said.

"Except that at the frontier they compelled my wife and I to strip before they found my wife's diamond ring and a $100 bill which they had refused me permission to take from Russia, I have nothing to complain about the treatment the government accorded me," Jermain said. "They offered me a more favorable contract to remain, but three years of watching Russian workers starve was all I could stand.

Couldn't Stand Begging.

"The chief reason for leaving Russia was a constant stream of little children and mothers with babies coming to our back door and pleading for pieces of bread. All the 12,000 workers in our camp knew we received the largest rations, and we were worried day and night by the starving. The sight of children with famine pouches under their eyes and swollen stomachs got on our nerves.

"Those famine conditions prevail not only in Sverdolvsk but more or less all over Russia. Because of the food shortage the government last spring ordered 25 per cent of the workers fired, being unable to feed them.

"Another 25 per cent cut is expected, but Moscow refuses to admit there is unemployment in Russia, although the railroads and highways are crowded with migrants lacking food. Part of this wandering population consists of kulaks evicted from farms, but it consists mostly of men who lost their jobs this spring and families of declassed elements expelled from the cities whose populations have been reduced to economize on food."

LEGION PINS ON MUSSOLINI AND KING START ROW

Made "Members" by Vice Commander.

ROME, July 6.—(AP)—Col. W. E. Easterwood Jr. of Dallas, Tex., who has conferred honorary memberships in the American Legion on King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini, said tonight that he will carry the question of his right to the floor of the national convention in Chicago in October if necessary. Col. Easterwood is a vice commander of the Legion.

"They both are war veterans of a country allied with us in the world war and they have a right to wear the buttons [American Legion]," he declared. "If there is any responsibility in the presentation let it rest on my shoulders.

"Premier Mussolini asked for the pin I wore on my hat and I pinned it on his lapel. I offered the king the one I had on my coat and pinned it in his lapel. He said he was very proud to wear it."

Easterwood asserted he knew of no specific ruling on the subject but that numerous honorary memberships had been conferred in America and that his action therefore did not set a precedent.

Legion Official Issues Denial.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 6.—(AP)—Reports from Italy that Premier Mussolini and King Victor Emmanuel have been made honorary members of the American Legion were denied at national headquarters of the organization here today.

"It is impossible to award such an honor, as our constitution and by-laws forbid it," Frank E. Samuel, national adjutant said. "There has been some mistake.

"I have written to Col. W. E. Easterwood and have asked him to make it clear that no honorary memberships in the American Legion may be given."

Quotes Legion's By-laws.

In his letter to Col. Easterwood, the national adjutant quoted a portion of the legion's constitution and by-laws.

"If you find that there is any misconception on the part of the premier himself [Mussolini] I hope that you personally will straighten it out with him prior to your departure from Europe," Adjt. Samuel said. "As national vice commander of the American Legion I am sure you would not knowingly allow any such misunderstanding to exist."

Adjt. Samuel said a similar letter relating to the membership for King Emmanuel will be sent to Col. Easterwood.

U. S. ACTS TO AID 5 YANKEES HELD IN PALMA JAIL

American Official Sent to Spanish Isle.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, July 6.—On the order of the embassy here Claude I. Dawson, American consul general at Barcelona, is taking tomorrow night's boat for Palma di Mallorca to try to aid his five compatriots (one a woman) who have been becalmed for a month in the calaboose of that Mediterranean paradise, one of its least advertised attractions.

The five are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lockwood, Walton Blodgett, Rutherford Fullerton, and Roderick Mead, all prominent in the art colony.

In the meantime the American embassy, after three appeals to the ministry of state to release them on bond, is waiting for the ministry of war to get a report of the festive goings-on of these five Yankees from the military authorities of Mallorca. Then it will decide what can be done.

Bowers Is Hopeful.

Ambassador Claude Bowers tonight expressed hope for early action. The embassy, he told THE TRIBUNE, had no notice until a week after the incident, but after being notified made earnest appeals for release of the prisoners. The matter now is being investigated, he said, by military authorities of Madrid, the affair being an attack on the civil guards which he described as a serious offense in Spain, a case for military and not civil authorities.

Dawson is going to Palma, the ambassador said, with instructions to seek every possible assistance pending decision of the war office on the matter of bail. His report will be awaited.

Fullerton told THE TRIBUNE that no charges had been filed against the five prisoners. His Spanish lawyer confirms this. The new Spanish constitution states that charges must be filed within 24 hours or prisoners released, and that within 72 hours there after the prisoner must be notified what it's all about. Any time served after this 72 hours has elapsed counts against eventual sentence, so the Lockwood party is not entirely wasting its time.

Whether charges were filed or not, all five are held for the military tribunal which, if it finds them guilty of attacking a guard on duty, could sentence them to at least eight years. The hard luck of these United States playboys arose from the fact that the porter of the Hotel Mediterranean was inexperienced in handling drunks. Then the hapless copper called in from the barracks across the street turned out to be one of those dreaded civil guards. The guard interfered in a brawl between the Americans and the porter and then Mrs. Lockwood threw a highball glass at the same civil guard, hitting him in the eye. Then to the calaboose.

THE TRIBUNE is informed by the authorities that if the report finally reaches Premier Azana on burroback or otherwise, the party will be released on bond and possibly will be pardoned after a trial, but indisposition to quash charges involving the might of the civil guards is evident.

Rules Holdover Officials in Stickney Lose Posts

Judge George Fred Rush of the Circuit court yesterday ordered six appointive officials in the village of Stickney, all holdovers from a former administration, to surrender their posts to men appointed by the present village board. Those affected are James Novotny, police chief; Ray Young, police lieutenant; James Kupka, treasurer; Oscar Backofen, collector; Frank J. Benetka, waterworks superintendent, and Louis Francekovic, janitor of the city hall.

SELL REAL FOOD, KERNER WARNS BEER TAVERNS

Attorney General Kerner ruled yesterday at Springfield that under the provisions of the state law the sale of foodstuffs must be a "real and substantial" part of the business of a beer tavern licensee. The state law also has been written into the city beer ordinance.

"The selling and keeping or offering for sale of potato chips, candy bars, and like articles do not satisfy this provision of the act," wrote the attorney general. "It is further necessary that such food be sold at prices for which it is usually sold."

The task of drafting a city ordinance permanently regulating the beer trade in Chicago will be put over until October if the city council adjourns today for the summer, according to Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman of a subcommittee of the council license committee.

RAINBOW VETS HOLD REUNION HERE NEXT WEEK

Several thousand veterans of the 42d, or Rainbow, division will hold their 15th annual reunion in Chicago next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The division, mobilized shortly after the United States entered the world war, got its name from the fact that it was composed of National Guard units from 26 states and the District of Columbia. Illinois contributed the 149th field artillery, known as Reilly's Bucks from their commander, Col. Henry J. Reilly. Col. Noble B. Judah of Chicago, who was head of the division intelligence service in France, is the present national commander of the veterans' organization.

The organization was formed in 1919 while the division was still overseas at Neuenahr, Germany, and has met yearly since. A solemn occasion at each reunion is Champagne hour, observed at 11:45 p. m. on July 14, the hour at which the guns of the division opened fire in its first engagement, the battle of Champagne.

CHURCH FOES GET UNTIL JULY 15 TO JOIN WITH NAZIS

Hitlerites Set Deadline in Protestant Row.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 6.—New church elections will be dispensed with as a means of restoring peace to the conflicting Protestant forces in Germany, Nazi officials declared today. The Nazi church commissars said they expect tomorrow's church conclave will accept their proposal that henceforth 75 per cent of the offices of German Protestant church bodies shall belong to the Nazi German Christians, who thus will rule supreme.

It was asserted in official circles that ousted church dignitaries and Nazi church commissars have progressed satisfactorily in their negotiations for the new church constitution proposed by the rulers of the nation.

The German Christians assert they will close their lists of membership July 15. Theological students at the University of Berlin were told that they cannot obtain a pastorate unless they join the Nazi church organization.

Erect Bulwark Against Poles.

BERLIN, July 6.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler will create a bulwark against the Poles by industrializing the rural province of East Prussia, it was revealed today by the Koenigsberg newspaper, Preussische Zeitung, which gave the details of a new government East Prussian relief plan.

(East Prussia is separated from the rest of Germany by the Pomorze, or Polish corridor.)

Only a bare announcement of the plan was made yesterday after the chancellor had conferred with Erich Koch, president of the province.

The plan calls for government help to reich industries in the province, particularly the metal and textile industries, to establish branch factories in rural areas. Workers will be given plots of land to till outside factory hours, thus creating a "farmer class" for thinly populated areas. The plan foreshadows a breakup of the huge bankrupt junker estates at present financed by the reich.

To promote culture the chancellor plans to raise the Koenigsberg university to national rank and create a national theater.

Bernhard Rust, Prussian minister of education and culture, announced that all students proved to be communist minded would be permanently eliminated from Prussian universities.

Austria Protests.

VIENNA, July 6.—(AP)—It was officially announced today that the Austrian minister at Berlin has been instructed to protest to Chancellor Hitler against the anti-Austrian broadcasts of the radio station at Munich.

The latest broadcast from Munich was by Theodore Habicht, who was recently expelled from Austria as the result of his activities as a representative of German Nazis. The Socialist Allgemeine Zeitung pointed out that Habicht in this address likened the régime of Chancellor Dollfuss to the separatist movement which failed to create an independent Rhineland. The paper demanded intervention by the league of nations.

Peace Overture Denied.

Irritation in government circles here was increased by Berlin's official repudiation of the so-called peace overture in yesterday's Aussenpolitische Korrespondenz which the official Austrian press bureau distributed verbatim to newspapers as a semi-official German utterance.

Two victims of recent political bombings in Austria died today. One was an auxiliary policeman, among thirty injured in a hand grenade attack at Krems, and the second was a 17 year old Nazi who had been injured in the premature explosion in a Vienna flat of a home made bomb.

TWO POLICEMEN SHOT IN CHASE OF AUTO FUGITIVES

Two policemen were wounded, one of them severely, during a two mile chase through west side streets early this morning of four men in an automobile. The men, riding in a car without lights or license plates, were noticed at Francisco avenue and Madison street and drove away when the policemen, riding in a squad car, accosted them.

The chase led over several streets until at Ashland avenue and Harrison street the fugitives began firing at their pursuers. The wounded policemen are John Cunningham, 525 North Hamlin avenue, and Charles Wilson, 3538 Nordica street. Cunningham was shot beneath the heart and Wilson was wounded in the arm. The four men escaped.

Cunningham has little chance for recovery, according to physicians at the Jefferson Park hospital.

Detroit Attorney Slated for High Court Justice

Lansing, Mich., July 6.—[Special.]—Gov. William A. Comstock announced today that he will appoint Thomas A. E. Weadock, Detroit attorney and Democratic leader, to the Supreme court bench to serve out the term of Justice George M. Clark, who will resign Sept. 1. The governor pre-

In Divorce Tangle

MRS. MARY STROMBERG.

Arndt Stromberg, display manager of a department store chain, was granted a divorce a week ago from Mrs. Mary Stromberg, 4823 North Lincoln street. The action was uncontested, on grounds of cruelty, Mrs. Stromberg having signed a stipulation agreeing to the divorce.

Yesterday Attorney Norman Becker, representing Mrs. Stromberg, petitioned Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude to set aside the decree. She explained she had not known what the term "stipulation" meant when she signed it, at the suggestion of her former attorney.

"Legal phraseology belongs in law books and should not be used between lawyer and client," ruled Judge Trude in granting the petition.

"Mrs. Stromberg is willing to have a decree of divorce entered," Attorney Becker told Judge Trude, "but she wants to get it herself. She doesn't want the stain of a cruelty decree against her name."

Mrs. Stromberg will present evidence on a charge of desertion today.

EX-POLICEMAN FREED ON PAYING BULLET VICTIM

Judge Lewis Drops Charge of Assault to Kill.

Roy Sullivan, who last week was dismissed from the police department after he had pleaded guilty before the trial board, was given his liberty on the same charge yesterday in Judge Harry A. Lewis' court. He was charged with having shot and severely wounded Andrew J. Gallagher, 40 years old, 2023 Lyndale avenue, a conductor for the surface lines.

Sullivan, who, witnesses said, appeared to be intoxicated when he shot the conductor because of an argument over the 7 cents fare, settled what was called in court the "civil liability" for $2,500. Gallagher in return refused to prosecute the case and the charge was officially "dismissed for want of prosecution."

Niemeyer Sanctions Action.

First Assistant State's Attorney Grover C. Niemeyer said that he had sanctioned the action of his assistants, Richard Regan and Richard Devine, in allowing the dismissal order to be entered. The recommendation for the dismissal on the court records was signed by Gallagher and Attorney Thomas J. Symmes for the surface lines.

Prosecutor Niemeyer was asked if Gallagher could not have been made to prosecute and he replied:

"I suppose we could have forced him to take the witness stand, but if he had told the jury he did not want to prosecute, it would have been a waste of time to try the case."

Attorney Abe L. Marovitz, who represented Gallagher, said that the settlement was made because Gallagher had threatened to file a civil suit for recovery of damages for his injuries. He said that Gallagher was paid from money which Sullivan obtained as a refund from the pension fund after he was dismissed on his plea of guilty last week.

Quarrel Over 7 Cent Fare.

Oct. 24, 1932, Sullivan, in plain clothes, boarded a north bound Halsted street car at Clybourn avenue. Gallagher, not knowing him to be a policeman, asked for his fare. Sullivan then announced his identity, but did not produce any credentials.

The conductor made several requests for the fare and finally Sullivan paid the 7 cents. When the car reached the end of the line at Waveland avenue, the policeman whipped out his revolver and shot Gallagher twice.

Gallagher and other witnesses, including Policeman Nicholas M. Geishecker, who made the arrest, said Sullivan appeared to be intoxicated.

Gallagher is said to have recovered from his injuries.

Prosecutors Regan and Devine said that the full facts were presented to Judge Lewis before he allowed the dismissal order to be entered.

LINK PRETTY BOY, FIVE OTHERS IN MURDER OF FIVE

U. S. Asks Arrests for Station Killing.

Kansas City, Mo., July 6.—(AP)—The department of justice today ordered the arrest of Charles [Pretty Boy] Floyd, Oklahoma killer; five escaped Kansas convicts, Verne C. Miller, former Huron, S. D., sheriff, and William Weissman in connection with the machine gun slaying of four officers and their prisoner, Frank Nash, at the Union station plaza here June 17.

The announcement by Director of Police Reppert that Miller and Weissman were known to have had a part in the killings, was followed today by the appearance of circulars issued by the United States bureau of investigation, asking for the arrest of Floyd and the five convicts.

Flee From Kansas Prison.

The circulars were issued at Washington under direction of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau. They named Harvey Bailey, Wilbur Underhill, Ed Davis, James Clark, and Robert G. Brady, who escaped from the Kansas penitentiary Memorial day, and Floyd.

The circulars also bore the pictures of the six men and described them. The department also asked for the arrest of Harry J. Garner and Bernard Phillips for complicity in the killings.

Bailey was said by police to have been a friend of Nash, who was slain in the attempt to effect his escape. Bailey was the leader of the prison break Memorial day, in which the warden, Kirk Prather, was kidnaped. A photograph of Bailey was identified by a station usher as that of the man who inquired the time of arrival of the train bringing Nash from Arkansas to Kansas City.

Limps and Carries Cane.

The usher said the man limped and carried a cane. Bailey was wounded in the leg in the prison break. A man answering Bailey's description came to the house where Miller had been living two hours after the killing, police were informed today.

During Bailey's trial at Fort Scott, Kans., for bank robbery, he was identified by an officer of a Lincoln, Neb., bank as the leader of a gang which robbed the institution of about $2,000,000 in 1930.

Underhill, an escaped Oklahoma prisoner, as the slayer of Merlve Colver, a Wichita, Kans., policeman.

Miller, who served a term as sheriff at Huron, S. D., was widely known for his skill with firearms. He was convicted of embezzling funds while in office and sent to the state penitentiary. Later he went to Minneapolis, where he was accused of shooting an officer.

Weissman is wanted at Los Angeles for the slaying of David Antink, drug company treasurer, in 1926, and for the killing of John G. Finiello, a prohibition agent, at Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 19, 1930.

Floyd, who emerges from the Osage bad lands for a foray against a bank and then, is accused of half a dozen murders. Police say he was in Kansas City the night before the Plaza slayings. A witness to the shooting identified a photograph of him as one of the machine gunners.

Miller had been living in a fashionable Kansas City residence district where he was known to neighbors as a gentleman of leisure who devoted considerable time to golf.

Don't TEASE mosquitoes

KILL THEM

WHEN YOU go after mosquitoes and flies in your home, you don't want to annoy them or just make them groggy. You want to see each and every pesky one of them drop, dead as doornails, to the floor all ready to be picked up in your sweeper. That is the only thing they can do when you spray Black Flag upward toward the ceiling in a fine clean mist with your Black Flag spray gun. Black Flag kills insects quickly and surely, yet doesn't hurt humans or pets. And it has a clean, pleasant odor . . . For crawling pests like roaches, fleas, ants, and bedbugs, Black Flag powder is best because you can leave it where they run and hide. All grocers, druggists, hardware, and general stores sell Black Flag. It KILLS—yet costs no more than weak preparations which may be offered.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TELLS VIEWS ON WORKING WOMEN

Different, Not Inferior, to Men, She Says.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—Special.]—Because a woman can't dig a ditch nearly as neatly as a man makes her different; but not inferior.

And the sooner the National Woman's party realizes that difference doesn't necessarily mean inequality, the sooner it will stop trying to get absolute equal rights for women, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt pointed out with considerable fervor at today's press conference.

The National Woman's party, meeting here Saturday, will charge that government economy is forcing women out of jobs and "back into slavery," from which, they argue, the feminist movement has but recently rescued them.

It's not a masculine minded Uncle Sam that's objecting to married women holding government jobs, Mrs. Roosevelt insisted; but rather the single women who think they deserve first claim on a job instead of their married sisters.

Women Make Protests.

"The most violent protestations to the married woman worker come," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "not from men, but from women themselves. At least that's the facts as revealed in my mail."

The President's wife went on to explain that she appreciates the value of work and to stress the fact that "it is un-American to say that any one class mustn't work." But she reminded the conference that this is an emergency and that "for the moment" [she qualified all of her statements with that phrase], it may be necessary to ask one wage earner in a house where there are several to stand aside in order that one would-be wage earner in a house where there are none may have a job.

Reverting to the National Woman's party's fight against protective legislation for women, Mrs. Roosevelt charged the organization with "ignoring" the fact that there is a fundamental difference, physical, not mental, between men and women.

"Not Inequality," She Says.

"If you are a practical person," she said, "you must see that it is a difference, not an inequality."

This does not at all mean, she repeated it twice, that a woman cannot make just "as significant a contribution to the labor of the world" as the man; nor does it mean that "when she does the same work as a man she should not receive exactly the same pay."

"I perfectly well realize," she declared, "that right now a woman has to do her job twice as well as a man to be on the same level. There is perhaps a necessity for that at the present moment; but let's get away from it."

Mrs. Roosevelt left this afternoon, by plane, for New York, whence she intends to leave on a two weeks' motor trip. This time she is not giving out an advance itinerary. Because, she insists, she doesn't know where she's going; "just where the mood moves me." She is certain, however, that she will turn up at her Campobello camp for a visit with her daughter-in-law, Betty, who is planning to get a divorce from her son, Elliott.

EDICT OF KING MAY BE UPSET BY GOV. HORNER

Springfield, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—One of the official acts of King Louis XIV, of France, who died in 1715, may be nullified by a bill passed by the Illinois general assembly.

The new measure, not yet approved by Gov. Horner, would permit the sale of the 6,000 acres of commons at Prairie du Rocher in Randolph county.

The commons, overlooking the Mississippi river, were given to the village in perpetuity by the French king.

The commons have been under lease to farmers and leases now in effect were made in 1853, running until 1952, some land as low as $1 an acre.

Many of the leases have been passed down by the original makers to succeeding generations of the same families. A number of those residing on the commons consider their leaseholds as their ancestral homes. Other leases have been sold. In some instances such sales of leases were made at figures many times the original amount.

To settle the issue State Representative A. A. Brands, Prairie du Rocher Democrat, introduced a bill permitting sale of the commons, subject to the leases.

Money received from leases during the last 79 years has been used for the Prairie du Rocher schools. The money from sales would go the same way.

RETURN VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide while despondent over ill health was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of Charles Leibsohn, 50 years old, 1116 Pratt boulevard, who hanged himself on Wednesday in a room in the Stevens hotel.

HORNER VETOES MEASURE TO CUT TAX PENALTY

Governor Signs Batch of Other Bills.

Springfield, Ill., July 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner today vetoed a bill by Representative Rush, which would have cut the maximum interest or penalty on property sold for nonpayment of taxes from 12 to 5 per cent. In his veto message the governor said county collectors had asked him to veto the bill on the ground that it would make financial difficulties for all taxing bodies.

The governor also vetoed one of the Hunter future roads commission bills which would have authorized the state, counties and cities to adopt coordinated plans for highway development in any metropolitan area. The governor held the bill to be unnecessary as the three agencies can cooperate under the present law. Furthermore, the veto message said, the bill would bind the state to any contract unless the city and county agreed to a modification, regardless of the changes in traffic conditions.

The governor signed the following bills:

H.B. 913—Boyle—Appropriates $1,418,340 to adjutant general.
H.B. 914—Boyle—Appropriates $690,850 to state auditor for expenses of office and $31,963,347 for the retirement of principal and interest on bonds and anticipation notes.
H.B. 617—Peffers—Provides that county treasurers shall receive no compensation in condemnation suits to collect taxes.
H.B. 951—Boyle—Appropriates $958,281 to the department of registration and education.
H.B. 826—Davis—Amends law in regard to cost of tuberculin tests.
H.B. 900—Huschle—Authorizes cities and villages within a sanitary district to contract for use of sewers.
S.B. 716—Graham—Authorizes municipalities to apply for grants and make loans from the federal emergency administration.
S.B. 760—Graham—Authorizes West Chicago park commissioners to issue bonds for $1,300,000 without referendum to provide for payment of tax anticipation warrants.
S.B. 762—Graham—Authorizes West Chicago park commissioners to issue $12,450,000 on refunding bonds.
S.B. 215—Baker—Appropriates $2,802.18 to department of agriculture for aid of Winnebago and Ogle county fairs.

One May Be Shot

Melvin Thillens, 20 years old, the cashier, released a flood of tear gas yesterday and then exchanged shots with a gang of five bandits, routing them from the Prudential Realty Currency Exchange bank, 2345 Devon avenue. Thillens, who lives at 2126 Peterson avenue, told police that he believed that he had wounded one of the gunmen.

Arthur Rance, owner of the business, five customers, three women employés, and more than a dozen real estate salesmen were endangered by the buckshot that flattened against the lobby wall.

Thillens was alone in the cashier's cage when two of the bandits, armed with sawed-off shotguns, walked into the bank. Two other members of the gang stood guard at th edoor while the fifth remained at the wheel of a small sedan at the curb. One of the bandits shoved the barrel of his shotgun through the cage and ordered Thillens to "stick 'em up." The cashier dropped to the floor as the second gunman started to clamber over the partition into the cage.

Thillens pressed a button that released several tear gas shells at the top of the cashier's cage, and seizing a revolver, gave chase as the bandits, gasping for breath, started for the front door. Thillens, exchanged shots with the bandits as they fled to their automobile and rode away.

COURT FREES LOUIS ALTERIE.

A charge of disorderly conduct against Louis Alterie, gangster and Colorado ranch owner, was dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman. Police arrested him Monday in connection with their general roundup of hoodlums.

CLINIC TRACES MANY SKIN TROUBLES TO FAULTY SHAVING

MEN are awakening to the fact that faulty shaving can lead to serious skin troubles. A recent report issued by the Gillette Skin Clinic points to the results of a nationwide survey among physicians and dermatologists as further evidence that shaving can cause or aggravate skin disorders.

"This investigation," states the clinic, through its head, an eminent dermatologist, "confirms our findings that shaving irritation lessens the self-protective action of the normal skin and favors skin trouble. Irritation to the normal skin can be avoided by using a sharp blade after proper preparation of the face."

In face of these facts, authoritatively stated by an able dermatologist, you can understand why such extreme care is taken in the manufacture of "BLUE BLADES". By actual test, in competition with other blades, the "BLUE BLADE" proved from 23% to 42% sharper. This is but one of many advantages you get when you shave with the "BLUE BLADE".

REVEAL GIRL IN $50,000 ATTACK CASE IS DIVORCEE

Retells Testimony Against Ball Player.

Miss Lillian Eloise Mitchell of Winston-Salem, N. C., wept on the witness stand yesterday as she retold her story of how Harley Boss, first baseman of the Cleveland Indians, blackened her eye and attempted to rape her.

She was under cross-examination by Attorney William J. McGah, who is defending Boss in her suit for $50,000 before Circuit Judge Walter J. La Buy.

Miss Mitchell's story of the alleged attack differed little from that which she told Wednesday on direct examination by her attorney, Lloyd Faxon. It was brought out on cross-examination that she had been married and divorced.

She married Glen W. Gardner of Hartsville, S. C., in 1928, when she was 18 years old, she testified, left him the following Easter, and obtained a divorce in 1930. After that, she said, she lived in an apartment with five other girls in Winston-Salem, then went to New York, where she sold dresses for a time and took a course as a beauty operator.

When she went to Cleveland with Mrs. Marie Sweitzer, a friend of Boss, she was a member of a crew of girls selling magazines. She denied, however, that she represented to customers that she was trying to earn her way through college.

Walter McNichols, secretary of the Cleveland baseball club, testified that Boss had a good reputation for sobriety and that when he had been benched at times it had been because of hitting slumps.

MORRIS PRESENTS HIS CREDENTIALS TO BELGIAN KING

BRUSSELS, July 6.—(AP)—David H. Morris presented his credentials to King Albert today as new American ambassador to Belgium. Accompanied by embassy officials, Morris proceeded to the palace in a gala coach in advance of which was an escort of mounted gendarmes.

A guard of honor presented arms upon his arrival at the palace and bugles sounded a salute. Grand Marshal Count de Lannoy presented the ambassador and his suite to the king, who chatted ten minutes with his guests and then presented them to Queen Elizabeth.

Ambassador Morris returned to the embassy with the same ceremonial escort, accompanied by Gen. Duroy Debicquy.

WOMAN ASKS $100,000; ACCUSES G. M. DAHL, NEW YORK MAGNATE

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Gerhard M. Dahl, chairman of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit company, has been named defendant in a $100,000 suit for damages brought by Mrs. Marion Roach. This was revealed today in the Supreme court.

Mrs. Roach charges she suffered personal injuries when a guest at Mr. Dahl's home in Smithtown, L. I., and at an inn there on March 14, this year, she charges she was beaten and kicked by Dahl so she became for a time lame and ill.

Mr. Dahl denied all the charges.

The suit was revealed when Justice Schmuck reserved decision on the plaintiff's application to change her counsel. She asked that the court fix a reasonable sum for previous services, secured by a lien against what she might obtain from this suit.

Attorney Benjamin Shiverts asked 40 per cent of any such sum up to $2,000, 20 per cent of any above that. He said in an affidavit he had consulted Mr. Dahl's counsel, asking $10,000, but Mr. Dahl's counsel said, "We will pay nothing to you," later intimating possible settlement for $2,000

BOY SETS OFF A FIRECRACKER; 4 BANDITS FLEE

A firecracker set off by a small boy in a belated celebration of the Fourth of July last night frightened away four robbers who were holding up Mrs. Anna Wilczynski in her restaurant at 2101 Marmora avenue. Herbert Alemang, a foreman in the Majestic radio factory nearby fired several shots as they fled and broke the back window of their automobile.

Two other robberies and the theft of an automobile on the northwest side yesterday were charged to the same men, who are believed to be members of a gang which has robbed a number of Fair visitors and shot one man in the last fortnight.

William Mueller, 1252 Diversey parkway, reported he was held up by the gang at Whipple and Grace streets, and robbed of $50. The men then stole an automobile from William Schneider, grocer, at the same intersection, who ran out and fired a revolver at them as they fled.

BEQUEST TO U. C. APPROVED OVER PROTEST OF KIN

Left $479,000 in Will of Mrs. Gertrude Hicks.

The will of Mrs. Gertrude Dunn Hicks, leaving $479,000 to the University of Chicago, was admitted to probate yesterday over the objections of two disinherited second cousins. Mrs. Hicks, who was the widow of Oliver Hicks, a paper goods manufacturer, died last Jan. 16 in her apartment at the Hyde Park hotel, 1511 East 51st street. She was 80 years old.

The estate is valued at $500,000. The will makes specific bequests of $15,000 to Mrs. Alice Laing, wife of Dean Gordon J. Laing of the University of Chicago, and $6,000 to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Harbes of Los Angeles. The remainder of the estate is left to the university for the maintenance of the Gertrude Dunn Hicks Memorial building for the study of causes and cure of infantile paralysis.

Directions for Use of the Fund.

The university is directed to use the income from the fund for ten years and then take the principal. Mrs. Hicks had previously donated $360,000 for the construction of the building. The will says that no vines should ever be allowed to grow on the building.

Attorneys representing the second cousins, Clara Daily, 1532 East 88th street, Los Angeles, and Frances Story, 135 East Grantley avenue, Elmhurst, who are the nearest of kin, contested the admission of the will before Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell. The attorneys contended that Mrs. Hicks was mentally unsound when she executed the will.

Mr. Caplan overruled the objections, and an appeal from his order was taken to the Circuit court.

Nine Other Wills Filed.

Nine other wills were filed yesterday in the Probate court and were admitted to probate, as follows:

JUDGE ORDERS A SANITY TEST FOR HARRIMAN

Jury to Pass on Mental State of Banker.

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey decided today to let a jury pass on Joseph Harriman's mental fitness to stand trial for a crime. The taking of testimony on his mental condition will begin tomorrow.

The founder of the Harriman National bank, which did not reopen after the bank holiday, has been indicted for making 14 false entries totaling $1,713,225. His trial was scheduled to begin today.

When the banker's case was called his attorneys, instead of proceeding with the selection of a jury, petitioned the court to determine the question of sanity first. They had been unable to obtain any coherent or rational help from Harriman in the preparation of his defense, William J. Donovan, his attorney, said.

Doctors Aid Defense.

In support of his motion, Donovan presented the affidavits of Mrs. Augusta Harriman, the banker's wife; Frederick W. Scholz, an accountant, retained to assist in the defense, and four doctors, the burden of whose testimony was that the banker's mind had been impaired by his ailments and alcohol and drugs taken to relieve suffering. His memory, his sense of values and his judgment all had suffered, the doctors said.

Harriman was in court, but paid little attention to the argument over his sanity.

Medalie Urges Speedy Test.

His face was expressionless when George Z. Medalie, United States attorney, who will prosecute him, expressed the opinion that the defendant was not lacking in the mental capacity to coöperate with his attorneys, but "lacks the will to put his mind on the case." The suicide notes he left behind when he disappeared from Regent Nursing home, Mr. Medalie pointed out, were "reasonably coherent."

He was not opposing a test of Mr. Harriman's mental condition, Mr. Medalie asserted, but he urged "in the public interest" that it be done speedily. There was no reason, he said, why Judge Caffey could not determine the issue for himself at once.

BOY HIT BY AUTO OF COL. P. G. KEMP DIES IN HOSPITAL

Harry Baron, 8 years old, son of a farmer near Newville, Ind., died yesterday in Souder hospital at Auburn, Ind., of injuries incurred Wednesday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Col. Philip G. Kemp of Chicago, organizer of Universal Airways, Inc.

Col. Kemp suffered rib fractures when his car overturned in his effort to avoid striking the boy. The accident occurred near Newville as the boy was trundling a wagon load of vegetables on the highway. Col. Kemp tried to pass the boy, who turned in front of the car. As Col. Kemp headed for a ditch to avoid striking him the automobile turned over, crushing the boy.

Col. Kemp lives at 181 Lake Shore drive. He was chairman of the aero commission under Mayor Dever.

Mrs. Annie Pendell, 47 years old, and her son, Louis, 21 years old, of 6238 South Talman avenue, were instantly killed, and John Pendell, the husband and father, was probably fatally injured early today when the elder Pendell drove his automobile against a railroad abutment on Marquette road between South Park and Calumet avenues. Pendell had both legs broken, one of them being so badly shattered that it was believed at Washington Park hospital that it would have to be amputated.

These deaths raised the Cook county toll of automobile fatalities for 1933 to 505.

POLICE PURSUE PAIR IN STOLEN AUTO; KILL ONE

Paul A. Bloedorn, 40 years old, of Crystal Lake was shot to death yesterday in Elgin after wrecking a stolen car in which he and his brother-in-law, Harvey Werrbach of Elgin, had fled from an Elgin police squad. Police learned that the automobile had been stolen on June 15 from Mrs. Olga J. Steimman of Waterbury, Conn., while she visited A Century of Progress.

The three mile chase started when Sergt. Frank Egner and Policeman E. L. Ackman came upon Bloedorn and Werrbach early yesterday and ordered them to halt. The pair fled, with the squad car in pursuit, and the policemen showered the stolen car with bullets.

Bloedorn and Werrbach wrecked their car in a field just east of Elgin, leaped from the wreckage, and ran. Sergt. Egner overtook Bloedorn, who felled him with a blow on the head and ran on. The sergeant then shot and killed Bloedorn as the latter fled. Werrbach, who escaped, was captured later at his home.

YRIGOYEN RITES HELD AMID CRUSH OF HALF A MILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 6.—A milling mob of half a million persons—about the same number which acclaimed his downfall in 1930—witnessed the funeral procession and burial of former President Hipolite Yrigoyen today. The coffin was borne on the shoulders of a number of faithful adherents and the hearse which followed was snowed under an avalanche of flowers from balconies along the way.

More than 2,000 policemen guarded the procession of 100,000. The cortège included a large number of women, who bore torches. The crush at Recolete cemetery was so great that ten persons were injured and the coffin was jostled and fell to the ground. It was placed in the pantheon of prominent radicals who fell in the revolution of 1890.

Yrigoyen, who was president from 1916 to 1922 and 1928-30, died Monday night. He had been exiled twice after the Uriburu revolution of 1930. The family rejected the government's offer of partial military honors.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 6.—Four youths, Erwin Hildebrandt, Alfons Hoheisel, Willi Kreds and Erich Achtenhagen, were sentenced to death in Berlin today for having killed a guard during an attempt to steal the pay roll of a street car company.

"The deeds of the accused have grown out of the communistic morass of recent years and there is no doubt that the communistic views which they imbibed in their youth determined their actions," said Judge Schmidt before sentencing the four. "They have placed themselves outside human society and the community of German people rejects them as members. The best means against such diseased products of human society is their annihilation."

Sixteen persons found guilty of murder have been beheaded since April, 1932, and 11 more are now awaiting the death penalty.

OPAS DECIDES TO DIVORCE WIFE, HELD FOR PLOT

Marion Opas, owner of the Opas Motor Sales company at 5114 South Racine avenue, has decided to start divorce proceedings against his wife, Bessie, who is in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of conspiracy to murder him.

Attorney H. L. Steed yesterday informed Assistant State's Attorney John Leonard Murphy he has been retained to start the divorce suit and to seek an injunction to restrain Mrs. Opas from disposing of any property until the suit is ended.

Opas has wavered in court appearances of his wife between an expressed desire to prosecute her and the statement that he believed her innocent. The state intimated that the hesitancy of Opas to prosecute followed his discovery that Mrs. Opas, who acted as business manager for the motor sales concern, had banked the firm's proceeds in her own name.

Mrs. Opas is alleged to have agreed to pay four youthful co-conspirators $5,000 to dispose of her husband in order to obtain $15,000 in life insurance money. Opas halted the alleged plot by seizing one of the youths in the sales room. Trial of the criminal case was assigned yesterday to Judge James F. Fardy and the hearing set for Monday.

PERMIT OUTLAW UNION TO MEET; HEARING TODAY

A meeting of the outlawed Chicago Teamsters' union, local No. 726, was held at 637 South Ashland avenue last night without interference from the police, who have prohibited such gatherings since the organizations called a strike against the city in May.

Earlier in the day Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the superior court had listened to a plea of attorneys representing the union for an injunction restraining the police and the state's attorney's office from molesting such meetings. He ordered Assistant State's Attorney O. P. Lightfoot to prepare the aswer and will hold a full hearing today. However, the judge indicated he saw no reason why peaceful assemblies should be disturbed.

John Sheridan, secretary of the union, said no definite action was taken last night and that a later meeting would be held if Judge Sullivan granted the relief requested. The union attorneys, Joseph Harrington and Bernard McDonnell, were at the gathering.

Seven men, seized when the Asphalt Teamsters' union, another outlaw group, tried to hold a meeting at 30 North Wells street Saturday, were freed on charges of disorderly conduct by Municipal Judge McGarry yesterday.

U. S. GRAND JURY TO START BAIN INQUIRY TODAY

Prosecutors Hope for Mail Fraud Indictment.

Evidence will be presented to the federal grand jury today against John Bain, who was head of a chain of banks now defunct, his two sons, John and Robert A., and his son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher, all of whom the government hopes to indict on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. This was learned in an authoritative quarter at the United States court building yesterday.

That collapse of the 12 Bain banks has been under investigation by the postoffice inspectors for several months, and a report was made to Assistant United States Attorney Joseph A. Struett two weeks ago. Struett also received a transcript of the testimony in the state's conspiracy trial against the Bains, but he refused to comment on the grand jury action.

Face State Prison Terms.

The elder Bain is under sentence of one to five years in the penitentiary on his conviction in a state court of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the collapse of the banks on June 9, 1931, resulting in a loss of $13,000,000 to depositors. The two sons and Fisher were fined $1,000 each in the same case. The elder Bain, Fisher, and John H. Bain are also under sentence of one to three years each on charges of accepting deposits while knowing the banks to be insolvent, the trio having been found guilty on this charge by Judge James F. Fardy.

Edwin J. Raber, state prosecutor of the Bains, estimated that besides the $13,000,000 loss to deposits, the public's loss through the sale of Bain bank stocks, mortgages, and bonds approximated $30,000,000.

U. S. Looks Into Mortgage Deals.

It is understood that the federal government, in seeking to prove a mail fraud offense, will confine its evidence to transactions in real estate mortgages by which the Bains are alleged to have defrauded investors of several hundred thousand dollars.

It is charged that they advised holders of good first mortgages, both by letter and by word of mouth, that their securities were of questionable value, and induced them to exchange the mortgages for worthless paper in the huge mass of frozen Bain bank assets. In this respect the case, if an indictment is voted, will be similar to that of the H. O. Stone & Co., officials, three of whom were sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment.

Author Brings Lovers Back to Another Fair

'Once Again in Chicago' Has Stirring Reality.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Once Again in Chicago," by Minnie Hite Moody. [King.]

The first serious work of fiction, other than two mystery tales, to be inspired by A Century of Progress Exposition is "Once Again in Chicago," by Minnie Hite Moody. It tells the story of a middle aged woman and an older man who meet "once again in Chicago," memories of the World's Columbian Exposition bringing them, after forty years, to the exact spot upon which they had found youthful love.

MINNIE HITE MOODY.

Life during those forty years did with them as life usually does with individuals—shuffled them into a pattern which was much more inevitable than the future to which their own desires pointed. But in a final, ironic gesture Fate picked up the threads which were apparently snapped forever and wove them for a while into their dreamed of life pattern.

The plot of the novel sounds, just telling it like that, artificial. There are comparisons between the two Fairs, of 1893 and of 1933, which sound, as one reads them, a little like educational features, like statistics lifted from a guidebook. The reader has a slight suspicion that the book was written for this year's Fair-going audience. And yet, despite its obvious mechanical creaks—the long arm of coincidence needs a great deal of oiling to work so smoothly over forty years—"One Again in Chicago" has reality and a definite, simple, vigorous charm. The two main characters live in its not overdetailed pages. Forty years pass as they do pass eventually in every life, having molded but not fundamentally altered character. The hero, you know as well as Mattie did, after forty years, will do exactly as he did forty years before when he finds that the woman he loved has gone away.

Love glows through those years just as every one of us knows a romantic love can glow, a steady, gentle fire unfed by any fuel but memories, banked by more ardent relationships, sometimes almost extinguished by the pleasant drudgery of another devotion, but always alive . . . the one wholly romantic adventure of a lifetime. There probably isn't an adult human being who is at all sensitive who has not, stored safely in his heart, such a romantic memory. Never subjected to the realities of daily contact, they flourish, like an emotional orchid, on the air of romance. Mrs. Moody has managed to give exactly that quality to the romance in "Once Again in Chicago," and it is as a record of such an emotion rather than as a book about the two Expositions that the novel has reality.

In my opinion "Once Again in Chicago" is from a pen which it will behoove us to watch. Mrs. Moody has taken artificial material and she has made of it something simple and direct and appealing. She is especially successful in her insight into the mind of her heroine. Her heroine's thoughts flow through the pages with the sureness of a river seeking the sea, sure in its gentle moments as well as in its turbulent rush toward its goal.

Mrs. Moody is not a Chicagoan. She lives [now] in Atlanta, Ga., so that her book is not an expression of civic pride. It has been germinating, she said, ever since she was a little girl and heard neighbors and relatives talking about the wonderful Fair which they had seen in Chicago before she was born. That Fair became something living to her, and from time to time she planned on doing something with it in a novel. "Naturally," she said, "A Century of Progress made it inevitable."

If Mrs. Moody is not a Chicagoan Darling Simons, author of "The Vagabond Fiddler," IS, and to those of you who know that incomparable volume, "The Sweet Singer of Michigan," to call Mrs. Simons "The Sweet Singer of Chicago" tells all. "The Vagabond Fiddler" is one of those things that is called a "natural" in the theatrical world. It is so thoroughly and so patly naive that it is—to those who find unqualified joy in that sort of thing—a delight.

It is the story of a half Jewish, half Irish girl named Barbara Fritchie Reynolds, who after more sturm and more drang than any one human ever encountered, married and brought forth a genius who became the greatest violinist of his age. Her brothers and sisters—Abraham Lincoln, George Washington, William McKinley, Benjamin Franklin, Grover Cleveland, Thomas Jefferson, Betsy Ross, and Lafayetta Reynolds [named in the hope of their fulfilling high destines]—figure in the tale as eight more magnets for the cruel blasts of a fate that works nonunion hours.

Fate manages to pile up in eleven lives [Paul Revere Reynolds père and Rachel Solomon Reynolds mère completing the mystic number] so many more trials than Job had to endure that a good case of boils would have been a jolly holiday to the Reynolds family.

Invite Woodin to Write Song for Fair Use

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

The children's rendezvous at A Century of Progress, the Enchanted Island, wants a theme song. Yesterday the directors of the island set out to get it in a very highbrow manner.

By special delivery a letter was dispatched to Secretary of the Treasury Woodin . . . Will Woodin to his music loving public . . . asking him to compose a song that will become the official lyric of the enchanted isle. In addition the directors invited him to deliver it in person on Aug. 13 that they may proclaim "Woodin day" on the playground.

If and when Secretary Woodin's acceptance arrives, Mrs. Orville W. Thompson will be invited to sing the song for the first time on Aug. 13, accompanied by Mrs. Norman Capthorne of Winnetka. Mr. Woodin has long been a friend of the Thompsons, so in the event of a visit to the Fair he will probably be a guest at their Lake Shore drive apartment.

In addition to the presentation of the theme song Miss Josephine Blackstock, director of the island, hopes to dramatize at least one or two of the composer's songs on Woodin day.

At 11 o'clock this morning little Miss Patricia Downs, as Queen of the Enchanted Island, will take her place at the head of an "enchanted" parade that is to assemble in front of the Administration building within the World's Fair grounds.

Every Friday morning there is a Fair parade, but this is the first time the Enchanted Island has been invited to lead it.

Close behind the tiny golden headed queen there will be a victoria of a lost vintage filled with Junior Leaguers and their glass slipper. Mrs. James M. Carry will be one of them. Miss Jeanne Street, Miss Evelyn Bouscaren, Miss Alice Jaques, Miss Mary Senior, and Mrs. Eric Lambart others. They are all members of the cast of "Cinderella" now in production in the children's theater on the island.

The busiest man in Chicago July 14 will be the French consul general, Rene Weiller. Bastille day is to be celebrated with festivity in a half dozen places throughout A Century of Progress grounds.

The French-Moroccan dinner for 200 in the cool white banquet hall of the Moroccan village is to be one of the celebrations. A Streets of Paris party, a reception for French visitors in the Illinois Host building, and an Enchanted Island Mardi-Gras others.

Three hundreds boys and girls . . . the first three hundred that register . . . will compete in the Mardi Gras for prizes for the most beautiful costume, the oldest native costume, and the most original costume. Another award will be made for the most original mask.

Consul General Weiller is to be one of the judges. Miss Alicia Pratt of Winnetka and Mrs. Marco Androgna, president of the Renaissance, the others.

After the judging the program will carry on with dances by groups of children from five of the city's settlements, Hull house, Emerson house, the Chicago Commons, Howell Neighborhood house, and Laird house. This next week it is the chore of a group of debutantes and young matrons to help train these children for their dances.

Howard Ellis and Richard Henry Little and other expert chess players in town will triple their visits to A Century of Progress the next fortnight. The world's championship chess matches are to be held with out of door al-fresco games in the court of the Hall of Science as a stellar attraction. There is to be a great and colorful setting designed by Isaac Van Grove in the court and a program of special music [special for chess].

Close by the game rooms there will also be a museum fitted up with famous chess sets from all the world. And to this, we hear, several Chicagoans are contributing. Dr. Burton Haseltine will be host to the distinguished chess visitors.

Mrs. Joseph Medill Patterson was the hostess yesterday at another Century of Progress luncheon in the basement restaurant of the Art institute. And again it was proved that simplicity, both in menu and table setting, is a successful keynote for a noonday meal. A guest at Mrs. Patterson's luncheon was John S. Curry, the western artist who is known especially for his "Kansas Baptism."

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Here began a new summer symphonic series, one which on the strength of its inaugural showing ought to have a long and prosperous career. If the name of the organization is not entirely new, at least it has been revived to apply to a group greatly worthy of interest and liking.

The series, said the program, is extended to A Century of Progress, and is under the auspices of Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and the Chicago Friends of Music. To add to its merits, it is being given for the benefit of the Poor Children's Vacation fund and the Zionist cause.

Mr. Czerwonky has developed his players into a seemly, well disciplined and energetic orchestra, one that not only follows the beat of its conductor but goes forward with him in the task of lively interpretation, controlled by him but resourceful and expressive on its own behalf. This is the mark of good ensemble playing.

The principal work in point of size was the "New World" symphony, which was played in stirring fashion, but the featured composition was Miss Britain's work on the Lindbergh flight, which was new here. She is a talented composer with a gift for melody and the further gift of being able to develop it in so interesting a manner that one's attention was easily diverted from the thought of a flight across the ocean to the music for its own sake. At its conclusion the composer was called to the stage and applauded with high enthusiasm.

Miss Kellogg's solo appearances were likewise greeted with well deserved warmth. One feels like extending her some special congratulations for presenting herself in so attractive a work as the Godard aria, an uncommonly tuneful and persuasive work, as well as the "Louise" aria which followed. She has a voice of much charm, of fine quality and wide range, and she uses it in the manner of an artist.

The Chicago Musical college recital of yesterday morning was presented by Mary Ann Kaufman Brown at the Punch and Judy theater. She is a singer of much merit, excelling in quality of voice, style, and the art of projecting texts. Three groups of songs, German, French, and English, were on her program, and while she is an excellent singer in any language, it would seem that the English group was to some extent the best.

Smelling Salts Regain Place with Moderns

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Lots of old-fashioned favorites have been revived, with a good, strong and smart 1933 influence, along with the ruffled frocks and huge flattering hats. The newest welcome is going to pocket size bottles filled with the very last thing a self-sufficient gal would ever think to ask for . . . smelling salts!

Evidently these strenuous days have either caused the best of us to revert to helpful restoratives that granny always lugged along for crucial moments or we are merely using them as atmosphere, but, believe it or not, the sales for smelling salts in small and large sized bottles have been almost unbelievable.

You can buy them in stunning cut glass bottles as decorative extras for your dressing table or as spots of lively color for the bedside table . . . they come packed in various colored liquids, such as cool leaf green, sapphire blue, topaz and lavender, as well as the untinted.

Fat, compact, consoling looking bottles are small enough to pack in your handbag and you'll be thoroughly sold on the idea after you have sniffed the refreshing fragrance once or twice during some of our hot summer days among the shopping and hustling crowd around the Fair.

Something else that has been reduced to carrying size is the eyebrow mascara equipment that used to stay at home. These very narrow slim packets consist of a tiny brush and a sliding tray of the mascara, both carefully protected by a metal shell.

Continue Display.

At the request of garden enthusiasts throughout the state the exhibit now being sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs at the Horticultural building at A Century of Progress is to be continued through July 14. More than 50 clubs have contributed to the display.

Good Morning!

Again the "forgotten man" is remembered in a movie.

"Heroes for Sale" deals principally with the trials and tribulations of Ex-Service Man Tom Holmes during the years immediately following the world war. Honors and distinguished service medals which belong to him by right have been appropriated by a youth of his own home town, who has believed Holmes dead.

Splinters of shrapnel remain in Tom's spine, causing him hours of exquisite torture. Realizing his suffering, the pitying surgeon of the German prison camp where the soldier was interred before his exchange had given him a box of pills to take when the pain becomes unbearable. Holmes acquires the dope habit and is sent to the narcotic farm of his state by the bank president for whom he has been working and who is also father of the man who's stolen the sufferer's thunder. . . .

Complete recovery . . . success in business and marriage . . . holocaust . . . penitentiary. Tramp, tramp, tramp, etc.

Richard Barthelmess gives a sincere and, at times, very touching portrayal of Holmes. Loretta Young is earnest, vivid—and tragic!—as the pretty laundry worker he weds and loses in heartbreaking fashion. Aline MacMahon is superfine in a rôle that hasn't much meat on it, and other parts are satisfactorily handled.

The story lacks originality and force and sprawls quite a bit. Direction is able but unremarkable. Photography's okay. Dialogue doesn't get anywhere.

Remarkable Photographic Work Attracts Attention Abroad; Accepted for Noted Show.

BY JUDITH CASS.

It will be good news to the young Clarence B. Mitchells' many friends and relatives here to learn that it is definitely decided that he will have an exhibition of his pictures here early next fall after they return from abroad. This talented young man, the youngest son of the late John J. Mitchells, is doing such remarkable photographic work abroad that he has been awarded several honors, among them the acceptance of several of his pictures by the Royal Photographic Society of England for its annual summer exhibition.

This society is recognized as having the highest standard of any photographic society in the world, and to have even one picture accepted by it is a mark of great distinction. We understand that when Mr. Mitchell presented his pictures to the judges they were inclined to be a bit skeptical that he had done such excellent work himself, because of the fact that he has been doing this sort of work less than a year. Mr. Mitchell had an exhibition in Paris on March 27 that elicited nothing but praise from all who saw it. Recently he has made a series of pictures, interiors and exteriors, of Boveney court, one of the loveliest old country houses in England, which are to be used by the Hon. Mrs. Rodney to illustrate a story she is writing about a typical Elizabethan English country house.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell—she is the former Marjorie King, daughter of the Charles Garfield Kings and sister of Mrs. William H. Mitchell [the eldest of the three sons of the late John J. Mitchells]—and their two little daughters are occupying a very old and charming house on the Thames at Windsor this summer, enjoying all the delights of English country life. Last winter they spent in France, but they plan to return home late next month. Their house at Santa Barbara is being occupied this summer by Mr. Mitchell's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Payne Kellogg, and their youngsters.

Mr. and Mrs. King and their son, Garfield, are summering us usual in their Santa Barbara residence, and they do not plan to return to Chicago until late in September.

Miss Melita Uihlein Engagement Told.

An announcement of great interest to Chicago society, made in Milwaukee, is that of the engagement of Miss Melita Uihlein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Uihlein of that city, to Ludington Patton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludington Patton, also of Milwaukee. Miss Uihlein, known affectionately as Mitzi, has visited in Chicago often, and both she and young Mr. Patton have many friends and acquaintances among the smart younger set here.

The engagement was announced at a dinner given by the Uihleins in their beautiful home on North Lake drive in the Wisconsin city, at which three Chicagoans were present. Miss Paula Uihlein and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Uihlein Elser. Miss Melita Uihlein attended the Milwaukee-Downer seminary and Miss Wright's school, and spent most of last year traveling. She has been prominent in the Junior league and Service club of Milwaukee since she made her debut about a year and a half ago.

Mr. Patton Jr. went to Exeter and then the University of Virginia. No date for the wedding has been set.

An engagement of interest to many Chicagoans announced yesterday in Cincinnati is that of Miss Marion Windisch, daughter of Mrs. William A. Windisch, to Alden Bentley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederic William Bentley of Chicago.

The announcement climaxes a brief and exciting romance, for it was only a short month ago that Miss Windisch and Mr. Bentley were introduced while she was visiting friends here.

Miss Windisch is a graduate of Smith and a sculptress of no little note, her work having been exhibited both in Cincinnati and New York. Mr. Bentley's father was attorney for the Santa Fé railroad in the days when that road was blazing a trail to the Pacific coast. His brother, Paul Cody Bentley, was the first American to lose his life in action during the world war having volunteered in the Harvard ambulance unit of the American field service.

Today Mr. Bentley, who has been in Cincinnati for the announcement, is motoring back here with Miss Windisch, who is to be the guest this week-end of Lake Forest friends.

Although no date has been set for the wedding, it will probably take place in September. After a short

WOMEN AT FAIR FIND FASCINATION IN FOOD EXHIBITS

Marvel at Preparation of Modern Products.

The Agricultural and Foods building on Northerly island is a mecca for souvenir hunters, samplers and housewives who remember that their place, when they get back home from the World's Fair, will be in the kitchen, at least partially.

Except for one section at the southern end of the building devoted to agriculture displays by the University of Illinois, and the extreme north end of the building, Farm Machinery hall, the building is given over to exhibits of commercial foods or related products.

In Farm Machinery hall a crowd was seen before the "mechanical cow," which, according to a guide, "does everything a human cow can do, chews her cud, moves her ears, breathes, switches her tail, moves her eyes." A single-unit milker is attached to the animal, and a substance convincingly resembling milk streams into a glass milk pail.

Finds Cow Is Just a Cow.

One of the women in the crowd, however, apparently was not city bred She gave the mechanical cow one glance of indifference, said, "She don't do anything my cow don't do," and departed.

In the foods section a series of kitchens attracts many women. The interiors and back porches of seven colorful kitchens of other generations are reproduced to the last detail, some of the utensils in use apparently being antiques of value.

The ancient Spanish kitchen, with tile and copper kettles and strings of red peppers hanging from the beamed ceiling, and the French provincial crude but inviting, are shown. The sparkling Dutch kitchen with its blue and white motif and the Acadian, English, early New England, and American 1869 kitchens tell the story of home life in various ages.

The eighth and last kitchen is a modern American kitchen, as aseptic as a hospital operating room. The warmth and homely familiarity of the other kitchens is replaced by a glorified efficiency. On shelves are the canned products of the company which financed and created the series of kitchens.

Kitchen Makes Her Homesick.

"Makes me sort of homesick for my old wood stove and hand pump," one woman was heard to say to her husband as they stared at the "American 1869 period" kitchen.

Several exhibits of home canned foods sponsored by glass jar companies or companies manufacturing tin cans for home canning were crowded. Pickled peaches and pears in green, cauliflower in pink and green, shrimps, onions, asparagus, sliced oranges, fruit salad and other products of women throughout the country who entered contests sponsored by the companies were in evidence.

A bottled drink is bottled without the touch of human hand in one exhibit. Quick-frozen perishable foods, including all sorts of green vegetables, are shown in the small paper cartons in which they come. A salt company showed how salt is taken from a trine well, put in tanks, washed, dehydrated, dried and refined by means of minature mine and working plant model. A cross-section of a sugar refinery is shown in diorama and miniature, taking the sugar from boat, through factory, to waiting trucks and freight cars.

Salmon and Peach Dioramas.

Another company shows a series of dioramas depicting a salmon cannery in Alaska, a peach orchard and cannery in California, the harvesting of olives in Spain and a pineapple plantation in Hawaii.

Diorama of ovens of the Middle Ages, processes of milling and baking in Pompeii and the bake day of our grandmothers are displayed by a yeast company, while a company manufacturing a breakfast cereal shows all the processes of steaming, dusting, rolling and packing oats. Nearby a Negro "mammy" with plucked eyebrows visible under her red bandana makes pancakes for 10 cents a stack.

One of the most elaborate and interesting exhibits in the building is that of the live stock and meat industry, beginning with a large romantic diorama of a cattle rancher in old overalls on his pony, low hills in the distance and continuing through refrigerator car, truck and freight distribution, and smartly modern butcher shop.

STUFFED CARROTS

2 hard boiled eggs.
1 small can mushrooms.
2 tablespoons butter.
Salt.

Wash thoroughly and boil carrots until tender. Let cool and scoop out the centers. Chop hard boiled eggs and mushrooms very fine. Mix with the butter and add salt to taste. Fill centers of carrots with this mixture and place on a baking sheet and put in a hot oven [450 degrees F.] long enough to brown slightly. If you have never liked carrots before you will now. These look pretty around a large steak.

Cook Book French Needed by Brides Who Face Stoves

BY DOROTHY MASTERS.

There comes a time as June fades into the past when the young brides must fold away their trousseaux and don aprons, settling down to the business of home making. To many this is a mysterious and unknown occupation, and to some a kitchen in the past has been just a place for a refrigerator and a stove.

To these young initiates, buried in recipes, or weeping over burned roasts and stubborn cakes, the outlook is anything but cheerful. Not that they lack cook books, for goodness knows there are enough of them to fill a large library, but understanding them is another thing. Any novice, looking through a modern recipe book, feels more than ever at sea when she finds all kinds of terms she doesn't know, such as "marinate," "fatigue," or "fricasse" on every page.

French for the Kitchen.

If she's studied French she'll find the translating a little easier, for many of the phrases used in cooking have been borrowed from there. Petits fours, for instance, are small fancy cakes; hors d'œuvres, appetizers; chaud froid, a jellied sauce; au jus, served with natural juice or gravy; entrement, the sweet course; croutons, thin slices of bread, shaped and fried as a garnish; lyonnaise, a sauté dish seasoned with onions and parsley.

There are, too, the à la's, signifying after the manner of, or in the style of, chief of which is the à la king, usually designating a dish with white sauce, chopped mushrooms, and hard boiled eggs and pimientoes. But there are likely to be fifty or so in every cook book—à la Lindstrom, à la husband, à la Newburgh, à la Voltaire, all such phrases meaning that the recipe is the favorite of some epicure, or had its origin in some particular locality. A la creole, for instance, means in the manner of Louisiana cookery, ordinarily referring to any dish prepared with onions and tomatoes.

For Fluffy Foods.

Soufflé and fondue also are French words, and are used for milk and egg dishes of a fluffy nature. Fondue differs from the soufflé in that bread crumbs are added before the baking to insure a prolonged lightness.

Other terms, not strictly French, have been incorporated in the recipes from usage. Fatigue, for example, may mean tiredness to the general public, but to the cook, it means to blend with great pains the dressing and the salad ingredients. Mask also has come to mean to cover completely with dressing or rich sauce.

Marinate, which is often seen in the recipe literature, means to let stand in a mixture of oil, vinegar, lemon juice, or sour cream for seasoning and making tender. Fricassee, another favorite, means to cut in pieces and cook with white sauce, mushrooms, or truffles.

But it takes more than knowledge of terms to make a good cook, although such education will stand in good stead, and it takes more than a few weeks practice. All good cooks have had their skeletons of watery custards and concrete biscuits. There may be a trail of errors, one rule of procedure for the up and coming young housewife should be, "Never make the same mistake twice!"

PRETZEL BENDING TOO NOISY? ISSUE IS UP TO POLICE

A pretzel detail of Chicago police was established yesterday by Judge Leon Edelman to determine whether the pretzel making machine of Homer B. Moyer at 2104 Orchard street is violating the city noise ordinance. This section of the city code rules that no noise making machine may disturb the rest of the city dwellers between 10 p. m. and 4 a. m.

Two schools of thought in the matter developed yesterday in the Town Hall court. Seven witnesses, headed by Mrs. Rose Pierce, 2114 Orchard street, and Fred Hoffman, 2108 Orchard street, held that the pretzel making starts each day at 1 a. m. A second delegation of seven witnesses, led by Mrs. Charlotte Nozor, 702 Garfield avenue; Otto Frisch, 2120 Orchard street, and C. J. Donaldson, 2105 Orchard street, testified in behalf of Moyer that they had never heard a rattle out of the pretzel bending machine until after 4 a. m.

COTTAGE CHEESE IS BASE OF MANY TEMPTING DISHES

Here Are Pleasing Recipes for Midsummer.

Cottage cheese dishes prove a "kitchen queen's" inspiration for many table treats. Some of the most recent suggestions which fit midsummer demands include the following:

Cottage cheese timbale: A main dish which may be made from this home made cheese. Beat one egg, and add to it one cup of milk, one-half teaspoon of salt, one-half cup of minced green pepper, one-half cup of cottage cheese, and paprika. Pour the mixture into greased molds. Set the molds in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven, 300 to 325 degrees Fahrenheit, or until they are firm.

Ingredients of Many Salads.

Cottage cheese for salads may be used to stuff tomatoes, canned pears, peaches, pineapple, prunes, or celery stalks. Or it may be combined with salad dressing and nuts, parsley, peppers, or jelly, and formed into a small loaf which may be sliced and served on lettuce. Cottage cheese balls may be rolled in grated Cheddar cheese and served on lettuce with dressing.

Cottage cheese may be served as a dessert with cream and honey.

Cottage Cheese Pie.

Cottage cheese pie, another unusual dessert, is made by mixing one cup of cottage cheese, one-half cup of sugar, two-thirds cup of milk, the yolks of two eggs, beaten, two tablespoons of melted butter, salt, and one-half teaspoon of vanilla, in the order given. Pour the mixture into a well baked crust and cook in a slow oven, about 325 degrees Fahrenheit, until it is firm. Cover with a meringue made from the two egg whites and four tablespoons of sugar, and bake at the same temperature until the meringue is brown.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Apples, peaches, pears, and cherries may all be preserved successfully by drying in the oven.

Eat vegetables raw to get all their vitamins.

SAVORY CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP.

2 cups milk.
¼ cup butter, melted.
¼ cup flour.
½ tsp. salt.
Dash of nutmeg.
1 tsp. minced onion.
1 bay leaf.

Add the seasonings to the tomatoes and simmer 10 minutes. Press through a strainer. Blend the flour and fat and mix with a little of the warm tomato juice, stirring to avoid lumps. Stir the mixture slowly into the rest of the tomato juice and simmer until thickened. Add slowly to the cold milk, stirring constantly, and heat to the boiling point. Serve at once with crisp croutons.

STUFFED BAKED APPLES

3 tablespoons mincemeat.
1 tablespoon butter.
6 apples.
1 cup cooked rice.
1 cup water.

Pare and core apples. Mix water and sugar and pour over apples placed in top of double boiler. Let steam until tender. Remove and put in baking dish. Fill center with mincemeat, butter and rice mixture. Pour over this the sirup that is in double boiler from steaming the apples. Let bake in oven at 350 degrees F. for 15 minutes. These may be used for garnish for meat or served cold with whipped cream as dessert.

CHEESE PUFF

4 slices stale bread.
2 heaping tablespoons butter.
1 cup American cheese, grated.
3 eggs.
1 pint of milk.
Salt and pepper.

Into a well buttered casserole place two slices of bread which have been buttered and cut in two, making four pieces. Sprinkle lightly with seasoning. Add half the cheese. Repeat in order with the remaining slices of bread. Beat eggs well and add them to the milk. Mix thoroughly and pour over the bread. Make little openings through the bread with a fork in order that the milk and eggs may penetrate. Bake in moderately hot oven one-half hour. The bread will puff up almost out of the dish, but it settles when taken from the oven. Serve warm.

3,342 GARDENS TILLED BY FOLK ON RELIEF ROLLS

Warner Baird, chairman of the garden commission of the Cook county bureau of public welfare, announced yesterday that people on the relief rolls are cultivating 3,342 gardens this year, as compared to 757 in 1932.

The increase, Mr. Baird said, is due to the larger acreage made available this year by the forest preseve board. The forest preserve district set aside 500 acres in seven fields for cultivation by people receiving relief. Each plot is approximately one-seventh of an acre.

In 1932, only 200 acres were available, and each plot was one-sixth of an acre. There were 4,750 applications by people on the relief rolls to cultivate the gardens this year. All the acreage is in use, and the 1,408 people who could not be accomodated are being taken care of as vacancies occur, Mr. Baird said.

Galesburg, Ill., July 6.—[Special.]—A crop of corn which was planted June 5, on a farm owned by Dr. J. D. Cabeen, is today as high as the shoulders of an average sized man. Just 25 days' time lapsed from the time it was planted until it was too tall for cultivating.

DRIZZLED RICE A TASTY DISH FOR HOT DAYS

An appetizing hot weather food with a recipe easily converted for winter use into a dish served hot, is called drizzled rice dessert made with cooked rice, honey, and bananas.

Use properly cooked rice that has been cooled. Make layer of rice not thicker than ½ inch. Drizzle warm honey over rice layer [about three tablespoonfuls honey to layer of rice, assuming layer is not greater than cup of rice would cover]. Cover with sliced bananas and drizzle honey over these; repeat with layer of rice, drizzling of honey, layer of bananas, and drizzling of honey. Chill at least one hour and serve with honeyed whipped cream. This dish may also be baked and served hot with honey fruit sauce or hard sauce.

PRICE OF BUTTER DUE TO RISE AS BREAD GOES UP

Cost of Vegetables and Fruits Is Lower.

BY PAUL POTTER.

With the price of bread being advanced next Monday, grocers said yesterday that the cost of butter also is due for a rise.

Butter production in normal seasons is at its peak in June when dairy cows are on pastures and the cream is churned into highly flavored butter rich in vitamins by the carloads. This butter, now in the grocery store coolers, is produced at far greater rate than it can be consumed, and is stored in gigantic cold storage warehouses in Chicago and other terminal cities for consumption in the fall and winter.

Drought Cuts June Production.

But with the scorching of pastures during June the production of cows was reduced and the supplies are therefore lighter, which in turn has served to raise retail butter prices 16 per cent in the last five weeks. Prospects of added increases of a cent or two per pound are considered likely by grocers.

On the other hand, new stocks of fresh fruits and vegetables in season are being offered at lower prices than in former years, and of better quality than usual. Fresh carrots, beets, and kohlrabi have been added to the Chicago supplies from nearby gardens, while raspberries and pie cherries in the height of the season are attractively priced.

Watermelons and cantaloupes are plentiful and lower in price than a week ago. Oranges have declined somewhat in price from two weeks ago, the smaller sized ones being more economical than the large ones for juice.

Bananas and Eggs Rise.

Bananas and eggs have increased slightly in price, the former due to curtailed shipments by the large banana interests who import the green bunches and hold them in storage until ready for consumption. The green bunches are then ripened artificially under cotnrolled temperatures and by the use of harmless gases.

Breakfast cereals continue low in price, since they are not affected by the government's processing tax on wheat so greatly as is flour. Recent increases in wholesale grain prices, however, forecast changes in cereal prices in retail stores soon.

Potatoes have joined in the upturn of food prices this month. Stocks of old potatoes are virtually exhausted and the new potatoes are commanding prices that are 10 to 25 per cent above Chicago potato prices in May.

Housewives have found little change in their budgets traceable to the sales tax placed in effect last Saturday. Many stores included the tax in the prices of certain items.

W. PARK BOARD DEFEATS SUIT TO STOP GOLF LEASE

Circuit Judge William V. Brothers yesterday dismissed the bill for an injunction to restrain the west park board from leasing the Columbus and Garfield park golf courses to a private concern, the Chicago Landscape company.

The petition was dismissed upon a demurrer filed by attorneys for the board, which Judge Brothers sustained. He held with the park attorneys that Irving McCarthy, plaintiff in the suit, had shown no personal injury or damage through the leasing of the courses.

Judge Brothers construed the landscape company's contract with the park board to mean that in addition to paying the park board $5,000 rent, the company shall bear the expense of maintaining and operating the courses. It collects the fees, the same which were charged in previous years when the board operated the courses. Last year the board operated the courses at a large loss.

Records Show Eggs Cost 13½c Dozen to Produce

A group of Illinois poultrymen kept records in 1932 on the cost of eggs and found that their average cost per dozen was 13½ cents. The annual production of 137,000,000 dozens in Illinois cost the farmers $18,000,000 on this basis. Some of the flock owners reported efficient methods resulted in costs as low as six or seven cents a dozen.

CERTAIN SAUCES BEST FLATTER CERTAIN MEATS

Enhance Rather than Hide Original Flavors.

BY MARY MEADE.

Next time you wave a spoon over a saucepan and breathlessly conjure up a strange new sauce for glorifying some meat or other—pause to reflect that you're repeating an age-old rite with a fascinating history.

Just take a look. Centuries of sauces—and what sauces! They started out all right, probably not long after our early ancestors discovered that meat cooked was better than meat raw. They did what all well behaved sauces should—flattered but did not hide the flavor of the meat they dressed. Then along came the ancient Romans who became such sauce enthusiasts that they soon started making over the meat and fish to suit the sauce! Pork tasted like partridge, goose like fish, and tunny like veal! Then the French took the cue and went into perfect orgies of sauces. One famous chef claimed to have prepared a delectable ragout—from a leathern glove! "But the sauce! That is my secret, my work of art, my glory," declared this juggler of flavors.

But today we have an artist's touch with sauces. And since many trials have announced some sauces as special favorites of some meats, let's jot them down for a quick reminder:

SAUCES SERVED WITH MEAT.

HORSERADISH SAUCE

1 teaspoon mustard.
1 tablespoon vinegar.
3 tablespoons cream.
Salt and pepper to taste.
4 tablespoons grated horseradish.

Combine the ingredients and beat thoroughly. The sauce should be the consistency of thick cream. This is a sparkling flavor complement to almost any type of meat, but it particularly enjoys stepping out with cold or hot cuts of beef and heart.

APRICOT SAUCE

2 cups stewed apricots with juice.
2-3 cup sugar.

Press all but a few stewed apricot halves through a sieve, reserving these few for garnish. Add the sugar and juice and simmer till hot and medium thick. Serve with either hot or cold meats; pork is especially fond of this sauce. And, lest we forget, have you ever basted meat with a tart-sweet sauce? By basting with apricot sauce during roasting, a most tantalizing flavor is added.

CURRANT JELLY SAUCE

¼ cup brown sugar.
2-3 cup butter.
2 level tablespoons flour.
1 tablespoon minced onion.
2 tablespoons minced celery.
½ teaspoon each allspice and nutmeg.
Salt and pepper to taste.

Brown the flour, add the butter, and then the other ingredients. Simmer together till the celery and onion are tender and all flavors blend perfectly. Practically any meat will thank you for saucing it with the above. Mutton, lamb, baked ham and heart are particular addicts.

PARSLEY SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup meat broth or milk.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Juice of ½ lemon.
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Melt the butter, add the flour, and then gradually stir in the liquid. When smooth, cook until thick and creamy. Season and add the lemon juice and parsley. Use this sauce to dress up left-over meats. Beef or heart—any meat for that matter—sliced into parsley sauce and heated makes excellent eating.

PURE MILK GROUP OFFERS VICTIMS OF STORM CREDIT

Credit is to be extended by the Pure Milk association, bargaining agency for 18,000 dairymen supplying milk for Chicago and suburbs, to members needing aid in recovering losses caused by the storm which wiped out buildings and crops on nearly 1,500 farms in the Chicago region early last Sunday.

Announcement of the credit arrangements was made last night by L. D. Oranger, market manager of the association. He declared that D. N. Geyer, secretary of the farm organization, had failed to obtain aid from the federal farm credit administration in Washington yesterday, following which authorization for the association to extend the credit had been given by Geyer.

Farmers in Kane, Du Page, Boone, McHenry, Lake, and Cook counties in Illinois, and in Lake and Porter counties in Indiana will be aided in buying seed to plant corn for silage and soybeans for hay and temporary pastures.

The Cook county board in a resolution yesterday urged the American Red Cross to aid 400 of the farmer storm victims. The board was told the need is greatest in Hanover and Schaumberg townships.

ORPHAN BOY IS ADOPTED BY WEALTHY COUPLE

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Peter Christopolis, 13, was holding his breath as the train sped him east from an Omaha, Neb., orphanage today to become the "son" of a wealthy silk dyer and his wife in Paterson, N. J.

He cannot shake the superstition out of his head and heart that somehow the unlucky number of his years will tumble him out of his dream of happiness into cold reality. And he craves a father and mother "like the other kids."

"It seems like a dream," he explained in Omaha as he packed his modest supply of clothing and treasures, "and I'm afraid I'll wake up."

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Strengs are awaiting the big moment of Peter's arrival just as fearfully and with equal impatience in their home in Paterson.

The new parenthood means just as much to them as it does to Peter, for he is to take the place of another son, Henry, whom they lost a little more than a year ago when he was drowned.

Canal to Pay $1,111,800 on Defaulted Bond Principal

The sanitary district will pay $1,111,800 on the defaulted principal of its bonds early next week, it was announced yesterday by Trustee Ross A. Woodhull, finance chairman. This is the first payment the district has made on defaulted bond principal, although it has cleared up some of its defaulted interest payments. The bonds involved were defaulted in January and July last year.

URGE REVERSAL OF REVOCATION OF DOCK LEASES

A joint subcommittee of the city council committees on finance and rivers, harbors, and bridges, headed by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], recommended to the council yesterday that it rescind its recent action in revoking all the leases of docks in the Chicago river.

The revocation was voted because some members of the council felt that the city was not getting enough revenue from the leases. The subcommittee recommended that dockage space be charged for hereafter at the rate of $3 per foot per season. The old rate was $2 a foot. A rate of 10 cents per day per foot for transient users of city docking space was also fixed.

The subcommittee continued the leases of two of the twenty users of city dock space, the Chriscraft corporation and Gordon Jones, who operate speedboats from spaces west of the Michigan avenue bridge. Two other leases were approved, those of the Chicago Sightseeing company and L. D. Strong, operators of launches, for 150 feet east of the bridges on the south side of the river.

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

"Swell" Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough, who is unknowingly being used as decoy. Maitland plots to trick Rhoda out of a fortune left her by an uncle who died in Rome. Garrick exposes to Rhoda, before Maitland and his gang, their crooked card tricks. Garrick is overpowered by Schewan, Maitland's chief, but manages to defeat Schewan's purpose of burning him alive in his car. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. Garrick knows she has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt he determines to settle the matter in his own way. He kidnaps Maitland and holds him captive until he learns where Rhoda is being held. Garrick learns from his solicitor that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda and hides her in the warehouse where he had held Maitland. The gang learns the location of the warehouse from the renting agent. When Garrick returns he finds Maitland and his gang with a constable. He manages to slip his gun to Rhoda and by simulating insanity Rhoda holds them all at bay and escapes. She joins Garrick later on a motor boat on the Thames. At night they burgle their way into a private boathouse. A farm hand out of work finds their hideout. Garrick puts him up for the night.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

A BIT OF LUCK.

Rhoda fried bacon and eggs and the three of them took breakfast.

Garrick had not prompted Rhoda, but she was doing just what he wanted her to do—chatting pleasantly to the tramp.

When they had finished Alf collected the plates.

"Washing up's one of my strong points, miss," he explained to Rhoda. "Done it often enough for the missus, and she's most partic'lar."

While Alf was thus engaged Garrick worked the doors of the boathouse and drove the boat out into the stream. In daylight a motorboat on that part of the river, although it was out of the season, would attract no particular attention.

He anchored a hundred yards above, then went into the steward's cabin. Surprisingly enough, it was Alf himself who opened the conversation.

"You'll excuse me saying it, sir, but that young lady is no more a lunatic than I am."

"You're quite right, Alf! She has been the victim of a conspiracy—but you needn't believe that if you don't want to. Now, what about this thousand pounds reward?"

"Look at it from my point of view, Mr. Garrick! When am I going to get another job? What's the missus going to do to look after the nippers?"

"Suppose I were to give you the thousand to keep your mouth shut?"

"There, now!" exclaimed Alf. "After you give me that supper I was laying awake most of the night wondering whether we could work it somehow like that."

Garrick, not knowing where his adventure with Rhoda might lead him, had drawn a large sum of money from the bank. He took out a note for a thousand pounds and another one for five hundred. He put them together, folded them, then cut them through the middle.

He did this slowly and deliberately, thinking the while. He badly needed an assistant—he would not allow Richards to imperil himself. But this man was different. Fate had made him an opportunist. The little man was curiously honest about it, but, all the same, he was out for money.

"I wish to keep Miss Fairclough away from the police for roughly four weeks," he announced. "If you will keep quiet for four weeks—if for four weeks you will work for me, on this boat or elsewhere, as my personal servant and do your utmost to help me—you will do better for yourself than by collecting Maitland's thousand—which, after all, you might not get, as he is a crook. Here—is half of a thousand pound note—here is half of a five hundred pound note. You can't cash your half and I can't cash my half. They're useless until the halves come together. At the end of the month I'll give you the other two halves. Is it good enough, Alf?"

"Good enough, sir! And, thank you!" said Alf. But he picked up only the thousand pound note. "I don't want the other, sir—don't want to make a blackmailing job of it—but if you'd like to put in anything as a makeweight—I suppose you couldn't promise me a regular job at the end of the month? Two pounds a week I was getting at Ashridge Farm."

"You shall have both," said Garrick, delightedly. "Pick the notes up, man! You understand that you may go to prison for helping me, if we're caught? If you do, of course, my solicitor will look after your wife while we're both doing time—and the five hundred will be compensation."

Garrick told Rhoda what he had done, then went back to the tiller.

When he had again anchored Rhoda came to him.

"Alf seems delighted with his new job," she said. "He gave me this—he said it was valuable and asked me to keep it for him for a month and give it to him at the end of that time."

"This" was a package loosely wrapped in a small grocer's bag. Garrick opened it. Inside were the two halves of the bank notes.

"Good Lord!" he exclaimed. "That fellow trusts us—absolutely. He will be invaluable to us, dearest. It's the first bit of luck we've had since you fell foul of Maitland."

Before midday Garrick was letting himself into his house in Marron street. As far as possible he intended to give every appearance of leading his normal life—to be seen in his usual haunts—if only to avoid driving the police to the conclusion that he must be "harboring" Rhoda.

"Well, Walters! Has any one been inquiring for me?"

"No, sir. No one of importance. A man came here about an hour ago—with a pair of gloves, sir. He said he was a taxi driver and that he thought you had left the gloves in his cab. He would not leave the gloves until you could identify them in person."

Garrick smiled, for he had never in his life left his gloves anywhere.

"What was he like to look at, Walters?"

"O, a very rough type, sir! Most taxi men seem very respectable when they're not working. But this one—he looked to me more like a cheap prize fighter, sir."

Maitland's butler, no doubt! Evidently the gang wished to find out whether he were at home—to check the reports of their shadowers. Well, they would know now, for the shadowers would have seen him come in—without Rhoda.

He picked up his letters and retired to the library. He had scarcely sat down when Walters announced Detective Inspector Lanport.

"Show him up!" ordered Garrick indifferently.

Detective Inspector Lanport, who was carrying an unusually large brief bag, greeted Garrick with cold formality—for at their last meeting he had felt himself insulted by what he considered Garrick's frivolous confession of abducting Rhoda Fairclough.

"I have a camera, Mr. Lanport. Surely that is a very innocent possession! I'll show it to you, if you like. I always keep it in this cupboard."

To back up his bluff he swung back the sliding doors of a cupboard that ran under one of the bookcases.

From the brief bag Lanport had produced a much battered camera—which Garrick recognized.

"It looks very much like mine," he said. "May I ask where you found it?"

"I'm not obliged to answer that question, but I will." Lanport was severely official. "It was found on the windowsill of Miss Fairclough's room at Nympstone House."

"How very interesting!" drawled Garrick. "And as Kendall and all the other unimpeachable witnesses are positive that I was not there that night, we must conclude that some one stole my camera, mustn't we?"

The detective was puzzled by Garrick's manner. Before he could say anything Garrick picked up a package which he had just opened.

"I suppose your scientific expert couldn't tell whether—er—this photograph—was taken by—this camera? Because—strictly between you and me, Mr. Lanport—it was."

Wonderingly the detective studied the photograph.

"I don't call it a bad likeness," said Lanport. "I recognized it at once. Miss Faircliough—taken from the window where we found the camera."

"It's an abominable likeness!" asserted Garrick. "It makes her look almost plain, whereas—but never mind! You can see those two nurses—one of them holding back Miss Faircliough's sleeve. Do you recognize that big, burly fellow standing by the bed?"

"Mr. Schewan."

"Quite correct! Now, before we go any further, let us ask ourselves what the—er—devil—Mr. Schewan was doing in Miss Faircliough's room with those two nurses and Kendall in the background?"

"That is a bit of a question, when you come to think of it," said Lanport. The severe, official manner was fast disappearing. "And I'm not sure we hadn't better find the answer."

"The answer is in Schewan's hand. Can you see what he is holding? Try with this magnifying glass."

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE FADE-OUT

I COME FROM THE CITY. I DON'T SUPPOSE YOU FARMERS REALLY APPRECIATE YOUR INDEPENDENCE.
INDEPENDENCE OF WHAT? NOT OF THE WEATHER OR MARKET PRICES OR OF THE FELLOW THAT WANTS THE INTEREST ON THE MORTGAGE.
YOU DON'T SEEM TO LIKE THE SIMPLE LIFE.
SIMPLE? DO YOU CALL IT SIMPLE IF YOUR FENCES ARE DOWN, CISTERN DRY, TRACTOR GONE HAYWIRE, HORSE SICK AND ROAD TO TOWN WASHED OUT—ALL AT ONCE?

City's Gold Star Mothers See Noted Whistler Work

Many Parties for Debuchi Family.

During the four days that they will be here the Japanese ambassador to the United States, Katsuji Debuchi, and Mme. Debuchi and their son and daughter; Masaru Debuchi, who will be a senior at Princeton this fall, and Mlle. Taka Debuchi, will be greatly entertained. The Japanese consul in Chicago, Yoshio Muto, is giving a luncheon today at the Blackstone hotel for the visitors, and tomorrow, following a tour of the Japanese pavilion, the Japanese commissioners to A Century of Progress will give a large luncheon, also at the Blackstone, where the Debuchis will stay.

Sunday the ambassador and his family will be entertained at a dinner at the Drake hotel, given by Japanese residents in Chicago, and Monday noon the Japan America society will give them a luncheon also at the Drake. The Silas H. Strawns will give a small farewell dinner for their old friends Monday night, and Tuesday will see M. Debuchi and his family go to Detroit.

There will be a large and gala audience in International house this evening for the premiere performance of that fourth century Hindu drama, "The Little Clay Cart," on the University of Chicago campus. The Friends of India are sponsoring the revival and they have scheduled a series of performances with others tomorrow night, July 13, 20, 28, and 29. The showings on July 13 and 20 will be in Mandel hall instead of International house.

Authentic settings of the fourth century have been built for the play from the design of early paintings. Luther Greene, the young Virginian who has come to Chicago this year, is the director. Thornton Wilder and George V. Bobrinskoy, an instructor in Sanskrit at the university, have contributed the comment for the program.

Italian Prince to Return Today.

Prince Karl Schoenburg has made only one engagement for this morning. He is planning to be in the Dearborn station train shed at an early hour to meet his uncle, Prince Potenziani, and his cousin, Donna Myriam Potenziani, on their arrival from the west coast. It will be a real reunion, for it has been many, many months since the young Italian prince, who arrived here only a few days ago, has seen his uncle, who is the commissioner of the Italian government to A Century of Progress.

Prince Potenziani and his daughter have cut short their western trip in order to be back here to complete preparations for the arrival of Gen. Balbo and his Italian air armada next week. Messages received by friends here the last week report, however, that they have had a "glorious tour" with visits to the Santa Fé home of the Arthur G. Gables and the California estate of the Joseph T. Ryersons.

Mrs. Donald F. McPherson of Winnetka has been having a very busy time of it lately with three major worries. First, little Teddy Perry, the John P. Hazen Perrys' son, who was staying with the McPhersons while his parents are with the junior James B. Forgans in Lake Forest, came down with chicken pox, and had to be sent back to his mother, where all the other children have had it; second, Miss Fanny McPherson had to be packed to leave today for Cleveland where she will visit Miss Jane Schiverick for a week while Miss Schiverick is presented to society; and finally there is the worry about young Donald Jr., who is on a Norwegian fishing schooner, similar to the Bluenose down at the Fair. The boat, which has no motors, depends on the wind alone for motive power. It is manned by Donald and eleven other boys in the early teens, Dr. Dey, who is in charge of the cruise, a captain and four sailors.

News of Travel and Vacations.

Alexander Stillman passed through Chicago the other day in his plane on his way from the east to California, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Henry P. Davison. Mr. Stillman's mother and younger brother, Mrs. Fowler McCormick and Guy Stillman, are at their estate at Pleasantville, N. Y., and Mr. McCormick returned to the city yesterday.

Arriving on the same train yesterday from New York were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field and his young son, Marshall, who are at the Ambassador East for a few days while they are seeing the Fair. Mr. Field's cousin, Mrs. Clifford Rodman, and Mr. Rodman are staying in town at the Ambassador, too, so that they may accompany the Fields on their tours of the Exposition, but they all will move out to the Rodmans' Lake Forest residence Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. George A. Ranney and her son, George Jr., and two daughters, Miss Dorothy Ranney and Miss Cornelia Ranney, left yesterday for their summer home at Harbor Point, Mich. Mr. Ranney will go up this week-end.

The two darling little blonde daughters of William C. Boyden, who have been in town visiting him, are leaving this morning for Lake Geneva to visit their grandparents, the Hubbard Carpenters. Little Rosalie Sturgis Boyden and Ellen Webb Boyden will be in this part of the country for just six weeks. Then they will return to California and their mother, Mrs. Armisted Byrd Carter, the former Polly Carpenter Boyden.

Mrs. Philip D. Armour is not certain when to expect her sister and brother-in-law, the Leslie Hyde Pells, who are coming out from New York to visit them and see the Fair, but if they don't come soon the Armours can't be here to receive them, for they will be going east to visit Mrs. Armour's parents, the Thomas G. Condons, in New York fairly soon. Philip D. Armour Jr. is at the Remount ranch in Wyoming for the first part of the summer.

Mrs. Lorenzo M. Johnson of Winnetka has returned to California, where her daughter and son-in-law, the George B. Masseys, are spending the summer with her in Santa Barbara. Another daughter and son-in-law, the Ayres Boals, with whom she lives when in Winnetka, leave today for their camp near Charlevoix, Mich., to be gone until after Labor day. Miss Henrietta Boal, their daughter, will be with them all summer, and a son, Thomas Boal, will join them in a couple of weeks.

Max Ainbinder of 5820 Kenmore avenue announces the engagement of his daughter, Alice Jean, to Robert Carleton Richheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Greeley Richheimer. Miss Ainbinder attended the University of Chicago and the Art institute of Chicago. The wedding will take place this fall.

WEDDINGS

Miss Betty Knapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knapp of 5555 Sheridan road, will be married to George Whitfield Douglas, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Douglas of Valparaiso, Ind., today at the residence of her parents. Miss Knapp is a graduate of Northwestern university, where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. Mr. Douglas is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the law school of the University of Chicago. He is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Hilda Elizabeth Muller, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Oswald Muller of Brooklyn Heights, New York, to Frederick E. Rieger of Englewood, N. J., on June 3 at the Church of the Atonement in Chicago, with a reception at the Drake hotel. Mrs. Donald Woodward Easter of 180 East Delaware place was Mrs. Rieger's matron of honor, and Mr. Easter served Mr. Rieger as best man.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt returned yesterday to the White House from New York by air in time to entertain with the President a few guests at dinner. She left again by air this afternoon for New York to begin a motor trip of real recreation, as incognito as it is possible for her to be.

Mrs. Walter J. Cummings of Chicago, wife of the executive assistant to the secretary of the treasury, accompanied by their three sons, have sailed for Europe.

Sally's Guests Visit the Fair in Grand Style

Special Guides and Buses Make Tour Success.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

We're tired, but O—so happy! Even grown people are pretty well worn out by the time they finish touring A Century of Progress, and I don't think any one ever saw more in a single trip than we.

Of course, adults don't have two special Greyhound buses for their very own, like we did. They met us at the gates and off we flew to start our fun. They waited everywhere for us, and when one small girl said, "Our feets got tired" after going through one of the many huge exhibitions, they swooped us up and carried us off for a cool refreshing ride to the next big treat. The drivers and the starter took very good care that no one got left during our numerous hops on and off the buses, and even helped pass out cool drinks for one hundred thirsty children.

When we entered the gates six Junior Fair Tour guides met us and tied little red ribbons on all of us, so that every one in our party was properly identified. We had their expert help all afternoon, explaining things to us, escorting us hither and yon, holding small hands and even occasionally providing handkerchiefs.

After examining the marvelous displays in the Federal building, the Hall of States, and the Electrical building, and ooh-ing and ahh-ing at everything, we rode gayly over to Enchanted Island, where we were welcomed by Miss Blackstock, and treated to a whirring ride on the miniature railroad, and one grand slide down the magic mountain. We just loved it all and would have spent hours and hours there if only we had time!

Two hundred palms beat together in approval almost continuously during the 101 Ranch show. That was such fun! And did we admire those riders and their bucking bronchos and trick horses. At least 50 youngsters then and there told me they were going to be cowboys. We watched the show in the cool, shady grandstand with Indian tepees and our own blue Lake Michigan as a back drop, and no one wanted to leave when it was over.

But we were soon entranced with the Midget Village, arriving there just in time to see the show the tiny people put on. They played and sang and danced for us, and their trick animals performed. "Swell!" we voted.

We still had to see the submarine S-49. And believe me we didn't miss a thing on it. Inquisitive bright eyes and freckled faces peered into every bit of the gray boat. One small miss separated herself from us on our tour and when we finally located her she was wandering contentedly in the huge engine room—"intrusted," she explained, "because my daddy was a sailor."

Finally, after a long, happy afternoon, it was time to leave, and we reluctantly said good-by and thank you to every one—and I assure you we all proclaimed the A Century of Progress party the grandest thing ever.

A wholesome change would be to try not to let the child see how her every word and act affects her mother. Let her be as companionable and loving as ever, but one should be responsive without being disturbed. There's quite a difference.

A low, broad, solid table and chair are important furnishings for a child—not only for meals, but for drawing, painting, and some play.

BY SUZETTE BARILLET.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Quick changes and alteration of appearance are just as easy for fashionable women as they used to be for the stage detective. He whisked off a whisker, but they unzip a cape or skirt, and in both cases the original appearance is disguised, which is the object. Women are amused by these sleight of clothes tricks, and everybody has some frock or ensemble which can be changed in a single minute if necessary. I often wonder if any one ever changes in a taxi or somewhere. But that isn't the point. I suppose it's knowing they can which gives them the big kick.

The illustration today shows one of Philippe et Gaston's quick change frocks, which leads a double life. It is, when undisguised, the simple blue and white printed crêpe frock you see in the background. The blouse has short cap sleeves and a cowl neckline and the skirt is cut with a slight circular movement. There is a plain white stitched belt held by a silver bar.

The dress may be altered in a jiffy by tying on a dark blue crêpe marocain skirt, which is wrapped over in front and held on by a bow at the waistline. It can be further altered by adjusting the little dark blue crêpe marocain cape around the shoulders. This cape has a scarf collar of printed silk and it ties in a big bow in front.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NIGHT CLUB MURDER.

Prof. Fordney called to the Club Paris, learned the following:

At 2:25 a. m. the lights suddenly went out and a few seconds later a shot was heard by every one there. The lights went on again in about two minutes revealing the body of wealthy John Murphy lying across the table at which he had been sitting. Murphy's two guests were beautiful Barbara Douglas and Jerome Coolige, internationally famous polo player.

Barbara and Coolige stated they had noticed William Matson sitting alone at a table near theirs; that just after the lights went out they heard the thud of Murphy's body falling on the table, a few seconds later heard a shot, and saw the flash of Matson's gun. This was confirmed by people at nearby tables.

Matson claimed he had seen an enemy in the doorway reaching for his hip and had fired at him. This was in the opposite direction to Murphy's table.

No one admitted touching the body.

With the doctor's consent, Fordney lifted the dead man, ripped open his shirt and after examining the wound observed the pale face and composed countenance. Also evidences of poisoning.

After grilling Matson, Inspector Kelley turned to the professor and said, "Matson's story is bunk. He bumped off Murphy alright."

"I don't think so," replied Fordney. Murphy was shot after death. He was first poisoned—probably by hydrocyanic acid. Some one put him in that position after the poison had killed him—its very quick acting—and after he was shot."

WHY DID FORDNEY THINK SO? HE WAS LATER PROVED CORRECT.

Fashion Writer Says Long Skirts Enhance Girl's Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Lee Simonson, writing in one of the smart fashion magazines, reminds us that the two greatest mistakes in our recent era of feminine freedom were the straight line frock and the knee high skirt. What a mistake we realize fully, reviewing the lady who passes before our eyes this particularly ravishing year. Legs surely show up better, the less they show. For those rarely lovely underpinnings than can stand the light of day, there's always a good beach handy.

Simonson says womens' legs have been the Waterloo of every fashion designer since time began. The dress periods, when they are in hiding, meets the approval of the critic wholeheartedly.

Man's legs, now, quoth the spokesman. They're something else again. [Ed. note—So long as they keep 'em entrenched behind wool, we won't quarrel with the issue. But plus fours, sisters, plus fours! An' what they tell when they ain't telling handsome proportions.]

Simonson argues in their favor, however, without getting hysterical. A higher average of shapeliness, he pronounces the bone and muscle stuffing for men's chiffons—or is it wools they wear in summer, too? But Mr. Simonson's remarks about the parts of the feminine form that may be emphasized should interest the ladies. They are, he says, the back—flat; the bosom—upstanding; the waist—small; the hips—firm.

And speaking of backs, our critique insists that there are two things that we slump on—backs and insteps. "Women cannot hold up their backs or their insteps," he roundly accuses. A fishhook set upright on its shank is a better hold up, in our accuser's eyes, than the average woman's back. And insteps—they puff, they roll over and drag the feet in. So stand the charges!

Well, that's seeing ourselves as one other sees us, anyway!

Women's Air Group.

The fourth annual meeting of the Women's National Aeronautical association will close tonight with a banquet and installation of officers at the Palmer house. Ruth Nichols and Allson Reppy, president of the American Academy of Air Law, will be the speakers. Mrs. Ulysses Grant McQueen is to be the toastmistress.

Doris Wonders Why Man of 35 Need Be Lonely

BY DORIS BLAKE.

You think of matrimonial agency customers as of a race apart. As you think of criminals as products of a localized section, far distant from your abode. You do not think of them as living next door, say. Yet one tale of a matrimonial agency victim heard recently would indicate that, lonely enough, even women of otherwise known intelligence succumb.

Then from a good address comes a communication from a bachelor, 35, who for two years has plowed the city streets alone o' nights wishing, wishing for some one to walk with him, talk with him, and tell him he's wonderful.

First we must make it clear that no help from this dubious source is ever remembered by us. Yet the plight of loneliness is one that moves us.

But a man of 35, single, not rich, but with a good job and some money saved, craving surcease from the lonesome blues through some foreign agency, bestirs other trains of thought. What is the matter with the fellow? Why hasn't he friends? Why hasn't he male friends in whom he can confide his desire to meet women?

He may not be vicious at all, as the questioning might imply, but there's something wrong. It may be a horrible inferiority complex, out of which he himself must supply the stuff to climb. It may be his appearance, his language, his total lack of charm.

Auctioning himself off to an agency bidder is not going to improve his lot.

King George, Queen Mary Celebrate 40th Wedding Anniversary

LONDON, July 6.—(AP)—King George and Queen Mary today spent their 40th wedding anniversary quietly at Buckingham palace after a simple lunch on the royal train returning from a visit to Chatsworth.

Congratulations from all parts of the world in cables and telegrams awaited their arrival in London, but there was no special celebration to mark the event except that the royal servants drank to the health of the king and queen in champagne.

Ringing bells at St. George's chapel and Windsor castle and flags on government buildings were the only official signs of the anniversary.

BUNDESEN URGES MORE GIFTS FOR FREE ICE FUND

Tells How Tribune Charity Reduces Infant Deaths.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, yesterday urged greater support of THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, which is raised each summer through the contributions of TRIBUNE readers. Every cent contributed is spent on ice, which is delivered regularly to the neediest homes in the city.

"During the hot weather the greatest of care must be given to babies," said Dr. Bundesen, "and this means that food must be kept fresh. The free ice fund of THE TRIBUNE has become a humanitarian institution, saving the lives of an untold number of babies.

Infant Deaths Reduced.

"Before the fund was founded the infant mortality rate caused by diorrhea was discouragingly high. But it has been greatly reduced in late years. The distribution of ice to impoverished families, together with the universal pasteurization of milk, has been responsible for fewer summer diseases among babies and small children. The fund is doing a tremendous service."

Yesterday's gifts included contributions from two groups of youngsters who gave benefits for the ice fund. A letter from Harold Kelso, in which $1.40 was inclosed, explained that he had written and directed a series of children's plays which are being presented every two weeks until the beginning of the fall term of school.

The second group gave an open air show and raised 50 cents. Those taking part were Dorothy Caroline Lohrman, Betty Hope Heller, Edward Cohen, and Patricia Zeigler.

Gifts to Ice Fund.

$10—The Delta Phi Club, Chicago; W. P. T.
$5—Anonymous.
$1.50—The Bookhouse for Children.
$1.40—Proceeds of play, "The Minister's Last Sermon."
$1—John Meyer.

Total	$ 32.40
Previously acknowledged	671.53
Grand total	$703.93

The Camp Algonquin fund, which provides needy mothers and children with free vacations in the Fox river camp, 45 miles northwest of Chicago, received the following gifts:

Total	$ 30.00
Previously acknowledged	1,139.49
Grand total	$1,169.49

Contributions to both funds should be sent in care of the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

IDLE PENNSYLVANIAN DEMANDS U. S. COURT HELP SAVE HIS HOME

Philadelphia, Pa., July 6. —(AP)— Having read that the Reconstruction Finance corporation "saved" the banks and railroads, and that the government had promised to help the small home owner, Raffaele Ipri, an idle mechanic, today demanded a "showdown" in federal court.

He asked the court to save his home until the government can carry out its promises through the Federal Home Owners' association. He said if the court failed to act, he would lose his home because of a $3,800 mortgage.

It was the first action of its kind on the records of the United States District court here. The court will act on the petition later.

Former "Air Bootlegger" Freed in Tax Warrant Case

A charge of conspiracy against P. David Pinkusson, at one time known to police as the "airplane bootlegger," was nol prossed for lack of evidence yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in the Criminal court. Pinkusson is one of four men arrested a year ago for an alleged plot to forge 1931 Cook county tax anticipation warrants. Two other defendants, John Ballwin and Thomas Nelson, forfeited bonds of $10,000 each and are still at large. The trial of the fourth defendant, John R. Steele, former banker in South Bend, was started yesterday before Judge Sullivan.

NANKING ORDERS TROOPS TO WAR ON REBEL ARMY

China Acts to End Career of 'Christian General.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 6.—Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the National government, has ordered his forces stationed at Peiping to advance into Chahar province against the "Christian general," Feng Yu-hsiang. The order was issued immediately after the conclusion of a Sino-Japanese meeting at Dairen, Manchukuo, on the question of policing the neutral zone south of the Great Wall.

The attack on Gen. Feng's army, which is entrenched in the mountain passes near Kalgan, 100 miles northwest of Peiping, will be led by Gen. Pang Ping-hsun, a subordinate to Gen. Ho Ying-chin, Nanking war minister. The move, which is expected to mark active renewal of civil war in China, was taken after Gen. Feng had defied the National government by refusing to concur in the terms of the Sino-Japanese truce establishing a neutral zone in north China. Feng is reported to have an "anti-Japanese National Salvation army." of 70,000.

Gains Added Strength.

Feng's position was recently strengthened through the adherence to his banner of Gen. Liu Kwei-tang, former adherent to the Japanese-supported state of Manchukuo. Since Chahar province is wedged between the Japanese controlled province of Jehol and soviet controlled Outer Mongolia, both Russians and Japanese have charged that Gen. Feng is financed by the other. Nanking newspapers claim that Gen. Feng is receiving communist support.

Most of the evidence, however, is that Gen. Feng is receiving a subsidy from Canton which also opposed the Nanking truce with Japan and at the same time is interested in ousting Chiang Kai-shek as dictator of the National government.

According to reports from Tientsin the latest Sino-Japanese parleys at Dairen resulted in China's agreement to incorporate 8,000 Manchukuo troops into the police force controlling the neutral zone between the great wall and Peiping and Tientsin. This is interpreted as a further Chinese capitulation to Japan.

Canton Spurns Three Rebel Ships.

HONGKONG, China, July 6.—(AP)—Three mutinous Chinese warships, the Haichi, Hiashen and Chaoho, from Tsingtao, arrived at the mouth of the Canton river today and anchored there.

It was understood that representatives from the ships were sent to Canton to negotiate a surrender to Canton officials, but the latter announced they were not interested in the mutineers because their adoption would be too costly.

It is reported, however, that the mutineers have been in close touch with Canton, which is said to covet the ships as compensation for the loss by desertion of the cruiser Chungshan at Nanking last year. Fears of financial and other consequences which might result from provoking the Nanking government are understood to be operating in Canton circles.

Kuechler, 63 years old, 363 Park street, Elgin, a dealer in real estate mortgages. Attorney Austin Hansen of Elgin represents the plaintiff, who is a widow. Kuechler is a widower.

PERFECT TEAM PLAY MARKS GAME OF CENTURY

PLAYERS PROVE STARS CAN STAR WITH STRANGERS

Pitching Strategy Upsets Hitters.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The old theory that it takes practice to perfect team play took a slap between the eyes yesterday when the star actors of the American and National leagues showed themselves as two distinct combinations before 49,000.

The ragged work that some of the 49,000 might have expected didn't appear. Instead there was perfect coordination in defensive play, which is about the only place it can be revealed. If this was true of the Nationals, it was doubly true of the victorious American league outfit.

The spectacle proved that a defensive star in any one position remains a defensive star even when lined up alongside strangers. The players fitted together as well as if they had been pals all summer.

Simmons Covers Well.

Al Simmons furnished the outstanding example of the American league's effort to balance power from one position into another where a known weakness existed. Old Babe Ruth, still a hero despite his infirmities, doesn't get around as he once did. That's why Pie Traynor of the Pirates, pinch batting for Dick Bartell of the Phillies in the seventh inning, plunked Bob Grove, Mack's southpaw ace, for a double. It was just a fly ball more to right than to center. There was a time when Ruth could have caught it in his hip pocket.

But the Babe didn't have a chance even to start for it yesterday. Simmons, playing center at the time, called for the ball the second it sailed into the air. He tore over into right, reached down with his gloved hand and rolled over. But the ball was just out of his reach. Before it was recovered Traynor was on second, where he stayed. Just before that there had been evidence of Ruth's inability to get around. Lon Warneke's triple in the seventh was just a high, lazy fly close to the right field line. The Babe tried hard enough, but couldn't bend down even to halt the ball as it landed.

Little Chance for Strategy.

So far as strategy was concerned there wasn't much chance for the two managers—Connie Mack of the American league team and John McGraw—to reveal any of their pet theories. Mack didn't have to do much thinking after the third inning. Mr. Ruth's homer relieved him of that detail. From then on it was just a matter of protecting the lead and no trouble developed.

Early in the game McGraw had the choice of a bunting or free swinging attack, and he took the latter, which occasioned more or less of a surprise. Hafey's pop single was just a bit too far for Gehringer to reach and Terry followed with a clean single through short. With none out, two on and the score 0 to 0, it was logical to look for a bunt. But Wally Berger of the Braves took his swing and bounced to Jim Dykes of the White Sox for a double play. Then Bartell was fanned by Vern Gomez.

Macks Strategy Wins.

Mack played his hand masterfully in the order in which he worked his pitchers. He started off with a fast baller, Gomez. Just when the Nationals thought they had accustomed themselves to speed and fast curves, Alvin Crowder, the foxy Senator, was brought in and for three innings he served up an assortment of slow stuff, with some speed thrown in. It was one of the latter Frankie Frisch lined into the right field seats in the sixth.

Then the Nationals were thrown off their stride again. They had to look at Bob Grove's terrific speed. They hit him, but when more hits meant runs he pulled down the curtain. One instance of this was the manner in

SPORTS WILL NOT BE GOOD FIELD TO INVOKE EQUALITY

Somebody Must Lose So Somebody Can Win in Contests.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—I have been giving serious thought to the national effort to equalize things or level them off and the idea has occurred to me that this might cause great confusion in the sport business. In sport the proposition usually requires a winner and a hindmost and the party who has wagered his money on the winner expects to accumulate a little.

On the other hand, the citizen who wagers on the hindmost customarily takes one last, sheepish squint at his tickets hoping to find that the dealer gave him chances on the right steed by mistake, which seldom happens, then tears them up or throws them over his shoulder with the remark that it was only money, anyway.

The winner wins some and the loser loses some and this has been going on for so long that nowadays people will find it very hard to surround an idea that things could be otherwise. Yet it seems possible that under the upside down plan of industrial recovery the winners could be made to divide with the losers in order to make things equal. In that case there would be no point in winning and, inasmuch as winning is the object of all wagering, business on the horse tracks would come to a standstill.

Some citizens, being smarter or luckier than others, win more consistently and accumulate large sums, but this money is not retired from action entirely or for very long. The winners would go in for larger wagers and higher spending and in a generation or two they produce a line of mentally infirm heirs who marry series of poor but beautiful muscle dancers out of night clubs, or moving picture ladies and the money is redistributed.

This has been going on for a long time, and when all other means of redistribution fail the rich families may be relied upon to result in a generation who will pose for newspaper pictures kissing ladies whom they just happened to meet somewhere, who presently sue them for divorce, with alimony or for breach of promise.

In a prizefight, the plan to level things off would require that punches be evenly distributed. One pugilist hits another a tap on the chin and is then required to hold still while his opponent hits him back. Under the system of rugged individualism when one pugilist hits another a tap on the chin he is expected to follow this one up with that which is known to the trade as a furious volley of lefts and rights to the face and body.

If he should suddenly hold still and put his chin out to be hit back, the

Pitchers Thwart Famed Heavy Hitting Corps.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The National leaguers felt no shame at having been second best in the Game of the Century. They conducted themselves like the stars they've been in their league and with one exception stopped the power that many predicted would crush them.

Babe Ruth was the one American leaguer who developed the bone crushing strength boasted by the Americans. And even so Babe was the only man to fan twice. The great Lou Gehrig never got a hit—in fact, never got the ball out of the infield. Half of this, of course, was due to the fact that he walked twice. But the other two times he stepped to the plate he tapped to the first baseman and fanned on three pitches.

Dykes Hits Twice.

That splendid performer, Joe Cronin, current leader of the American league batsmen, had to be content with a single, and Ben Chapman, who has been in the big five most of the year, reached first once, and that time on a bunt. Hubbell fanned him on three pitches in his final trip to the plate.

Al Simmons, who considers one hit a game a total loss, was held to a single, and Lon Warneke made him hit into a double play as Lon's first act of the game. The only two hit gent in the game except Ruth, the inevitable exception in every big baseball spectacle, was Jimmy Dykes, who got a walk and two singles for a day's batting average of .667, which Jimmy probably would like to substitute for his current league mark of .264.

The Nationals gave the Americans an edge in the number of total hits, but surpassed them in total bases, 14 to 12. Ruth's homer was matched by Frankie Frisch's smack of equal caliber. Ruth's sock was the Americans' only extra base hit. Warneke knocked a triple for the Nationals and Pie Traynor slammed out a double.

Four Strikeouts Each.

In the matter of strikeouts the boys whiffed to a Mexican standoff. Martin, Bartell, Hartnett, and Cuccinello each failed once to connect with the ball, and Ruth with two, and Chapman and Gehrig, his Yankee mates, with one strikeout each, brought the American total to four.

Unbiased observers, however, probably will point out that there was only one important strikeout in the game, that of Gabby Hartnett, with the tying runs on third and second, with one out, in the seventh. Gabby went down on five pitches by Lefty Grove, a tragic three swings for National enthusiasts.

Since this is a National league consolation piece, the least said about control the better. Gomez, Crowder, and Grove did not walk a man. Hallahan walked five during his curtailed tenancy and he was on the way to walking Ruth when he dropped in the cripple that Ruth socked with such venom. Hubbell walked the first man to face him to bring the total to six.

Hubbell Is Puzzle.

Hubbell, doped as the National league pitcher with the best chance to stop the American league sluggers, pitched the seventh and eighth innings, and with the exception of Dykes the batsmen were fooled by his screw ball, just as much as the dopesters said they would be. Dykes singled between third and short for the only hit off Carl, and only one other batsman got the ball out of the infield. Gehringer ended the Americans' offensive with a long fly to Berger.

In the matter of defensive play there was little to choose between the two galaxies. The one error of the contest was made by Gehrig and meant absolutely nothing. Lou half lost a foul by Bartell in the sun, then dropped it. Bartell promptly gave Lou another chance on the same kind of ball and Lou fought off the sun this time to make the catch.

Ruth Stars in Field.

The defensive work, though perfect, rarely was spectacular. The most thrilling catch of the day was made by Ruth in the eighth, when, running backward, he backed up against the scoreboard in right center to pull down Hafey's great drive. If Babe had been forced to back another step he probably would have knocked himself down. But the ball came down just in time and the Babe was spared an imminent thump.

The next most extended effort to

Fighting Irish! Boy, That's News

Hennelly, Mulligan, Hearns and Hughes

There are no synthetic Irishmen on the team of amateur boxing champions Ireland is sending against Chicago's Golden Glove winners Aug. 2 at Soldiers' field. Victorious over Italy and other continental opponents, the boys from Erin intend to show America the real meaning of "Fighting Irish!"

The Tribune will construct an arena to seat 50,000 who enjoy clean, vigorous boxing. Every location provides an unobstructed view of the ring. Nearly 30,000 seats are available for 55 cents. All are reserved.

The ringside prices are $3.30, $2.50, $2 and $1.10. The early applicants get the choice seats. Send check or money order, payable to Chicago Tribune, to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Room 530, Tribune Tower, Chicago. You may also order by telephone. Call Superior 0100 and ask for Local 466 or 530.

MICKEY WALKER IS BADLY BEATEN BY BROUILLARD

Boston, Mass., July 6.—(AP)—The amazing ring career of Mickey Walker appeared to be nearing its close tonight when the Rumson veteran took a terrific 10 round lacing from Lou Brouillard of Worcester.

At no time was the 32 year old Walker able to make one of his bulldog stands. While going down to his first defeat under a southpaw's fists, he managed to show only one flash of his old time form in the fourth and fifth rounds, when Brouillard slowed down his terrific opening attack.

Walker's margins in those sessions were slight. In the previous rounds he had attempted to land his looping lefts and rights, but Brouillard always managed to bob up inside as he bore in to dig his left into Walker's body and throw his right to the head.

The bout drew an almost capacity crowd of 16,000, which broke all of the Garden's boxing records for the last two years. Walker had a nine pound weight advantage.

PITCHERS' HITS ACCOUNT FOR FIRST TALLIES

Gomez and Warneke Make Use of Bats.

The game of the century at Comiskey park yesterday brought together all the great hitters in baseball, but the honor of driving in the first run went to a pitcher, Vernon Gomez of the New York Yankees. His single with two out in the second inning scored Jimmy Dykes and started the American league team on its way to a 4 to 2 victory.

The first National league run also was produced by a pitcher. Lon Warneke of the Cubs, who relieved Bill Hallahan of the St. Louis Cardinals in the third inning, tripled to right in the sixth and immediately scored on an infield out.

Babe Ruth's home run with Charley Gehringer on base in the third while Hallahan was having trouble controling the ball, provided the American league with its winning margin.

FIRST INNING.

NATIONAL — Cronin threw out Martin and Frisch. Cronin then made a one handed stab of Klein's liner. No runs, no hits.

AMERICAN — Martin threw out Chapman. Gehringer walked. Hallahan threw three balls to Ruth and then struck him out. Gehringer stole second as Babe looked at the third strike. Gehrig was out. Terry to Hallahan, who covered first. No runs, no hits.

SECOND INNING.

NATIONAL—Hafey dropped a single just out of Gehringer's reach in short center. Terry singled to left, Hafey stopping at second. Berger grounded to Dykes, who stepped on third to force Hafey and then threw to Gehrig to double Berger. Bartell fanned. No runs, no hits.

AMERICAN—Simmons flied to Berger. Dykes and Cronin walked. Ferrell flied to Klein. Gomez singled to center, Dykes scoring and Cronin stopping at second. Chapman forced Gomez, Bartell to Frisch. One run, one hit.

THIRD INNING.

NATIONAL—Dykes threw out Wilson. Simmons went into right center to pull down Hallahan's fly. Martin popped to Cronin. No runs, no hits.

AMERICAN — Gehringer walked. Ruth lined a home run into the right field grand stand, scoring Gehringer ahead of him. The ball went on a line into the stands, about 15 rows up into the pavilion. The count was two balls and no strikes when Ruth took his terrific cut. Gehrig walked. Warneke relieved Hallahan. Simmons hit into a double play. Bartell to Frisch to Terry. Dykes singled to left. Cronin flied to Berger. Two hits, two runs.

FOURTH INNING.

NATIONAL—Crowder now pitching for the American league. Frisch flied to Simmons. Klein bounced out to Gehrig. Hafey fouled to Dykes. No runs, no hits.

AMERICAN—Ferrell flied to Klein. Frisch threw out Crowder. Martin threw out Chapman. No runs, no hits.

FIFTH INNING.

NATIONAL—Gehringer threw out Terry. Cronin threw out Berger from deep short. Gehrig drew an error when he dropped Bartell's foul fly in the coaches' box. Bartell sent another foul almost to the same spot, but Lou caught this one. No runs, no hits.

AMERICAN—After the first half of the fifth National league baseballs were substituted for the American league baseballs. Gehringer flied to Berger to deep right center. Ruth dropped a single in front of Berger. Gehrig fanned on three pitched balls. Simmons missed two strikes and then singled to left. Ruth stopping at second. Dykes forced Simmons, Bartell to Frisch. No runs, two hits.

SIXTH INNING.

NATIONAL—O'Doul batted for Wilson and grounded out to Gehringer. Warneke tripled near the right field foul line. Warneke scored while Dykes was throwing out Martin. Frisch knocked a home run into the right field stands, about ten rows up in the lower section. Klein singled to left center. Dykes threw out Hafey. Two runs, three hits.

AMERICAN—Hartnett catching for the National league. Cronin singled over second. Ferrell sacrified, Terry to Frisch. Averill batted for Crowder and singled to center, scoring Cronin. Chapman beat out a bunt to Martin, Averill stopping at second. Klein went to the boxes to get Gehringer's long foul. Averill took third after the catch. Ruth fanned on four pitches. One run, three hits.

SEVENTH INNING.

HALCYON EARNS HIS OATS, STAYS IN WHITNEY BARN

BY FRENCH LANE.

It looks as if Halcyon, son of the great sir Broomstick and the just as noted mare Prudery, will stay around for a while longer in the famous racing stable maintained by Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

It didn't look so good for him until he started running in the Brookfield purse over the Hertz mile course at Arlington Park yesterday afternoon. He had been out four times this year and had performed like anything but a Whitney horse. One third was the best he had been able to accomplish.

His record last year wasn't any too good, either, for in 16 races he had been able to win only four. Whitney horses that can't do any better are sold down the river sooner or later.

Runs Fast Mile.

Despite his royal breeding, Halcyon wasn't in good standing when he came up to his engagement in the Brookfield. But he ran as his blood lines would have him run. He skipped over the mile in 1:37 2-5 and made some fast horses take his dust for almost the entire route.

At the end he was skimming along in an easy stride and was a length and a half clear of Rehoboth, from J. Fred Adams' stable of Maryland. A neck back in third place came Action, which found so many backers at post time that he was made the favorite.

Jockey Coucci gave Halcyon one of his best rides and it might have been his strong saddle effort which made the Whitney 5 year old go along so well. He let Karl Eitel, from Aid. John Coughlin's stable, beat him away from the post. Then Coucci sent Halcyon to the front and steadied him along at a good, even pace for the entire route. Halcyon had something left when the real struggle came in the stretch.

Halcyon Pays $7.32.

The players who remained loyal to the Whitney forces received nice dividends on their investments. They got $7.32 to win, $4.92 to place, and $3.16 to show. Rehoboth paid $11.10 to place and $6.02 to show. Action's show price was $2.82.

Coucci's ride received more praise than Halcyon's good racing effort. Chicago racegoers are rapidly reaching the conclusion that he is one of the great jockeys of all time. And that takes in Sloan, Isaac Murphy, Sande, and all the rest of them.

Just before Halcyon scored his triumph Tickory Tock, another favorite, had been defeated. Mocker, the 4 year old brown daughter of Ladkin-Ridicule II., which races for the Lemar Stock Farm stable, staged a game drive down the stretch to triumph over the faltering Tickory Tock by half a length. Reverberate was third.

HAGEN GETS 140; TOPS SURVIVORS IN BRITISH OPEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. ANDREWS, England, July 6.—The half way mark in the British open golf tournament was reached today with the veteran American campaigner, Walter Hagen, four time winner of the title, maintaining a one stroke lead over the closely bunched field with a 36 hole total of 140. Hagen added a second round 72, one under par, to his sensational 68 of yesterday.

All but two of the fourteen American entries qualified today for the deciding 36 holes of the tournament tomorrow. Paul Runyan narrowly missed the qualifying mark of 152 with 76—77—153, while Billy Burke's 77—82—159 tossed him far out of a title chance.

Dudley One Stroke Back.

Hagen's closest rival tonight is lanky Ed Dudley, a fellow American, who shot 70—71—141. Tied for third place were Abe Mitchell, veteran British professional, and Fred Robertson, British dark horse, each with 142. Mitchell turned in a 68 to better par by 5 strokes and duplicate Hagen's first round performance. Mitchell shot 74 yesterday, while Robertson duplicated his first round 71.

Gene Sarazen, defending champion, ran into no end of trouble today, but managed to keep close to the leaders with 72—73—145. Far up in the field were Cyril Tolley, British amateur, with 70—73—143, and Henry Cotton, British professional from Belgium, who had 73—71—144.

Four Tie at 145.

Tied with Sarazen at 145 were two Americans, Leo Diegel and Joe Kirkwood, and the English professional, William Sparks.

Denny Shute, the Philadelphia star, again equaled par with a 73 to share a two round total of 73—73—146 with Horton Smith of Chicago. Shooting 74 today, George Dunlap, former American college champion, also had 146 for 36 holes by virtue of yesterday's 72.

Craig Wood of New Jersey	77	72—149
Joe Exar of Texas	77	72—149
Olin Dutra of Los Angeles	76	76—152
Johnny Farrell	77	71—148

Sign Ross and Canzoneri for 2d Bout Today

A preliminary conference was held last night by Tim Mara, New York promoter, and Sam Pian and Art Winch, co-managers of Barney Ross, lightweight and junior welterweight champion, relative to a return title bout between Ross and Tony Canzoneri at the polo grounds, New York, in September. All arrangements for the match will be completed at a meeting today.

Two boxing shows are scheduled for tonight. A professional card will be presented at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, and an amateur program will be offered at Ashland arena, Ashland avenue and Addison street.

Pete Blanchard, Kansas City lightweight, will face Art Donovan of Joliet in a five round bout at the Rainbo. It will be Blanchard's first appearance in Chicago. Joe Roman, former Golden Gloves champion, who won his first professional contest last week, will appear in the five round semi-final against Art Mitchell.

Other matches:

108 Golf School Graduates Vie in Tournament Tomorrow

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The four prize form students of THE TRIBUNE Golf school having been chosen, there now remains only the question of who will win tomorrow's medal play tournament of 18 holes at Northbrook to conclude the commencement exercises of the greatest project ever conducted in the history of golf. The Northbrook club, formerly the University Private club, is located on the Dundee road, one and three-quarters miles west of the Waukegan road, or one mile east of Milwaukee avenue.

The same 108 finalists—survivors of the original enrollment of 17,000 men, women, boys and girls—who competed in the form competition at Mid-City Wednesday night, will take part in the tournament at Northbrook tomorrow. All of the prize list of 140 awards will be distributed after the tournament. The boys' class will tee off first, starting at 11 a. m. They will be followed by the girls at noon, the women at 1 p. m. and the men at 2 p. m.

Free Golf for Winners.

The eight winners of the two finals will receive from the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association a playing membership entitling them to play free at all of the 27 member courses of the association for the balance of the season. The four winners of the form contest will be awarded silver loving cups by THE TRIBUNE, which will also present each of the four low scorers in the tournament tomorrow a bag and a set of six clubs. Winners of second and third place in the finals each will receive a dozen balls. All of the 108 finalists are certain of at least one prize—a playing membership good for the remainder of the season at that course at which they took their six free lessons.

Free Lessons Go On.

The success of the school was given a final testimonial Wednesday night at Mid-City, where the 108 representatives of the 27 courses were judged by Tommy Armour of Medinah, Bob MacDonald and Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, and Jock Hutchison of Glen View. The finals were run off smoothly under the direction of Tom Walsh, master of ceremonies, and Bill Langford and Ted Moreau of Mid-City. Harry Radix, president of the Chicago District Golf association, predicted in an address before the judging began that the enrollment of the school will be more than doubled if it is renewed next year.

The enthusiasm which has been sustained at all courses throughout the duration of the school has been such that a number of courses have decided to continue the system of free lessons of their own accord. Included among these are Harlem, Westgate Valley, Indian Head, Chicago Meadows, and Mid-City. Tom Geary of Indian Head was prompted to continue his classes by 250 letters from pupils asking him not to stop the series.

The four winners of the form competition at Mid-City Wednesday included Ray Deen of Hickory Hills in the men's class, Mrs. Betty Lucas of Hickory Hills among the women, Dorothy Sturm of Mid-City in the girls' class, and Victor Arvia of Pipe o' Peace among the boys. Each led his or her division on points awarded by the five judges. Each judge was allowed to give 100 points or less to each pupil, after which all of the judges' ratings were combined. The point total for the leaders in each division follow:

Millions Would Benefit by Fox Valley Project

BY BOB BECKER.

If one of the government's civilian conservation corps encamps on the Fox river this summer to carry on projects which will improve the environs of this popular outdoor playground, it will be a big forward step providing more outdoor recreation for thousands of children and adults in Chicagoland. Early in the spring it was announced that several hundred men would be put to work on the Fox valley and another squad would be located in the Skokie, where a forest preserve improvement project awaited the workers.

When we visited the Fox valley a short time ago E. A. Keplar, secretary of the Fox Valley Improvement association, stated that the valley offered plenty of work for a squad of workers.

Two years ago a TRIBUNE canoeing party called attention to the fact that the Fox river valley was one of the most extensively used recreational areas in Chicagoland.

Thousands of outdoor fans, including campers, fishermen, picnickers, Boy and Girl Scouts, canoeists, and others turn to the Fox river for an inexpensive outing. Hundreds of summer cottages line the banks of the river. Near some of the towns along the stream boat and canoe clubs go in for water sports in a big way, as, for example, at St. Charles, where you find the St. Charles Boat club, one of several well organized clubs which foster the sport of canoeing.

Beautiful permanent residences also have been built along the Fox. So great has been the demand for picnic, fishing, and camping locations in the wooded groves along the Fox that many land owners have developed recreational areas and charge a small fee for the use of a campsite or a picnic spot.

Elimination of pollution, control of water levels, acquisition of water power equities for the public, development of public parks, production of game and fish, and the preservation of many of the fine wooded tracts along the river are some of the things included in the man sized job of making the historic Fox river a pleasure ground for the 4,000,000 who live within a few miles of the river.

Besides the Fox Valley federation, which already has done a fine piece of work in beautifying the valley, the federation of northern Illinois chapters of the Izaak Walton league has lined up behind a movement to restore this beautiful river and protect its wild life and recreational assets. Harry F. Ferguson, chief sanitary engineer of the state department of health, reports that considerable progress has been made in the abatement of sewage in the river, and the work of cleaning up continues.

If a conservation corps was located on the Fox river this summer it would be another big step toward making the river an ideal recreational spot for thousands of people in Chicagoland.

RETZLAFF PUTS AWAY PRANTE IN 2D ROUND

Slaughter on Floor 5 Times, but Is Victor

The small crowd booed the decision, which was not unanimous. Referee Dave Barry and Judge Edward Klein voted for Slaughter and Judge Edward Hintz scored the bout a draw.

Nichols Loses Speed.

After making a brilliant start Nichols faded in the last four rounds and held on continually. Slaughter was the aggressor throughout and scored with straight lefts to the head and rights to the body and chin. Nichols dropped the Terre Haute fighter with a hard left to the head for a nine count the first time. The same kind of a punch knocked Slaughter out of the ring, but he clambered back by the time Referee Barry had counted fourteen. A twenty second count is necessary when a boxer is knocked out of the ring. Nichols then dropped his opponent three more times for nine counts with lefts to the jaw. Slaughter weighed 162½ and Nichols 161½.

Tommy Paul, making his first appearance here since he lost the featherweight title to Freddy Miller, Jan. 13, won a close decision from Jackie Sharkey of Minneapolis in the ten round semi-final.

Sharkey Comes Back.

Jackie Brady, Syracuse, N. Y., welterweight, beat Puggy Weinert of Brighton Park in the first bout at ten rounds. Some in the crowd thought Weinert deserved the decision. Brady piled up points with superior fighting in the clinches.

Boxers from Rockford are to clash with a Chicago team at Ashland arena tonight. Billy Webster, Bill Neimeyer and Emil Weinsenstein, all of Chicago, will face Tony Johnson, Ralph Werber and Joe Bolder, Rockford representatives. Charles Hebbler and Elmer Kaiser will wrestle.

Max Baer, California heavyweight, recent conquerer of Max Schmeling, arrived in the city yesterday with his manager and Jack Dempsey. They were guests of George Lytton of the Hub at the Game of the Century yesterday afternoon and at the Streets of Paris last night.

Kid Leonard, East Moline, Ill., middleweight, and Jack Moran of the west side are matched for an eight round encounter Tuesday at Western stadium. Carlos Herrera and Laddie Tonelli, both of whom have compiled a long string of victories, will meet George and Joe Venie, South Bend, Ind., welterweights.

Bud Saltis and Karl Ogren, 160 pound fighters, have signed to clash in the eight round windup at Northwest stadium Wednesday. Ogren will be seeking his third victory. He knocked out Eddie Gill and beat Jack Moran in recent weeks. Tony Muscarello, Golden Gloves graduate, who has won eight straight bouts, and Paul Dempsey will fight in the six round semi-windup.

Johnny Phagan, who was awarded a disputed decision over Jackie Purvis Wednesday, and Purvis have accepted terms for a fourth match at Northwest stadium on July 19.

NATIONAL LEAGUE BEATEN, 4 TO 2, IN ALL-STAR BATTLE

Ruth's Home Run Aids in American Victory.

not appear in formal action were made known to the fans through the loud speaker as they took part in batting practice or performed some other duty which enabled them to take a bow.

What of the crowd, representative of all fans? How did it behave? This great assemblage, too, entered into the spirit of this occasion. It was the most sportsmanlike crowd ever gathered for such an important event. South siders shouted in approval and glee when some American leaguer produced a hit or a brilliant bit of fielding. North siders clamored when the hero was a National leaguer.

Yet there was composite applause from the two elements for the various stars. Those familiar boos and jeers so frequently heard were at a minimum. This crowd of yesterday apparently sensed the occasion as a precursor of more such games to follow in other years and lent its best behavior.

Gomez, Hallahan Start.

As the teams took the field after preliminary practice, the lineups did not differ materially from those previously announced, with reservations, by the rival managers. Lefty Gomez was on the slab instead of Mose Grove, but many experts had anticipated that as part of the Connie Mack strategy. Wild Bill Hallahan took up the burden for the Nationals with Warneke and Hubbell to follow. It was because Hallahan lived up to his nickname and because Babe Ruth came through that the American leaguers obtained a three run advantage in the first three innings, which the battling Nationals tried in vain to batter down.

Five bases on balls in those first three innings were combined with three hits, including Ruth's homer, for the trio of runs. Even that did not send the Cardinal star to the showers. But when a pass to Lou Gehrig followed Ruth's homer with none out in the third inning, Lon Warneke was summoned to quell the uprising.

Thus in a contest where many had thought no set of pitchers could stand against such an array of batters one hurler was removed for cause. That cause was his own wildness, rather than bombardment.

Americans Get Nine Hits.

With great pitchers and great batters matching their prowess, the issue might fairly be termed a draw between them on the score of comparative effectiveness. Likewise there was small difference between batting effectiveness of the two opposing squads. The Americans garnered their four runs from nine hits. The Nationals realized only two runs from their eight hits. The lone error of the entire contest did not figure in the counting.

In the very first inning, when the Nationals were retired in order notice was given patrons of the caliber of play they might expect. For the third out Manager Joe Cronin of the Washingtons dashed over toward second to get his gloved hand on a seemingly safe line drive from the bat of Chuck Klein. Cronin had been a factor in every putout of the inning.

Dykes Scores First Run.

More trouble for Hallahan followed in the third. Gehringer walked. Ruth, at bat, took one of his characteristic swings and the ball sailed at a low elevation but at terrific speed toward the right field stands, landing among the spectators about six feet inside the foul line. Gehrig walked. Then Warneke was summoned to the mound by Manager McGraw. Lon forced Al Simmons to hit into a double play. Dykes singled past third, but Cronin flied to center. Warneke was given a great hand as he went to the dugout after emerging from this situation.

Warneke Hits Triple.

Nationals went to the sixth before getting familiar with the home plate. With one gone in that inning, Warneke decided that batting must be added to his pitching to produce results. He pumped around to third when Babe Ruth made something of a mess in handling a safe fly which bounded away when Babe failed to reach it near the right field foul line. Lon scored on Pepper Martin's out at first. Frankie Frisch then sailed a long hit into the right field stands for a home run. Klein singled to left, but Hafey was out to end the inning. Dykes to Gehrig.

The Americans added their fourth and final run in their half when Cronin opened with a single and took second on Ferrell's sacrifice, scoring on a single to center by Averill, who batted for Crowder. Chapman caught the opposition flat footed with a beautiful bunt down the third base line. Klein gathered Gehringer's fly on the right foul line. With two on the paths, Ruth whiffed with his total for the day two hits and two strikeouts.

Grove Gets Out of Trouble.

Lefty Grove had a narrow escape in the seventh. Hartnett fanned with two on base and Woody English ended the inning with a short fly to center.

Again in the eighth, Ruth backed up against the right field stands to take Hafey's fly which, with a few feet more distance, would have tied the score, as Frisch, now batting right handed instead of left, had singled. The Nationals went out in order in the ninth and the Game of the Century was over.

Rick Ferrell Plays Through Game; Other Catchers Hurt

BY ARCH WARD.

Rick Ferrell of the Boston Red Sox, who ranked third among American league catchers in the fans' poll, was forced to work the entire game at Comiskey park yesterday. Bill Dickey of the Yankees injured his thumb in batting practice, and Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics, who was second to Dickey in the nation-wide voting, suffered two broken ribs in a game at Cleveland ten days ago.

Harvey Traband, secretary of the National league, who represented President John A. Heydler at the game, and President William Harridge of the American league, decided to invest the profits of the game, approximately $45,000, in government securities. The fund ultimately will be donated to the Baseball Players' Charity organization.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, attended the meeting of American league players in the Del Prado hotel at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He tipped off Connie Mack and his athletes to the information he gained on National league players in his five years' service with the Cubs.

Bill Conroy, an Illinois Wesleyan boy who is getting a tryout with the Athletics, was injured serving as catcher in batting practice. His right hand was cut severely.

Jimmy Foxx, the Macks' home run slugger, was held in reserve as a pinch hitter, but an occasion to use him never developed.

Chick Hafey's long drive to the right field fence in the eighth inning would have been a home run in almost any park in the major leagues. Ruth made a great overhead catch to retire the Cincinnati walloper. The score would have been tied if Hafey's drive had landed in the stands, for Frisch was on base at the time.

The crowd heeded instructions and arrived early. At 1 o'clock, 15 minutes before the start of the game, 80 per cent of the fans were in their seats. The box seat holders on the third base side took a lot of punishment from the sun during the first five innings.

The Western Union doubled its facilities to handle the heavy file from the press box at Comiskey park, but several newspapers still were unable to obtain special wires.

William Dinneen, dean of the American league umpires, called balls and strikes for the first four and a half innings. He then yielded his position to William Klem, National league veteran. The officiating must have been well done, because there wasn't a squawk from the stands.

Phil Ball of St. Louis and Tom Yawkey of Boston were the only American league club owners who did not attend the game. Ball is ill and Yawkey was kept away by a death in his family.

The most popular man in the game was Lon Warneke. The fans gave him a hand all the way, particularly when he rapped that triple in the sixth inning.

Among the National league executives grouped around the first base dugout were William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs; Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds; G. P. Nugent, president of the Philadelphia Phillies; Joseph Gilleaudeau, treasurer of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Jim Tierney, secretary of the New York Giants.

The acting captains for the day were Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, for the National league, and Charley Gehringer of the Detroit Tigers for the Americans.

The master minding started before the game. Manager John McGraw of the National leaguers refused to divulge his starting lineup or his starting pitcher.

"Wait until I see the other lineup," he said. That was all there was to it. Not even the reporters in the press box knew his correct lineup until the teams had batted around.

Every member of the Chicago Cubs, from Manager Charley Grimm down to Speck Hasbrook, the bat boy, and Andy Lotshaw, trainer, were on hand for the spectacle. Lotshaw served as trainer of the National leaguers. Ad Schacht, trainer of the Chicago White Sox, was the muscle mender for the American league.

No one got more kick out of Ruth's homer than Eddie Collins, vice president and general manager of the Boston Red Sox. As the Babe's bat connected with the ball Collins knew it was a home run and danced about on the first base coaching line, shouting gleefully.

Lou Gehrig got a quick chance to redeem himself after he dropped Dick Bartell's pop foul in the fifth inning. He was charged with an error, but Bartell obligingly hoisted another in almost the same spot, and Gehrig snatched the ball for the third out.

Cubs Play Giants Today in Opening of Pennant Drive

The Cubs and Giants this afternoon will launch their second 1933 series in Chicago and their fourth of the year. Pat Malone, who hasn't won a game since June 3, will try again, and Leroy Parmelee, who outpointed Lon Warneke, 2 to 0, on June 18, will be the choice of Manager Bill Terry of the Giants.

The Cubs have in mind starting the drive which will land them with the National league pennant come September, and enter the task only two steps lower on the ladder than they were at this point in last year's race.

This afternoon's encounter will be the first contest in the second half of the season. The Cubs wake up this morning with a mark of 38 wins and 37 losses and are in fourth place, eight games behind the Giants. When they started the second half of last season they had won 42 games and lost 35. They were 2½ games out of first place, topped only by the Pirates.

The teams will play a single game tomorrow and there will be a double header Sunday, the double bill being manufactured by moving up Monday's scheduled game.

So far this year the Giants have won 7 out of 10 games with the Cubs.

MACK MIXES UP SLOW AND FAST BALL PITCHERS

The hit that decided everything—the Ruth blast into the right field seats with Gehringer on first in the third inning—was the outcome of poor control. Bill Hallahan of the St. Louis Cardinals showed from the start that he still was Wild Bill. In two instances he was caught trying to sneak a cripple over the plate to get out of a hole and each time it proved costly. He tried it on Gomez when Dykes and Cronin were on bases as the result of two walks in the second inning. Gomez, a terrible hitter, detected Hallahan's trick. He hit the cripple to left for a single and the first run of the day scored.

Ruth Hits Cripple.

It was the same with Ruth's devastating homer. Hallahan had walked Gehringer to start the inning. He threw two to Ruth and both were wide. Hallahan thought he might catch the Babe napping on the next one. The Babe has seen such tricks before and solved them similarly. He saw the ball bend over the plate, a bit inside and sent it whistling into the pavilion. The Babe wasn't at all distressed by the fact that Hallahan had fanned him in the first inning after Gehringer had walked and stolen second.

The value of control was noted as soon as Hallahan was removed after walking Gehrig following Ruth's homer in the third. Lon Warneke, the Cub sparkler, stepped in and his first pitch was a fast ball strike to Simmons. The next also was perfectly pitched, but Simmons bounced it to Martin for a double play.

Simmons was additionally involved in the fourth inning, but on defense. Frisch hit a long ball on Crowder and it sailed toward right center with all the appearances of an extra base hit. Chapman might have grabbed it, but didn't have the chance. Simmons was over there and took it himself. Al couldn't forget that left field rightfully belonged to him.

Crowder's Slow One Fools.

Crowder's slow hooks also gave the Nationals considerable annoyance in the fifth. Terry, Berger and Bartell couldn't get the ball out of the infield. Bartell had two chances to do it. He popped a foul to Gehrig, who dropped it for no reason except that he was too sure of the catch. Then Bartell did it right over again, but Gehrig hung on to this one.

Ruth's first appearance against Warneke resulted in a single but it was just a handle hit that went looping into short center when the Babe swung at a curve ball. The count at the time was 1 and 1, the strike being a called fast ball. It looked a bit too much inside to be a strike and the Babe glowered at Umpire Klem. Then after Ruth had singled, Warneke fanned Gehrig on three successive curved balls. Later on he also fanned Ruth by mixing his fast one with curves.

It was Warneke's lack of fielding more than the want of pitching skill that put him in trouble in the sixth when the Americans scored their last run. Cronin plunked a single right past the feet of the Cub star who didn't reach down quickly enough. A moment later Pinch Batter Earl Averill of the Indians hit the same kind of a ball and this, too, eluded the lanky pitcher. The next batter, Ben Chapman of the Yanks, noticed that Martin was playing deep, so he shoved a bunt toward third and was on first almost before Martin got his hands on the ball. This caused no complications, however.

White Sox Play Athletics Today; Durham to Pitch

Philadelphia, Pa., July 6.—[Special.]—Harold Haid, a veteran right hand pitcher from the Seattle Pacific Coast league team, was added to the White Sox roster today in an attempt to stem the plague of ineffective pitching.

Haid has had big league experience with the Boston Braves, the St. Louis Cardinals, and the St. Louis Browns. Boston shipped him to Seattle last year and he won 18 games while losing 15 for a sixth place team.

His addition to the White Sox roster will necessitate the release of a pitcher, a fact which may move the present corps to greater effort. Haid will report in Washington next week.

The Sox open their second eastern invasion tomorrow with a game against the Philadelphia Athletics. Ed Durham will pitch. This series will be the first of a group of contests for third place in the American league, with the Sox battling the Athletics, Cleveland, and Detroit for rating directly behind the New York Yankees. Only two games separate the four teams now.

If the pitching staff returns to a semblance of its early season form, the Sox undoubtedly will throw off the ill luck that has dogged them for the last month. In 17 of the last 21 games opponents have made more than ten hits off the Sox hurlers.

DEAR WAKE: At the time of the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893 Barlow's pavilion [music hall], on Archer avenue, near State street, was showing acts from all over the world. Stewart, "the Male Patti," made a remarkable hit with his singing of the love song "Georgia." "Omene," the original and most famous, or infamous, of all oriental dancers was a riot each night. Her costume consisted of a string of beads. Cullen, romantic tenor, created a furore when he first sang Charles K. Harris' "After the Ball." In the period from about 1860 to 1865 Billy Monroe's "Green Room" was located on Madison street east of McVicker's. It was patronized largely by actors. On the east corner was Knowles & Kloges' grocery, afterward moved to River street, which dealt in coffee and spices, wholesale. East on Madison was the St. Mary's parochial school, and at the corner of Wabash, St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, now the site of the Heyworth building. 1853.

Rejoicing in the sun's first golden rays

That I have woven in my reveries

National Star Hurlers Stop Heavy Hitters

end in success was that of Klein, when he went to the right field boxes to grab Gehringer's foul for the second out in the sixth inning.

Al Simmons was the executor of the one big college try of the day. He made a valiant effort to put over a diving catch of Traynor's double in the seventh, but his plunge was a foot shy of success.

The Nationals had to give something in the matter of successful pinch hitting. Connie Mack employed only one pinch batter, Earl Averill, who singled for Crowder in the sixth to drive in Cronin with the last run of the afternoon. McGraw used four pinch hitters. Traynor doubled to put Berger and himself on third and second with the tying runs. Then, after Hartnett had fanned, English batted for Warneke and ended the chance with a fly for which Simmons was waiting in short right center. O'Doul grounded out to Gehringer to start the sixth and Tony Cuccinello ended the game by striking out.

Warneke and Dykes took care of Chicago honors, each scoring his team's first run and both playing well afield. Dykes, as previously mentioned, shared honors with Ruth as a two hit fellow. Warneke got the only triple of the game. Simmons' single in the fifth brought Chicago hitting accomplishments to four out of the game's total of 17, which was next to New York's total of six. Ruth and Terry made two each, while Gomez and Chapman made one each.

BOY, 19, WINS 4,000 MILE BOAT RACE TO U. S.

New York, July 6.—(AP)—The two masted yacht Ahto, skippered by 19 year old Ahto Walteh of Esthonia, sailed into New York harbor today the winner of the 4,000 mile race from Gambia, West Africa, in competition with the British cutter Enterprise, with Peter Barber at the helm.

The Enterprise was believed not far behind, as it was reported sighted off Barnegat light yesterday morning after the Ahto had been driven to shelter at Atlantic City Monday evening by a heavy storm.

SPORTS WILL NOT BE FIELD FOR EQUALITY PLAN

customers and the prizefighting commission might become suspicious that the fight was one of those things known as one of those things and raise a scandal which would tarnish the fair name of the sport. The whole theory of the upside down plan is so contrary to the principle of competition in the sport business that in regulating competition the government might kill it off altogether and the business with it.

Obviously the safest way to avoid arrest for unfair competition would be to refrain from punching altogether. Yet, if pugilists do not tap one another occasionally they might as well stay home and drink beer. If one tap on the chin deserves another, then no taps on the chin do not deserve any compensating taps and a man does not have to go through long training and ballyhoo and get into a ring, attended by a couple of seconds, to refrain from fighting.

It has been done, of course, and by some of the most prominent pugilists of the age, but such conduct does not appeal to the customers. When Johnny Wilson, the middleweight champion, and Bryan Downey of Cleveland scrupulously refrained from fighting for 12 rounds at Boyle's Thirty Acres some years ago, the patrons were so impatient that they began walking away by the end of round three. Some of them were back in New York by the time the two boys got through refraining from fighting.

This fight conformed to the upside down ideal, with each pugilist considerably more terrible than the other, impossible as that may seem to any one who was not present. But those with the best interests of the game at heart said that it was a body blow to the escutcheon of the manly art of self-defense.

But I suppose that in horse racing, when equalization comes, the approach will be made not directly through the betting windows but on the track. It would bring everything out exactly even if the horses were all required to run exactly abreast and finish alike. Then everybody would win a bet, although, with no loser in the race, the winning bets would not pay anything.

I can think of only one objection to that and it is that there would be a sharp increase in the rate of simple home murders. A gentleman coming home from a hard afternoon at the horse track with a record of six winning horses and a total profit of nothing, net, could not expect his loving helpmeet to believe him and, one word leading to another, the final result would be work for the homicide squad and the district attorney.

McGRAW LAUDS VICTORS; GAME THRILLS STARS

All Agree It Was Greatest of All Battles.

After the last ball sank into Rick Ferrell's glove yesterday, ending the Game of the Century with the American leaguers victorious, John McGraw, leader of the National leaguers, bounded out of the dugout and shouldered his way through the crowd to the dressing rooms of his conquerors to extend congratulations.

The fiery McGraw, leader of the New York Giants for 30 years, now 60 years old, wanted to win yesterday's game as greatly as he ever wanted to win anything. He had been lured off the back porch of his home in Pelham, N. Y., out of retirement, to pilot the National league all stars, and their failure to win was a disappointment.

"It was a splendid game, wasn't it?" he asked. "Hallahan is either good or bad—and he was bad today. They got the breaks and won. We had a couple of chances to even it up or go into the lead, but failed. Babe Ruth checked one of our spots when he went to the wall to grab Hafey's long fly. I thought sure it was going for a home run.

After reaching the dressing room of the American leaguers McGraw went immediately to the 71 year old Connie Mack, extending his hand in congratulation. They chatted for a minute and then McGraw went to the dressing room of the players, where all who knew him greeted him with a friendly "Hello, John" and "wasn't it swell?"

Both Mack and McGraw praised the spectacle and hoped that it would be repeated annually.

The two leaders were besieged by autograph hunters—ball players instead of fans. The players wanted the two veteran managers to autograph their baseballs.

Players Get Thrill.

Members of the two teams got as much excitement out of yesterday's game as they would have out of a world's series contest. The Americans were hilariously happy in the dressing room, with Eddie Collins and Art Fletcher, their coaches, slapping each other on the back and shouting words of praise to the players.

Ruth, who knocked a sizzling homer into the right field stands for the first home run of the game, was as happy as a school kid.

While McGraw sat in the National league dug out, nattily attired in a brown suit and a white sailor hat, he was looking through the dust of many baseball diamonds—the years when Christy Matthewson was one of his prides, the years of Frank Chance and Johnny Kling, the stars of other days swept past in his vision.

But McGraw has no desire to return to the game that made him an idol for 30 years.

"I'm through with it. I have quit," he said.

Gentlemen:
Only a few weeks ago, before my success in the U. S. Open, I had my first opportunity of seeing and trying the new Wilson Ogg-mented Irons. I was frankly dumbfounded by the amazing superiority of these irons over any I had ever played. They seemed to put so much more power in my shots and, more important still, seemed so much surer in their "feel." Actually it seemed as though I could hit the ball anywhere on the face of the club and still get a perfect shot.
I was so impressed with these Irons that I decided on a very radical course. I made up my mind I would switch clubs just two weeks before the tournament and use these Ogg-mented Irons
You know the result. 72 holes in even fours. It was the best tournament golf I have ever played.
I have long realized the superior carrying power and true direction of Hol-Hi Balls and have confidently relied upon them in my tournament play.
You can be sure I'm going to stick to Wilson and Hol-Hi so that no opponent can have any advantage over me.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—In one of the most spectacular performances to date, speculative railroad bonds today extended the advance into new high ground for the recovery movement.

Climbing as much as 8 points, bonds of the Allegheny corporation, principal holding company for the Van Sweringen interests, were far out in front as leaders of the carrier group. At the same time rapid price gains were made by bonds held by the Allegheny corporation, including issues of Missouri Pacific, Chesapeake corporation and, indirectly, Chesapeake and Ohio. Chesapeake corporation 5s registered a new high above 105, compared with a low of 63½ only a few weeks ago.

Expect Improved Position.

Interest in the three issues of Allegheny corporation 5 per cent bonds was stirred by reports that the position of the holding company may be improved soon by a shifting of collateral and by dividend increases on stock holdings in the Chesapeake corporation and the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Bonds of Missouri Pacific, Erie, and many other railroad liens exclusive of the Van Sweringen clique were buoyant. A gain of more than 21 points in Central of Georgia first 5s, due 1945, quickened the market's pulse, while other bonds of the Georgia road appreciated up to 6 points.

Other Rails Strong.

Other features of strength were Seaboard Air Line, Chicago and North Western, and Rock Island.

In the absence of important buying or selling, United States government bonds held in a narrow range.

Marked strength was shown in high grade European bonds, some of them gaining from 1 to 4 points. Speculative buying appeared in second grade South American obligations.

Occidental Life Insurance.

Investors' Guide: Can you tell me something about Occidental Life Insurance company?—Mrs. D. T. A.

Answer: Occidental Life Insurance company of California, Los Angeles, commenced business in 1906. It is controlled by Transamerica Holding company. The company has grown rapidly due in large part to reinsurance agreements.

Reflecting drop in income and increase in disbursements, excess of disbursements over income in 1932 was $404,000, against an excess of income over disbursements of $1,380,000 in 1931.

Net reserves totaled $19,444,000 at the close of 1932. Other liabilities amounted to $2,265,000. In addition the company set up voluntary reserves to provide for contingencies of $346,000.

Admitted assets amounted to $23,705,000. They included real estate of $4,336,000, 18 per cent of assets; mortgage loans of $4,968,000, 21 per cent of assets; policy loans of $6,241,000 26 per cent; bonds [amortized values] of $5,448,000, 23 per cent; stocks [June 30, 1931, values], $1,058,000, 4 per cent, and cash of $202,000, one per cent of admitted assets.

The company has sold under contract more than three million dollars of its real estate to California Lands company and Capital company, subsidiaries of Transamerica corporation. It receives 4½ per cent interest on deferred payments under this contract.

National Bank of Commerce.

Investors' Guide: I had 6 shares of National Bank of Commerce [St. Louis]. They joined with Mercantile Trust company. Over those six shares there was a balance of $350. Is this good and when will they pay?—Mrs. R. D.

Answer: We have the following from Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust company [St. Louis]:

"When National Bank of Commerce and Mercantile Trust company merged shareholders of National Bank of Commerce received for each share of stock, one-half share in the new bank and one share in Bank of Commerce Liquidating company. The shareholders of the liquidating company received in liquidating dividends the amount of $35 a share. Slowest assets of the old Bank of Commerce are still in the liquidating company and it is uncertain when these can be converted into cash and another dividend paid.

"You will realize, of course, that during the last few years it has been very difficult to realize on slow assets. With the improvement in business, this liquidation should be accelerated."

STOCK SELLING RULES ISSUED BY U. S. BUREAU

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—Rules and regulations to carry out the new federal securites act for the protection of American investors against worthless stock issues were made public by the federal trade commission this afternoon and will apply to all stock offerings sold after July 27.

The act, which will go into operation tomorrow, is confidently expected to prevent a repetition of the operations through which investors have lost about $25,000,000,000 in the last decade through sales of valueless or near worthless stocks.

The commission, in issuing the regulations, said it "had regard for the public interest and for the protection of investors, but endeavored to place no undue burden either upon general business or upon honest and reputable investment dealers."

37 Pages of Questions.

Under the new law, security underwriters must file with the commission full particulars on a 37 page form before they can sell new stocks and bonds. These registration statements containing a great amount of detailed information, must remain on file for 20 days before the stock may be sold. Expert accountants of the commission will study the statements and make a report, after which the commission may order the proposed issue withheld from sale or permit it to be offered to the public.

Registration statements will be open to public inspection at the commission and will also be furnished in duplicate at a nominal sum. Thus, the prospective investor may see the detailed information required relating to the issuing company, its officers, names of principal stockholders and all other facts.

Must File Prospectuses.

Any prospectus issued by those offering the securities must be filed with the registration statement. The prospectus need not necessarily contain every detail sought in the registration statement. It "may be expressed in a condensed or summarized form," but it shall not "omit any item of information which may be material or necessary in order that the other statements" shall not be misleading.

The government, through the federal trade commission, specifically refuses to take the responsibility of approving a stock issue. The commission is without authority to pass judgment on the value of any stock. Therefore the regulations published today say that all prospectuses must contain this statement:

"Neither the fact that such registration statement has been filed with the commission, nor the issuance of this prospectus under the rules or regulations prescribed, shall be deemed a finding by the commission that this prospectus is true and accurate on its face, or omits to state a material fact or to mean that the commission has in any way passed upon the merits of, or given approval to, such prospectus or the security mentioned therein."

Control Radio Broadcasts.

Radio broadcasts advertising the stock issues must also receive the commission's approval. They must be submitted to the commission five days before they are put on the air and must, like other prospectuses, carry the price and date of the stock.

"The maximum aggregate price at which securities are proposed to be offered is to be stated and payment is to be made of a registration fee of one-hundredth of one per centum, based upon such price, the fee to be not less than $25," the commission explained this afternoon.

None of the rules and regulations are necessarily permanent as they are explicitly required by the securities act, the commission asserts. They will be watched and changed if needed. The commission's statement said:

"In some matters the commission has discretion, and the rules and regulations in relation thereto are experimental pending actual working experience with the new securities act, and will be subject to revision from time to time as experience proves the advisability of changes."

Need Not Pay in Gold.

Securities containing a written promise to pay in gold will be relieved from that obligation under one of the rules laid down by the commission. They will, the commission directed, have written upon them a statement calling attention to the congressional dictum that obligations may be paid in any "coin or currency" which is legal tender.

As yet the registration statements are only in photostatic form. As the printed blanks are not yet available, the commission promulgated a rule providing that companies might file in such form as they might reasonably consider to be in compliance with the

Stocks Rise as Roosevelt Pushes Plans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—Stocks were strong and active today. Price gains ran as high as 6 points and volume was in excess of 6,500,000 shares. Many new high levels were recorded in all sections of the list.

Brokers attributed the day's speculative ardor chiefly to the apparent determination of the Roosevelt administration to go through with its program for higher prices, whatever the fate of the economic conference and the international problems hanging on its outcome. The fresh weakness in the dollar, which duplicated its previous low on the foreign exchanges, and the uprising in grain and cotton helped to brighten the outlook.

Railway shares, which showed the way in yesterday's late upturn, again took the lead, and some of the healthiest advances of the day were scored in this group. New York Central, Norfolk and Western, Illinois Central, Atchison, Lackawanna, Pennsylvania, and Union Pacific were among the star performers.

Expect Higher Car Loadings.

Increased car loadings was supposed to be the incentive for the enthusiasm for the carriers. Last week's revenue report and a belief that the figures to be released net Saturday will likewise make good reading were emphasized. So-called "merger" rails moved up on expectations that efforts will be renewed to bring the various systems together in the near future.

Appearance of the weekly figures on power and light output gave the utilities a boost, and the group as a whole showed a stronger inclination to count itself in on the bull movement than it has for some time. The production figures were the best since the trend line for 1933 crossed that of 1932, back in May. Leading issues of the group were bid up 1 to 2 points or more without much fuss.

Tobacco Issues Advance.

Tobacco stocks had the benefit of reports of an increase in cigaret prices supposed to be due for announcement in a few days, and the American Tobacco issues, Reynolds and Liggett & Myers, rose 1 to 3 points. The rubbers were given some of the same stimulus, the increase in their case to apply to tires.

In the industrial division, United States Steel crossed 64 for a net gain of more than 2 points. The directors will meet about three weeks hence for action on the preferred dividend. In view of the reports that the company operated at a profit during the June quarter for the first time in nearly two years, the belief is that the reinstatement of the $7 cumulative rate—as earnings permit—will come up for discussion.

Other gains to attract attention were those of J. I. Case, up 5¾ points; Diamond Match, 4⅜; Johns-Manville, 4; California Packing, 4⅞, and Electric Storage Battery, 4 points.

CORN REACHES NEW TOP, OTHER GRAINS FOLLOW

Inflation, Damage Spur Buying.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Inflation talk became the dominating influence in the grain markets yesterday and more than offset heavy profit taking. Corn was again the leader, adding nearly 2 cents more to its startling upturn and making a new high for the season. The May delivery soared to 75¾ cents on a new wave of public and commission house buying. In less than a week corn has advanced 12 to 13¼ cents.

Many observers are beginning to liken the present action of the grain market to that which followed the outbreak of the world war, when conditions counted for little and the drastic change in the situation and wildly bullish sentiment were paramount. In August, 1915, September wheat advanced from 85 cents to $1.22. From the low of June 17 this year to the high of July 5 the same delivery has advanced 28⅛ cents.

Corn Highest at Close.

Corn was the only grain yesterday that managed to get into new ground for the season, closing 2⅝ to 2⅝ cents higher, although wheat, oats, and barley showed moderate gains at the last. Rye was slightly lower. Corn made its highest prices of the day in the last few minutes of trading following announcement that the world economic conference would continue in session in London and Washington messages which were construed as indicating President Roosevelt's plan of managed currency meant considerable inflation.

While inflation attracted considerable attention from the trade, the corn market was not without a background of bullish facts. No rain of consequence was shown on the weather map, the government weekly report indicated irreparable damage had been done to the new crop in some sections of the southwest and there were claims of heavy losses from chinch bugs in Illinois and Iowa, with the bugs strongly in evidence in parts of Missouri.

Public and East Buy Corn.

The public and houses with eastern connections vied with each other in buying corn, and the finish was at the top to a fraction under. July closed at 61¾ cents, September 65⅝ to 66 cents, December 70⅜ to 70½ cents and May 75¾ cents.

A feeling that the small grain markets are in an extremely weak technical position because of the sensational advance in prices lately induced heavy profit taking during the day. Wheat fluctuated erratically within a range of 1⅝ to 3 cents and closed ½ to 1⅛ cents higher with July 98 cents, September $1.00¾ to $1.00⅞, December $1.03¼ to $1.03⅝, and May $1.07¼ to $1.07½.

Sensationally bullish crop reports on spring wheat were received from the northwest. According to Nat C. Murray, the Clement, Curtis & Co., statistician, this is the first time in over 65 years that the crop promises to fall below domestic requirements.

There was not the snap to the buying of oats which has characterized this market lately but the close was ¼ to ⅜ cents higher in sympathy with corn. Rye closed ¼ to 1 cent lower. Barley was ¾ to ⅞ cents higher.

Start of Credit Growth Shown in Bank Reports

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The credit expansion which has been anxiously looked for ever since the beginning of the business upturn three months ago appears to have got a start, according to the federal reserve board figures released last night.

Brokers' loans took the biggest jump in years with a gain for the week of 94 million dollars. These represent loans made on securities by New York member banks to brokers and dealers. Brokers' loans are now not far from triple the amount of a year ago although they are only about an eighth the amount of such loans at the peak of the 1929 boom.

* *

Another significant development disclosed in last night's reserve report is an increase in money circulation. The amount of federal reserve notes in circulation on Wednesday, the report shows, was 54 millions more than the amount a week before.

Total circulation of all kinds of money increased 77 millions for the week.

This is the first time since the bank moratorium that there has been an incerase in the circulation of federal reserve notes. The gradual decline since March in the amount of this kind of money outstanding has been accepted as indication of the gradual decerase in hoarding.

There has been no reason for an increase in hoarding—no reason, in fact, to suspect that money hasn't continued to come out of hoarding. The only conclusion to be drawn from the current reserve figures, therefore, is that the big incerase in business activity has got to a point where sales are actually creating a demand for new money in addition to the steady stream that is being poured out of safe deposit boxes.

Note circulation of the Chicago reserve bank increased 4 million dollars.

* *

In addition to the 54 million dollar increase in reserves notes [40 per cent gold backing] there was a 4 million dollar increase for the week in the amount of "asset" money [no gold backing] in circulation. There are now 124 millions of this new money outstanding.

At the same time the twelve reserve banks have been expanding credit in other ways.

Another 20 million dollars credit was extended to the federal government last week by the purchase of that amount of additional government bonds, bringing the total up to within 5 millions of the 2 billion dollar mark, a new all time high.

* *

In addition, the twelve reserve banks last week reversed their previous policy of squeezing credit out of ordinary business channels while they were pouring it into government channels. In the week ended Wednesday the reserve institutions added 15 millions to their holdings of commercial paper.

In Chicago the leading commercial banks were lending a little more money to business, commercial loans showing an expansion of about 12 millions for the week despite an indicated decline of about 14 million dollars in gross deposits, which was due, probably, to the July 1 interest payments.

* *

Combined gold holdings of the twelve reserve banks rose more than 5 millions for the week. The gold holdings of the Chicago reserve bank increased 6 millions, largely because of transfers of the metal from the other sections of the country.

The Chicago reserve bank's gold and other cash now equal 78.9 per cent of its combined deposit and note liabilities, compared with a reserve ratio of 68.4 per cent for the twelve reserve banks combined.

POSTAL REVENUE GAINS 13.55% DURING JUNE IN PRINCIPAL CITIES

Washington, D. C., July 6.—(AP)—The postoffice department reported today that postal receipts at 50 selected cities throughout the country for June showed an increase of $2,982,251, or 13.55 per cent over the same months of 1932. Total receipts for June, 1933, were $24,988,394, as compared with $22,006,142 for June a year ago.

The department said the increases were not confined to any particular locality, but were spread throughout every section of the country with only two cities out of the 50 showing a decrease. Those were Detroit, and Dayton, O., where the decreases were less than 2 per cent.

Dollar Slides to 72.8 Cents After Bulge

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—On the strength of the developments at the world economic and monetary conference in London, the dollar took another tumble yesterday after a stronger start. At the close of the market it was being quoted at prices that would make it worth approximately 72.8 cents in terms of French gold.

Weakness of the dollar developed late. It was not so drastic in the London and Paris exchange markets, which closed about the time trading began in New York.

Higher Start in Paris.

In Paris the dollar rose slightly in early dealings and closed at 18.78 francs to the dollar, a drop of only 47 centimes from the close on Wednesday. This made the franc equal to about 5.32½ cents in American money.

By the time the American markets closed the dollar had sagged to the 72.8 cents level in terms of the franc, a new low. At the close here the franc was worth 5.38 cents, compared with 5.28½ cents at the close on Wednesday.

At the close here the pound was quoted at $4.58 against $4.49½ at the close Wednesday and the franc was selling at 5.38 cents, compared with 5.28½ cents at Wednesday's close.

Pound Over Par in Canada.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 6.—For the first time since Britain abandoned the gold standard in September, 1931, the pound sterling sold over its par value of $4.86 2-3 in Montreal this afternoon. It reached a high at the close of banking hours of $4.87¼.

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 6.—The milrei is to be pegged to the dollar soon at a rate of 13.3 milreis to the dollar, it was reported here today in official circles.

Power Output Gain Is Highest Since July, '29

Again evidencing the acceleration in business, electric power production for the United States last week increased 13.7 per cent and for the Chicago district 13.4 per cent over output in the parallel week of 1932.

The national gain was the largest for any week since the period ended July 6, 1929. The increase for the week ended June 24 was 10.9 per cent.

Electricity output for the United States amounted to 1,655,843,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,598,136,000 in the preceding week and 1,456,961,000 in the like week of 1932, according to the Edison Electric institute.

Ahead of 1931 Week.

For the week ending Saturday, July 4, 1931 electricity output was about 1,607,000,000 kilowatt hours. While the production for last week exceeded that of the comparable week in 1931, the occurrence of the holiday in the week of 1931 and not in the recent period must be taken into account.

In the Chicago area, the electricity output, amounting to 97,541,000 kilowatt hours, against 86,005,000 in the corresponding week of 1932, has approximated "the 1931 level, which is only 2.5 per cent below the 1929-1930 level," according to the announcement of the Commonwealth Edison company.

Output in Chicago Area.

Week ended	1933.	1932.	Per cent change.
July 1	97,541,000	86,005,000	+13.4
June 10	93,375,000	86,888,000	+ 8.7

Most of the territorial divisions enjoyed substantial gains in electricity output over that in the like week of 1932. Consumption in New England was 20.9 per cent above that in the corresponding period of 1932, against 19.2 per cent in the preceding week. The central industrial region showed an increase of 17.6 per cent, against 13.9; the southern states, 17.1 against 13.8; the middle Atlantic, 11.1 against 8.9. Output on the Pacific coast recorded a decline of 0.3 per cent, against one of 0.6 per cent in the week ended June 24.

RAILWAYS SHOW FURTHER GAINS IN CARLOADINGS

Further car loadings reports continue to tell a story of better railroad business. The Pennsylvania reported yesterday that it handled 102,019 cars in the week ended July 1, compared with 77,355 cars in the same week of 1932 and with 97,513 cars in the preceding week of this year.

Burlington loadings totaled 20,574 cars last week, compared with 16,544 in the same week last year and with 20,244 cars in the preceding week.

William C. Douglas, assistant general freight traffic manager of the New York Central lines in Chicago, reported yesterday loadings of less than carload merchandise has crossed last year's level for the first time this year.

"Our less than carload business has been showing a steady increase since the close of April and now is ahead of 1932," Mr. Douglas said. "The gain indicates that small concerns, whose business has been more or less at a standstill for some time, are now participating in improved business conditions."

STEEL INDUSTRY BOOSTS OUTPUT TO 56 PER CENT

High Rate Assured in July.

Steel ingot production is now standing at 56 per cent of capacity, compared with 53 per cent a week ago, according to the Iron Age. The advance in pig iron activity was continued yesterday with the blowing in of two more blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district.

The steel industry, according to the review, is "assured of sustained operations through this month by heavy specifications against expiring second quarter contracts."

At Chicago steel operations rose from 55 to 57 per cent; at Buffalo, from 48 to 60; in the Cleveland-Lorain area, from 71 to 74; in the Wheeling district, from 85 to 90; in eastern Pennsylvania, from 35 to 40; and in the south, from 54 to 79.

Plans for Code Delayed.

While steel production continues to advance, the executives of leading companies have been considering the problem of codification, but "final approval must be given in a general meeting of the entire industry, and no call for such a conference has yet been made," declares the Iron Age.

In the meantime, the industry is "adjusting its prices in conformity with expected changes in operating costs." While previous prices on bars, plates, shapes, semi-finished steel, and wire were reaffirmed for the third quarter, advances were announced for hot rolled strip, sheets, and pipe.

"Advances in pipe, ranging up to $7 a ton for the base sizes, merely partially restore sharp reductions made a few months ago, and an increase of $5 a ton on cold rolled strip is a change that has been sorely needed to bring prices in line with production outlays," comments the review.

Auto Steel Demand Rises.

The price of ferromanganese has risen to $82 a ton for spot and contract shipments, it was learned from another source. Sellers decline to accept business beyond the third quarter. The Iron Age reports that "pressure for steel on the part of automobile manufacturers is increasing." Not only did motor car output total 250,000 units in June, according to estimates, but there is a good chance that the production in July will be fully as large.

"Steel demand is steadily becoming more diversified," says the magazine. "Although considerable recent buying of steel may have been for stocking purposes, it is also true that consumption is steadily gaining, in some instances forcing buyers to make immediate use of their inventory material."

Fabricated Awards Small.

"Fabricated steel awards, at 6,350 tons, are the smallest with one exception since the middle of May. Of projected government undertakings perhaps the navy program will get under way first. Bids will be taken from private yards on 21 vessels July 26 and orders for 16 vessels will be allotted among government yards."

As simple as ABC
We have made the borrowing of small amounts a very simple procedure. Loans of $50 to $5,000 are "set up" on a one-year basis. The entire cost is included in the note, so that the borrower knows exactly how much he has to pay back. There are no "accruing" charges or extras whatsoever during the term of the account.
Suppose you want $300 . . . You get $300 cash. You sign a note for $327.58 and you pay back $327.58—no more. Of course if you pay your loan before maturity we adjust the cost to the time by giving a refund back to you.
Our plan is simple . . . We know it works. Almost a half million people have made headway when they have borrowed here. We are prepared to meet and to lend to the next half million . . . in amounts from $50 to $5,000 apiece.

PROSECUTOR MAY END INQUIRY ON DETROIT BANKS

Unable to Get Data from U. S., He Says.

Detroit, Mich., July 6.—(AP)—The advisability of continuing the one man grand jury probing Detroit's banking affairs, now in its fourth week, tonight was questioned by Attorney General Patrick H. O'Brien, whose petition brought the jury into being.

At the close of today's session, in which a witness charged that the General Motors and Chrysler corporations, as well as George P. Davison, New York banker, had sidetracked a plan to reopen two national banks after the Michigan bank holiday, the attorney general said he feared the inquiry "threatens to become merely repetitious."

Hints Unwise Acts.

"In view of our apparent inability to get hold of bank records now in the possession of the federal government," O'Brien said, "I am beginning to question the advisability of continuing the hearings. It may be that it is just as well the books haven't been produced. They might show some unwise acts, not criminal acts, which would hinder the present campaign for reopening the old banks."

Several days ago the attorney general, failing to obtain records of the two banks—the First National Bank, Detroit, and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce—from the federal receivers, and failing to obtain the testimony of the receivers as well as other federal officials involved in the Michigan bank holiday, dispatched a telegram to President Roosevelt, asking for a personal interview at which he could present the case of the Michigan banks.

Council Appeals to Roosevelt.

The Detroit city council today appealed to President Roosevelt to license the opening of the old banks on grounds that "Detroit resents being ground under the heel of the federal bureaucrats."

The Detroit Free Press says tonight in a dispatch from Washington that President Roosevelt has instructed the Reconstruction Finance corporation to solve the banking situation in Detroit, and that the way will be paved at a meeting tomorrow afternoon in Washington for the reëstablishment of credit facilities throughout the entire state.

COTTON GAINS $1 BALE; OFFERINGS WELL TAKEN

News in cotton was not particularly bullish, but the advance in stocks and grains and the growing belief that the government reduction in cotton acreage is to go through, brought in a steady run of buying and carried prices up to good levels and closed the market around the best prices of the day with net gains in futures in Chicago of 25 to 26 points, and 22 to 27 points in other leading markets. Spot cotton prices advanced 25 cents, or more than $1 a bale, with New York 10.50 cents; New Orleans and Houston, 10.40 cents; and Galveston, 10.35 cents. There was nothing in the Liverpool news to create buying, the market there closing 10 to 11 points net lower.

The Bennett-Miller crop report makes the condition of cotton 71.4, compared with 73.3 per cent last year, and only three states—Georgia and the Carolinas—with a condition above last year at this time.

'L' RECEIVERSHIP MAY BRING NEW CAR MERGER PLAN

Bondholders Are Asked to Submit Proposals.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Formation of a new plan for the unification of Chicago's transit properties will be taken up by bondholders' representatives this week.

All the street car and elevated lines are now in federal receivership. Final foreclosure decree and an order for the sale of the Chicago Rapid Transit company's line [the elevated] is expected to be entered by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson in the next thirty days. This action will bring all the properties under the direct jurisdiction of the federal court and clear the way for a new consolidation program.

Ask Bondholders to Act.

A meeting of the various bondholders' representatives is being arranged in response to a suggestion of Judge Wilkerson. He is reported to have told the heads of the bondholders' committees that he wanted some definite action toward formation of a new merger taken before he leaves on his vacation in a few days.

At the same time it was learned that Halsey, Stuart & Co., reorganization managers under the old city merger plan, have notified representatives of the various bondholders groups to signify whether a revision of the present plan is desired.

When the present consolidation plan was drawn up in 1930 by Halsey Stuart the elevated system was not in receivership. The plan provided that the first mortgage plans of the elevated would not be disturbed in the reorganization program which called for the acquisition of all the properties by a new concern, the Chicago Local Transportation company.

Revision Called Necessary.

Since that time the elevated bondholders have become a party to the reorganization by virtue of the foreclosure proceedings against the properties. Revision of the terms for acquisition of various properties by the new concern is therefore necessary.

It has been suggested in some quarters that Halsey-Stuart may withdraw as reorganization managers and let the bondholders' committees draw up a new consolidation plan. It was this suggestion, it is understood, that led the investment house to seek the views of the various bondholders committees on revising the present plan.

Withdrawal of Halsey-Stuart would be a voluntary action because it is under contract to carry out the reorganization plans. It is understood that the banking house will not withdraw unless the parties to the reorganization definitely agree to go ahead with a merger program.

Expenses Paid by Firm.

Expenses incident to the reorganization negotiations, which have been in progress since 1930, have been borne by Halsey-Stuart. In addition to compensation for expenses the firm is entitled to a fee.

The Chicago Local Transportation company has until Jan. 1, 1934, to accept the city franchise ordinance which was approved by popular referendum in 1930. The ordinance gives the company an indefinite franchise for the surface and elevated properties but reserves to the city the right to purchase the properties at a "fair" price.

SMALL RECEIPTS, EASTERN BUYING HELP LIVE STOCK

Short supplies and a wave of eastern buying orders swung live stock prices on the upward path again yesterday, reversing the lower trend of Wednesday. Hog receipts were smallest for a Thursday in five weeks, while eastern demand was the broadest since last February.

The recovery, however, was not as substantial as traders had anticipated. Top sales remained unchanged, at $4.65, while the general average for the session showed only 5 cents gain, at $4.45. Closing prices were mostly 5 to 10 cents above the average of Wednesday, with sellers inclined to hold in view of the light run estimated for today. Reports indicate that the movement to markets for today and Saturday will be the smallest since last May and much below average of recent week-ends.

Weather Helps Meat Sales.

Cooler weather of the last few days and better call for fresh meats motivated active buying by the smaller houses and city butchers, who encountered more competition from order buyers. The sudden increase in buying at Chicago by eastern packing concerns has its significant side, according to members of the trade, adding color, they believe, to the theory advanced recently that supplies are falling off more at the smaller out side points and at concentration yards where the bulk of eastern buying has been focused for many months, than at Chicago and the other big terminal centers.

Buying here by eastern packers previously this year was the lowest on record and accounted for only 4 to 6 per cent of the local receipts on most days. During the first four days of this week shippers bought 10 per cent of total arrivals, against only 4 per cent the previous week.

Cattle Prices Strong.

All classes of bovine stock got good action in yesterday's market and ruled strong to 25 cents higher, a big share of the "upper crust" of offerings going at the full upturn. Cows and heifers shared in the activity, but showed less advance. Calves jumped 50 to 75 cents in value on small supplies. Prime 1,376 pound steers topped the market, at $6.85, Swift paying this figure, while others averaging 1,395 pounds reached $6.50. Bulk of steers cashed within a range of $5.00 to $6.00, with thin light steers down to $4.25.

Starvation sheep receipts sent lambs into a sharp rise to the highest point since middle of June. Top sales were made up to $5.25 or 40 cents over the peak of Wednesday's market, and highest since June 13. Advances of 25 cents were general. Yearlings shared in the rise, but old ewes drifted lower before the session closed.

Toledo Concern to Have Salesroom.

BY AL CHASE.

One of the pioneer glass producers in the United States, the Libbey Glass Manufacturing company of Toledo, Ohio, yesterday leased the entire thirty-fifth floor of the Carbide and Carbon building, 230 North Michigan avenue, for a term of years. This space will be used for a salesroom. The space is being partitioned and decorated and will be opened July 31 when the lessee launches a new line of glassware for the home.

SOLUTION TO NIGHT CLUB MURDER

Fordney knew that Murphy had been shot after death because it would have been impossible for any one to have shot him through the heart while he was lying across the table.

Observing evidence of hydrocyanic poisoning, he deduced that Murphy had first been poisoned, then shot and placed in the position in which he was found.

Coolige later admitted to first poisoning Murphy, then shooting him with a revolver with a silencer and placing his body across the table.

TO BEHOLD IS NOT NECESSARY TO OBSERVE, AND THE POWER OF COMPARING AND COMBINING IS ONLY TO BE OBTAINED BY EDUCATION.

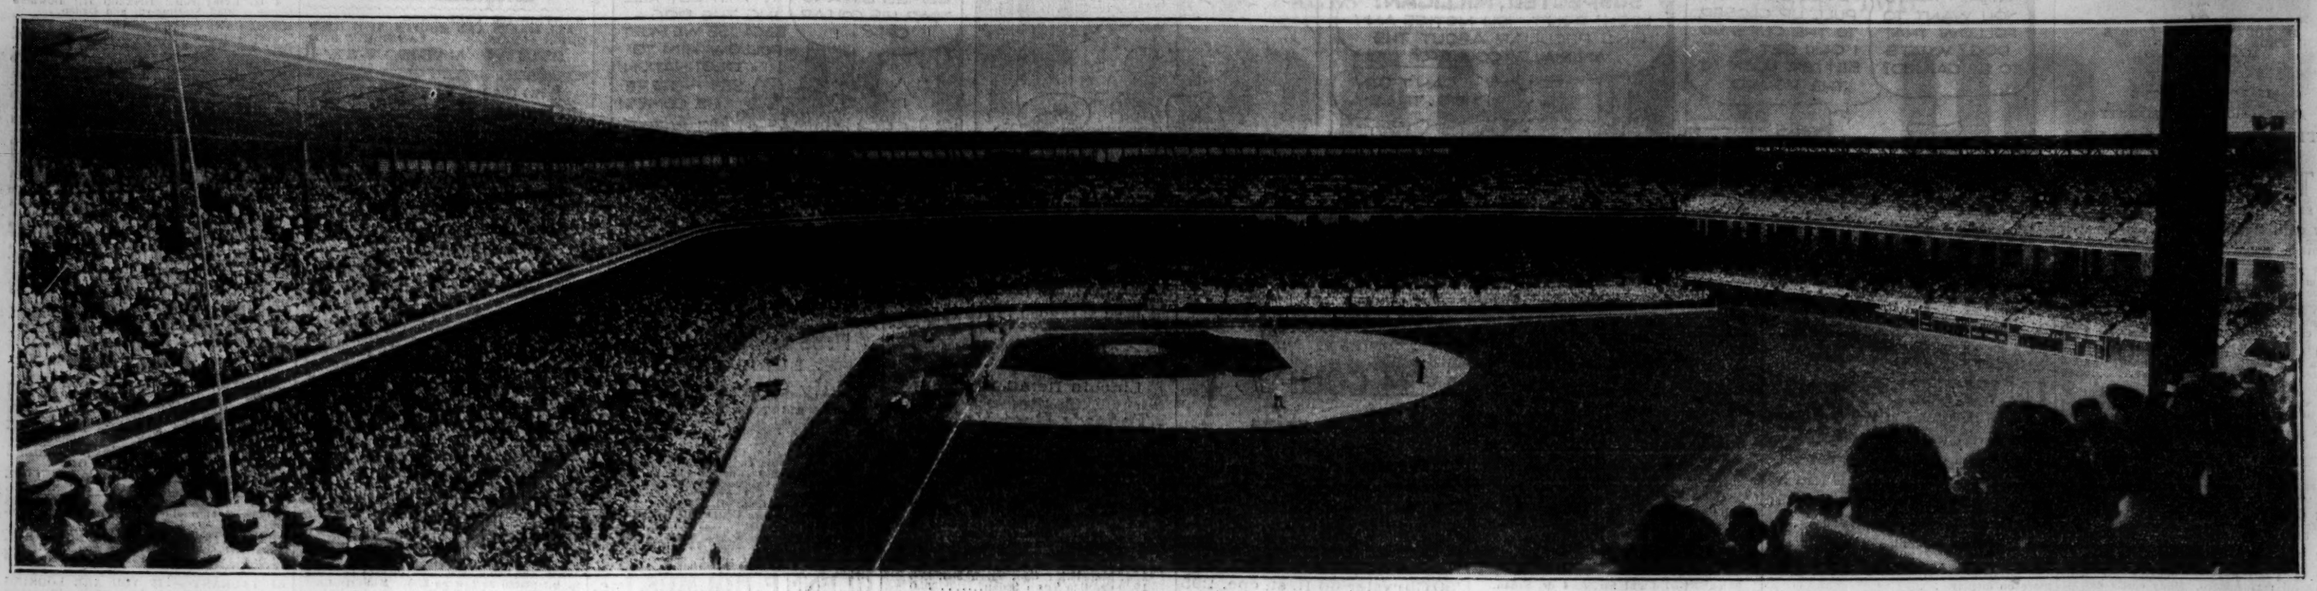
Star Team of American League Defeats Best of National League by Score of 4 to 2 in "Game of a Century"



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

CAPACITY CROWD OF 49,000 SEES STAR TEAM OF AMERICAN LEAGUE DEFEAT BEST PLAYERS OF NATIONAL LEAGUE BY SCORE OF 4 TO 2 IN GAME OF A CENTURY SPONSORED BY THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. General view at Comiskey park yesterday afternoon, showing the crowd in the stands and the teams on the field during the all star game. Babe Ruth of the Yankees was the star performer for the American league stars, hitting a home run in the third inning with a teammate on base. Frankie Frisch hit a home run for the National league team in the sixth inning, and the other run for the losers was scored by Lon Warneke of the Cubs, who tripled in the same inning and scored on an infield out. The players who participated in the game were chosen by the ballots of millions of readers of The Tribune and the newspapers associated with it in the picking.

BABE RUTH HITS ONE AND IT GOES INTO THE STANDS FOR A HOME RUN. The Babe at the instant he delivered his swat in the third inning of yesterday's "Game of a Century" at Comiskey park. It was a homer, scoring Gehringer ahead of him, and gave the American league stars a three run lead.
